MORTON BREAKS WITH THE HAWKS

Former GOP Chairman Claims Johnson 'Brainwashed' Since 1961 In Viet War

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Breaking openly with most other Republican leaders, Sen. Thruston B. Morton, R-Ky., called today for a sharp de-escalation of the Vietnam war and a new attempt at a negotiated peace.

Morton also charged that President Johnson had been "brainwashed" into an untenable position on Vietnam.

Morton, former national GOP chairman, made a full swing to the "dove" side in a new flurry of debate over U. S. actions and aims in the war.

In a speech to a newly formed group called the National Committee of Business Executives Move for Peace in Vietnam, Morton urged an end to bombing of North Vietnam and a halt in U.S. "search and destroy" missions in South Vietnam.

He won support from Tran Van Dinh, former South Vietnamese ambassador to the United States who also addressed the group, but drew a cold reaction from Senate GOP Leader Everett M. Dirksen.

Dinh also called for a bombing halt and an end to the "search and destroy" operations. But he said meaningful negotiations were impossible until Saigon agreed to talks directly with the Viet Cong.

Asked for comment on Morton's call for intensified peace efforts, Dirksen responded: "Haven't they tried to won't do it. My God, you're confronted with an enemy."

Dirksen also criticized another GOP senator, Clifford P. Case, N.J., yesterday following a Senate speech by Case attacking the President's conduct of the war.

Morton, speaking at a daylong conference by businessmen-for-peace organization, said "President Eisenhower warned in his farewell address of the dangers of too much power and too much influence in the hands of the military-industrial complex.

"I believe that President Johnson was brainwashed by this power center as early as 1961, when, as vice president, he ventured to Saigon on a fact-finding mission.

"I believe he (Johnson) has been mistakenly committed to a military solution in Vietnam for the past five years—with only a brief pause during the election campaign of 1964 to brainwash the American people."

Morton said he now believes he was wrong to support escalation of the war in early 1965.

Airdrop Boosts Marines' Morale

SAIGON (UPI)—A fresh fruit airdrop at the U.S. Marines battered Con Thien frontier fort sent morale soaring today as the bloody Demilitarized Zone fight, the biggest confrontation of the war, raged into its 17th day.

North Vietnamese slacked off shelling the outpost and turned their guns on a South Vietnamese paratroop unit just south of the DMZ near the American artillery base of Gio Linh. Other Communist gunners hammered the U.S. command post at Dong Ha and two American compounds at Hue and Tam Ky.

UPI photographer Dana Stone reported that only 50 mortar shells hit Con Thien during the day—an unusually small number. More than 1,000 rocket, mortar and artillery shells hammered the fort the day before.

There were 10 Marines wounded in the latest attack at Con Thien, where nearly 1,100 have been killed or wounded so far this month.

But morale soared at the outpost. For the first time in days, a bright sun chased away monsoon rain clouds which have turned the area into a quagmire, forcing the Marines literally to live in the mud.

North Vietnamese artillery hammered the South Vietnamese paratroop force with 845 shells. A government spokesman said, however, there were only light casualties.

Giant U.S. Air Force B52s, 7th Fleet warships, tactical warplanes and artillery continued to lash back at the Communist guns as they have done for days in what American officials call the heaviest concentration of conventional firepower in history.

Insecticide Toll Now 17 In Tijuana

TIJUANA, Mexico (AP)—Authorities placed the death toll in Tijuana's mass poisoning at 17 today as scientists reported that a pesticide found in bread and in some victims' stomachs may be the killer.

Hector Valdivia, deputy federal district attorney here, said the number of dead, almost all children, was 17. He discounted an earlier report that 34 had died.

About 250 persons were being treated at crowded hospitals and clinics.

In Sacramento, a half slice of sweet bread gave California scientists the clues they needed to detect the poison believed responsible for the fatal mass poisoning in Tijuana, Mexico.

Seven State Agriculture Department scientists worked for three hours last night to isolate a pesticide called parathion, used on vegetabl crops throughout the United States.

"We had a call from the mayor of Tijuana that 200 were in the hospital," said Fred Roth, chief of the state's resid-

New Protests By Probation Aides Aired

Busher Weighing Discipline After His Order Defied

Seven Marin County Probation Department employees — including the superintendent of Juvenile Hall — today were threatened with possible dismissal for publicly protesting to the board of supervisors yesterday over the handling of Family Rehabilita- Rehabilitation Center tion Center complaints.

The seven, four with the center and three with Juvenile Hall, appeared in a body at the board's meeting to launch their protests.

Chief Probation Officer Walter H. Busher today said he is considering possibilities ranging from "letting it go by" to "outright dismissal" of the seven.

FAMILY CENTER

Their complaints precipitated another lengthy discussion of the controversy surrounding the Family Rehabilitation Center, which has drawn fire on the efficiency of its methods for treating delinquents and their families.

The Marin County Grand Jury and the Bay Area Social Planning Council recommended that it be phased out.

The FRC has been getting such support, however, that the supervisors haven't decided whether to close it. Yesterday, they designated the County Juvenile Justice Commission to look into the county's total juvenile probation picture. The supervisors dropped an earlier plan to appoint a "blue ribbon" committee to do the job.

TWO SUSPENDED

Busher already has suspended two of his staff for speaking their unauthorized opinions on the controversy. One of those suspended was John A. Hitchcock, who spoke again yesterday, and told the supervisors, "I don't think you know how many probation department people are here. They just don't happen to be wearing their badges."

Along with Hitchcock in yesterday's delegation were Ira Okun, the Juvenile Hall superintendent; Donald Quayle and Donald Keane of his staff, and Mary Mocine, Louis Cartwright and Richard Sloan of the Family Rehabilitation Center staff.

'SERIOUS OFFENSE'

Busher said the organized nature of the insurrection is one of the things he is considering.

"I consider that this was a serious offense. My alternatives range from letting it go by, to outright dismissal," he said.

Busher said he hadn't talked with any of the principals in the

Edith Churning Up As Hurricane

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Tropical storm Edith, churning the warm seas that spawned killer Hurricane Beulah, was reported intensifying today and forecasters said she would become the season's fifth Atlantic hurricane before nightfall.

Her top winds climbed to 60 miles an hour as she moved toward the west at 10 to 15 miles an hour. She was forecast to continue toward the west or take a slight turn toward the west northwest.

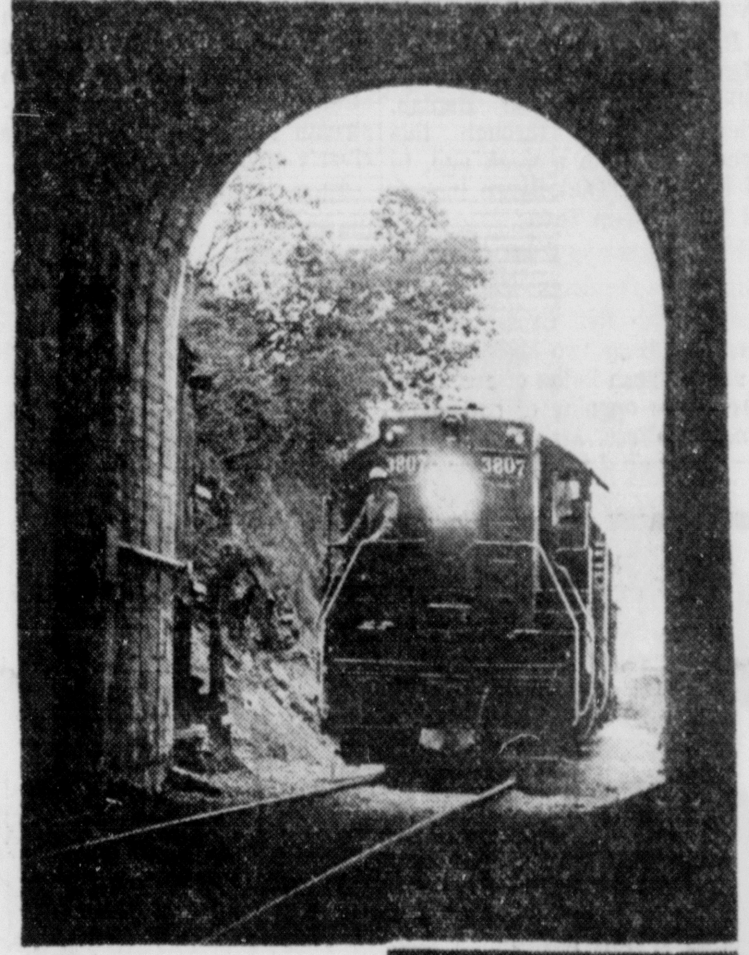
SIGNAL



AND AWAY IT GOES

With a hoot from its whistle, a freight train moved through Puerto Suello railroad tunnel today marking the resumption of the Northwestern Pacific Railroad main line service through San Rafael. The tunnel, closed since 1961 when two boys set it afire and caused a cave-in, was back in operation again and the railroad in Marin was back in business. At top, the train complete with freight awaits the go-ahead signal and, above, it begins its journey through the tunnel. Right, inside the tunnel, a light shows and the exit looms. Auditorium Bids $402,000 High

Re-Study Ordered By Board

By DON BRANNING

An "agonizing reappraisal" of the long awaited veteran memorial auditorium has been ordered following the revelation that lowest bids on it are $402,377 more than the county has to spend.

The auditoriium has been dreamed of here for years as a sort of a vest pocket Cow Palace located at the Civic Center. The plans for it were far enough along that there was talk it might rise at the Civic Center in 1968.

But when the Marin County Board of Supervisors opened the bids on it yesterday, they discovered that the difference between the county's estimate — what it has — and the lowest bid was $402,377.

QUESTIONS BOARD

"I am very disappointed," said Superviosr Ernest N. Kettenhofen. "I cannot understand how there would be this much difference between the estimates and the bids. We have been misled, or misinformed, or something. I think it is time for an agonizing reappraisal."

The $402,000 disappointment was turned over to the staff of County Administrator Alan Bruce for a close study of not only the bidding itself, but of the cost estimates.

Ther was no competitive bidding on stage rigging, stage steel, stage lighting and auditorium seating. Only single bids were submitted on each of these items, and Superbisor William A. Gnoss said he couldn't understand it.

"If I wanted to sell a car, I certainly wouldn't sell it to the first person I talked to," said Gnoss.

MOST UNHAPPY

"Well, we don't have to worry about it," snapped angry Supervisor Kettenhofen, "because we aren't going to accept any of these bids."

One of the companied listed on the predated, printed bidding sheet — Cortelyou and Cole — failed to submit a bid.

The Christiensen and Foster firm submitted the lowest base bid on building construction and site development — $1,985,170. The county's estimate for this work was $1,615,000.

There were disparities between the estimates and the bids on the stage rigging, special stage steel, stage lighting and auditorium seating.

The B. F. Sheare Co. bid $63,800 on the rigging. The county's estimate was $82,500. But the county's estimate for the special stage steel was $77,275, and the lowest bid, from Westwood Engineering, was $141,856.

The county's estimate on auditorium seating was $39,600,

USE OF YOUR TAX DOLLAR

Coin diagram, furnished by County Auditor-Controller Michael Mitchell, shows how Marin County will apportion property taxes received in the 1968 fiscal year. Total taxes to be collected are $48,089,955, up $3.3 million over fiscal 1967. Of a single tax dollar, 60.5 cents goes to schools, 23.3 cents to county government, 8.2 cents to city government, and 8 cents to special districts.

Fairfax's Plan— 'Keep The Village'

By JOHN F. KEARNEY

Fairfax citizens got their first good look at the city's preliminary general plan last night at the first of several hearings before the Fairfax Planning Commission.

After more than two hours of explanations and questions — ranging from where the money is to come from to why the need for a new city hall — the hearing was continued to Oct. 24 at 7:30 p.m. in the Fairfax Women's Club.

Although fielding most questions well, Commission Chairman Leo T. Cronin spiked some guns at the start by explaining the purpose of last night's hearing was to deal only in proposed land use.

The controversial plan for the downtown area is expected to come up next time when members of the Marin County Planning Department, consultants for the plan, say they will have recommendations for the city's commercial development.

Albert Solnit, chief of advanced planning for the county and Rowland Darnell, principal planner, were on hand to explain some of the county's suggestions for the general plan.

The area should be developed to accommodate a population of no more than 15,000 said Solnit. Most new housing development should be at low densities although not necessarily restricted to single family housing.

He considered moderate cost housing for low income and elderly families should be preserved.

Dealing with traffic circulation, he said that one suggestion was for Bolinas Road traffic to be diverted from Broadway to intersect with Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, east of Parkade.

Bar Convention Votes To Retain Death Sentence

MONTEREY (AP)—Lawyers attending the California Bay Convention voted yesterday in favor of capital punishment and against restricting policemen in the use of guns.

They also supported the use of a breath test in drunken driving cases ansd opposed eliminating present law that permits sterilization of sex offenders upon joint medical authorization under certain conditions.

Those voting were attending a Conference of Bar Delegates which was held in conjunction with the convention.

The death penalty resolution, by the National Lawyers Guild was defeated 234 to 205.

Another resolution proposed by the Guild was that policemen be prohibited from using a firearm to make an arrest unless they themselves are in danger of death. It would also have declared it no longer justifiable homicide for a citizen to kill in defense of his home or property. That was defeated by a voice vote.

Mao Losing Grip?

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP) — A report prepared by Nationalist Chinese intelligence sources says Chairman Mao Tse-tung controls party and government power in only two of Communist China's major cities and five of its 26 provinces.

The report, distributed today at a conference of the World Anti-Communist League, acknowledged that Mao's grip on the central government remained intact.

Desegregation Foe Tops Vote

BOSTON (AP) — Mrs. Louise Day Hicks, an avowed foe of school desegregation programs, topped a 10-man candidate field yesterday in winning one of the two places for mayor on the Nov. 7 ballot.

White

The three-term school committeewoman led by a margin of more than 4-3 over Secretary of State Kevin H. White, who will oppose her in the nonpartisan final election.

U.S. Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., immediately promised to wage "a strong campaign" for White.

Kennedy did not mention Mrs. Hicks by name, but said only one candidate of the two selected could carry out the mandate from a "large majority" of the voters for "progress and understanding in meeting the problems of our city."

Mrs. Hicks

Mrs. Hicks received an unofficial total of 43,572 votes in the city's 275 precincts compared to 30,820 for White. More than 156,000 of the city's 278,562 voters went to the polls.

The matronly 48-year-old grandmother showed well in the city's white working class sections, but — as predicted — ran behind the other candidates in the heavily Negro and in upper class area.

Rampaging Rio Grande Brings More Misery

HARLINGEN, Tex. (AP) — Flood miseries piled up on both sides of the Texas-Mexico border today as the raging Rio Grande put more thousands of people to flight and threatened even worse depredations.

Reports of 10 more deaths in Mexico meanwhile boosted the toll from Hurricane Beulah, which battered through this area more than a week ago, to 54 fatalities. That figure included 11 deaths in Texas.

Flooding drove 8,000 to 10,000 Harlingen residents from their homes. The Red Cross already was operating two shelters and it said a fresh influx of evacuees forced the opening of two additional shelters. Many of the occupants had returned only the past day or two after taking refuge from Beulah's 160-mile winds in other cities.

Unofficial reports reaching Mexico City placed the number of homeless at one million across the Rio Grande, now five miles wide in places, in an area stretching from Reynosa downstream to Matamoros near the river's mouth.

The waters continued to thwart man's devices against them. Where dikes held, the water pressure reversed the streets in Harlingen.

Only two hastily constructed dikes thrown together by big bulldozers which pushed black earth across two streets kept the brown waters from washing over the entire city.

MARTINEZ MUDDLE

Dredging Halted In Muddy Marina

MARTINEZ (AP)— Calm returned tentatively today to the Martinez Marina, longtime waterfront eyesore and recent storm center of regional guardians of the purity and beauty of San Francisco Bay.

But nobody told the Bay Area Water Quality Control Board, which threatened criminal proceedings last Friday after its 62-year-old chairman donned boots in a nighttime anti-pollution detective sortie and "caught them red-handed" violating commission directives.

Nor the Bay Conservation and Development Commission, which was considering revoking a permit to dredge the marina.

DREDGE STOPPED

The dredge, whose operations aroused the ire of the commission and board, was disconnected. Its operators returned to Los Angeles.

It stopped after Dist. Atty. John Nejedly told city officials to stop dumping silt into the bay and Carquinez straits or else.

Mayor Gil Travers, harried by board, commission and a shortage of key city officials, said today, "We're going to work it out. It's that simple."

He scheduled a meeting Wednesday with Adm. N. W. Sprow of the Small Craft Harbor Commission, which supplied $1.3 million to revitalize the marina, closed for seven years.

"Then we will meet with the Water Quality Control Board and set up a monitoring program," the mayor said.

CHARGES ASKED

The board asked for criminal action in a special meeting last Friday after nighttime detective work by chairman Grant Burton.

"They were discharging silt into the harbor itself after they promised not to do it," Burton said. "They defied us."

California Lab Finds Tijuana Bread Poison

Identification of the drug gave Tijuana doctors a chance to try the proper antidotes. "I don't think any more will die now that they know what it is," Roth said.

The work to find the pesticide from the Tijuana bread sample could have taken much longer "because we didn't know what it was," Roth said. "We were prepared to work all night."

He said samples of milk and cheese from Tijuana also were examined but no parathion was found in them. Scientists had the help of an $11,000 analysis machine, installed this year.

In the grieving border city, stricken since Sunday, crying parents carried their young dead to clinics in their arms.

The disclosure that parathion had been discovered in bread brought release of 19 dairy officials and street milk vendors held for questioning since Monday. A ban on milk was lifted, and residents of Tijuana stopped boiling their drinking water.

It was theorized that the liquid pesticide spilled into flour that was later made into bread in Tijuana.

Thtroughout the night, doc-

Throughout the night, doctors worked to administer antidotes — atropine and a drug nicknamed "pam."

"The first patient showing symptoms of poisoning came in about 9 a.m. yesterday," Dr. Jorge Salas Zepeda said yesterday.

"One of the first things I did was call one of the radio stations so they could warn the people. The first broadcast was out by 9:15 a.m."

Sugar tablets were distributed to avert panic as hundreds demanding treatment jammed hospitals in Tijuana, a city of 265,000 persons touching the U.S. border.

Death came quickly for the victims—from two to four hours after they began vomiting.

"There they were, lined up waiting, vomiting, holding their stomachs," said Dr. Salas. "The ninos—little ones—they cried.

"The people, they keep coming. We do all we can, but there are too many. I have been working for 48 hours straight."

In the city, business was as usual and the rate of American tourists passing back and forth was near normal for a week day. Tijuana's schools were closed.

Families and friends of the young victims flocked to the city's churches to light candles and pray.

Injuries Minor In 101 Collision

California Highway Patrol reported that a westbound truck driven by Norman Shaw, 58, of 245 Solano Drive, San Rafael, pulled out from the county dump in front of a southbound car driven by Joseph Grace Benoist, 40, of Santa Rosa at 8:20 a.m.

Benoist refused hospitalization, the patrol reported.

trolling signs and open uses," said Solnit.

Pedestrian movement in the center should be made more pleasant and convenient by widening sidewalks, realigning curbs and other improvements.

"This town has got a lot of things going for it," said the planner. "It is not beautiful from the standard of certain European cities but people do like the humanity of it and there are a lot of things you can do to improve this aspect."

He saw no reason why Fairfax couldn't attract money by developing as a place where people came for the weekend — such as in Tiburon.

Solnit said the general plan — if finally adopted after hearings before the city council and board of supervisors — did not automatically establish zoning of the town. It would merely serve as a guide for zoning.

Asked where the money was to come from for the improvements, chairman Cronin said changes were not expected overnight. A general plan would put the council on record as establishing what is considered Fairfax should look like in the future. Some financing for street and road improvements could come frofm the state gas tax, he said.

A woman asked if the general plan was what "the council think the people of Fairfax want or is it the wish of the people themselves?"

Cronin said the commission and the county planners had tried to bring in as many people as possible into discussions. Citizens committees had been set up two years ago.

"People who attend meetings do not necessarily voice the consensus of opinion," he said. "The people who sit at home watching television have just as much right to an opinion even if they don't speak up. We do try to bring these people in too."

engagements and slashed through heavy groundfire to bomb two bridges in the Haiphong city limits and hit a railroad siding northeast of Hanoi.

Radio Hanoi reported five planes were shot down. But only one plane was reported downed by the U.S. military command, a Marine F4 Phantom hit by groundfire while attacking a target near the DMZ. One pilot was rescued and the other was missing.

In other fighting:

South Vietnamese troops, helped by U.S. Army helicopter gunships, killed 13 Viet Cong and captured 12 weapons in a brisk fight 16 miles southwest of Saigon.

A Claymore mine rigged to a tree killed one American and wounded 11 others during a sweep by the U.S. Army's 11th Armored Cavalry 36 miles east of Saigon.

Government troops sweeping along National Highway 1 some 270 miles northeast of Saigon ran into a Viet Cong squad and wiped it out. A spokesman said all 10 guerrillas were killed.

BIDS

and the bid, from American Seating, was $34,195. The county's estimate on stage lighting was $69,750 and the bid, from Stagecraft Industires, was $62,356.

Thus the largest gaps were in the base bids, on the construction of the building itself and the site preparation.

The other base bids, from only two firms: Robert E. McKee, Construction, $1,829,000, site development, $159,580, total, $1,988,580; Williams & Burrows, construction, $1,897,500; site development, $165,237. Williams & Burrows added a last ninute notation deducting $57,000 from its bid, thus making the total of this bid, $2,005,737.

Planning for the auditorium has a history going back about 10 years. The plans for it have been revised a number of times and there have been numerous meetings on it with vetran's groups. Some of them were conciliatory, because at one time the veterans objected to the involvement of the Frank Lloyd Wright Foundation, which designed the Civic Center, in the project. The vets said they didn't like Wright's war record.

The most recent set of sketches called for a circular auditorium, housing 2,000 seats, and a flat floor area with space for exhibitions, meetings and banquets.

revolt of the juvenile delinquency workers, but he is playing back the tape recordings of the meeting to make sure who said what.

County Administrator Alan Bruce said the renewed barbs from Busher's own staff constitute "a clear violation of the established procedure" (to go through channels) "taken with a full knowledge of the risks involved." He said that even if the board of supervisors adopts some new policy on the conduct of county employes, "it wouldn't be retroactive" to whatever punishment is meted out to Busher's staff members.

The main complaint of the workers against Busher's administration was of a lack of communication by the Juvenile Hall and FRC staffs with the field staff and Busher's downtown office. The Juvenile Hall and the FRC staffs operate at separate facilities, under Busher's direction.

The juvenile workers said they had learned from the FRC controversy that a facility for disturbed children can operate with as much efficiency as an open basis as on a closed basis.

Supervisor Peter H. Behr said the "most significant" aspect of the affair was that none of the rebellious staffers had communicated with Busher before they made their complaints at the supervisors' meeting.

Busher said the protest "came as a surprise to me."

Earlier in the meeting, before the ittle storm blew up, the supervisors voted to take another look at the 1960 ordinance which says what, and where, county employees may say.

Fred A. Ward, manager of the County Employees Association, said he thought county employees feel frustrated beacuse they are unable to communicate their complaints. He said "there's a morale problem" among employees because of this.

The supervisors left no doubt of where they stood in relation to Busher. Supervisor Behr said Bushers is the head of his department and is entitled to run it.

The supervisors chose the juvenile justice commission to handle the investigation of juvenile probation because they felt the commission is qualified to do the job.

Behr said he felt there was a danger to getting too many "mental health enthusiasts" into the affair. He pointed out that the purpose of the Family Rehabilitation Center is to treat children who had been brought into court because of unusually severe difficulties.

Pike Claims Communion With Son During Seance

SEATTLE (AP) — Episcopal Bishop James A. Pike, a critic of some religious doctrine but firmly convinced of life after death, says he believes he communicated with his dead son during an impromptu seance in Toronto.

"I know of no other explanation for these things," Bishop Pike said yesterday in an interview.

The Bishop's son, James Jr., then 22, committed suicide in New York in February 1966.

Bishop Pike said he believes the communication was authentic because "my impression of the words transmitted through a medium was characteristic of the person and his style.

"He referred to events—a lot of difficulties—and seemed very aware of things."

Bishop Pike said his son knew of the bishop's dispute with the church over interpretation of some traditional doctrines.

Earlier yesterday, Bishop Pike withdrew his demand for a heresy trial when the House of Bishops voted at the church's general convention to establish safeguards against heresy prosecution.

Referring to his experience at the seance as "astonishing," Bishop Pike said it began when he, Rev. Arthur Ford, prominent American medium and minister of the Disciples of Christ Church, and Allen Spraggett, religion editor of the Toronto Star, were to tape a television program.

All had written books dealing with data leading to a belief in life after death. After discussing their books, Bishop Pike said the Rev. Mr. Ford put himself into a trance.

"He began to talk and produced quite a number of persons who seemed to be in communication control of a guide, "Fletcher," who quoted people in the third person," Bishop Pike said. "Some I barely remembered or could recall, but all did pan out."

A sport very similar to bowling was played by the Egyptians as early as 5000 B.C.

Tam Trustees, Hub Council Seek Harmony

Officials of the Tamalpais High School District met with the San Anselmo City Council last night and promised more co-operation between the city and the school district, but found no immediate solutions to problems at Sir Francis Drake High School.

Dr. John C. Siemens, board chairman, trustee William B. Lewis, District Supt. Chester G. Carlisle and Drake principal Harold Allison represented the district.

SOME CRITICISM

Mayor Arthur W. Smith said residents of Saunders Avenue complained of the unsightliness of portable classrooms installed this summer and of traffic and parking on Saunders.

Carlisle said the portable classrooms resulted from several well-publicized meetings in San Anselmo on solutions to overcrowding at Drake, and while district officials warned the community that portable classrooms would not be attractive, the community preferred the portables to a split session at Drake. He said the portables were not the district's preferred solution to the problem, but stressed that they are temporary.

SOME REQUESTS

Carlisle agreed to investigate a complaint that air conditioners for the portable classrooms run 24 hours a day. He also agreed to look into councilman Duane C. Ragan's suggestions that some kind of screening be installed between the portables and the street, but noted that this would probably not be economically feasible.

Ragan suggested that the council and the district board meet every three months to consider mutual problems, and Siemens said he would present the suggestion to the board.

Mad River Hatchery Building Approved

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — The state Wildlife Conservation Board has approved construction of the Mad River Salmon-Steelhead fish hatchery in Humboldt County.

Commissioners said yesterday that $2 million for the hatchery will be included in its 1968-69 fiscal year budget request. The hatchery will be designed to raise one million yearling silver salmon and steelhead and five million king salmon fingerlings annually.

Robson Estate Is Formally Accepted; Planning Is Next

The San Anselmo City Council last night formally accepted the Kernan Robson estate property and asked for specific instruction on ways the property can be used.

The terms of the Robson will specify that the city should use the 2.68 acres at 237 Crescent Road for a park or the property must never be sold, subdivided or used for commercial purposes and that it must be called the Robson-Harrington Park. The city agreed to pay back taxes and insurance totaling at least $22,786. The money will be borrowed from a $25,000 fund set up to pay for a new fire station.

The council discussed using the house on the property for a teencenter or senior citizen's club, but City Atty. John G. Buresh said he does not believe the use can be limited to a special group. The council decided the residents of the area would probably object to a teen center there, anyway.

The council asked Buresh to ask the estate trustees for their definition of the uses to which the property can be put and asked the park and recreation commission to suggest uses.

Councilman Duane C. Ragan suggested the city needs a teen center.

"We're all highly in favor of a teen center as long as it doesn't cost money," Councilman John M. Reichmuth said.

Recreation commissioner Paul N. Brand said recreation director Frank Quinn had been studying the possibility, and the council asked Quinn to attend the next meeting to discuss his ideas for a center.

The council also agreed to listen to any ideas the teenagers have on the subject at the Youth Congress at Sir Francis Drake High School in November.

The San Anselmo City Council Also:

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — An Oroville land investor has has purchased the 9,000-acre Timberline Ranch, located along the Mad River, for $375,000.

The high bidder, Tom Kier, indicated after the purchase yesterday that he would subdivide the property into 40-acre parcels to be sold for sports retreats and ranches.

About 100 persons were present for the open bidding.

The ranch, which Forest Service officials said abounds with deer, is situated in Humbolt and Trinity counties, about 250 miles north of San Francisco.

Teachers Win Ruling Against Election Try

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—The Berkeley Teachers Association's contention that a school district cannot interfere with rights of an organization to represent its members was upheld yesterday by the California Court of Appeals.

The tribunal ruled that an election proposed by the Berkeley Board of Education to determine membership of a negotiation council would constitute "an interference."

Membership, not elections, must be used to determine organizational representation of school district negotiating councils under the Winton-Employe Relations Act, according to Presiding Justice Daniel Shoemaker.

The decision was an outgrowth of an action last year when the Board of Education scheduled an election to determine makeup of a negotiating council.

The teachers association obtained an injunction from the Alameda County Superior Court on grounds this procedure was contrary to provisions of the Winton Act and interfered with the right of organizations to represent their own members as guaranteed by law.

The California Federation of Teachers, AFL-CIO, entered the suit as an intervenor and appealed the granting of the injunction. Yesterday's ruling upheld the lower court.

Meanwhile, the Berkeley Board of Education abandoned its election plan pending the appellate court ruling and established a negotiating council based on proportional representation of the teachers association and the Berkeley local of the California Federation of Teachers.

Mosk Wants Pre-Ballot Opinions

MONTEREY (AP) — Justice Stanley Mosk of the California Supreme Court suggests that advisory opinions on the constitutionality of initiative propositions be given before they are placed on the ballot.

The justice, speaking today before the Stanford Law Alumni Association at the State Bar Conference, said that could "serve a useful purpose in preventing the kind of bitterness engendered most recently by the campaigns for Propositions 14 and 15."

Both propositions passed the electorate but were invalidated as unconstitutional by the high court.

Proposition 14 would give property owners absolute discretion in the sale or rental of housing. Proposition 15 would have outlawed paid television.

"Understandably, the victors were anguished when the fruits of their victory were denied them by subsequent court invalidation," the justice said. "'How can a court nullify a vote of the people?' was a frequent plaintive cry by those who failed to understand that neither the legislature, nor the people acting legislatively, have the power to adopt a measure that violates the Federal Constitution," he added.

He suggested an amendment to the state constitution to give the voters a "definitive answer on constitutionality before they are called upon to determine the merits of a proposal at the polls rather than after its adoption by voters."

School Property Deadline Moved

The Novato Unified School District yesterday was given a two-day extensiono n the time for filing condemnation papers to acquire the Paladini property at Wilson Avenue and Vineyard Road for a school administration building.

The board held a public hearing on using that site for the administration building Monday night at the West Novato School. At the meeting it was brought out that the Board had had one time extension until Oct. 1 to start the proceedings.

The State Alcoholics Board allowed the extra two days so that the board could take up the matter at its regular meeting Monday night.

NEARS COMPLETION — This is a downstream view of the Oroville Dam which is nearly completed. When in operation, the 770-foot dam will be the highest in the nation. (AP Wirephoto)

Oroville Dam: Thirsty Land Milestone

By BILL STALL

OROVILLE (AP) — Men and machines, working night and day for four years, have moved a virtual mountain and dumped it into a river canyon.

They call it Oroville Dam.

The last truckload of dirt and rock will be spread onto the crest in the next few weeks, topping out the structure at a height of 770 feet above the clear mountain-bred waters of the Feather River.

That will make it the highest dam in the nation and one of the largest earth-fill dams in the world. Engineers call it one of the most ambitious earth-moving projects in history.

Completion of Oroville Dam, five miles up the Feather from here and 70 miles from Sacramento, is a milestone in California's efforts to reverse a growing imbalance in water supply — more than is needed in the north and not enough in the south.

But almost everything about Oroville Dam is big; 6,900 feet long at the crest, almost half again as long as San Francisco's Golden Gate Bridge; three-fifths of a mile thick at the base; and containing 80 million cubic yards of carefully compacted rock and earth, enough to fill 1.5 million railroad cars.

The future reservoir, when filled in the next year or two, will have 167 miles of shoreline and hold back enough water to meet the household needs of California's 19 million residents for nearly a year.

Oroville Dam is a major link in the vast $2.5 billion California Water Project, a state-financed program of dams, reservoirs, pumping plants and canals designed to satisfy the thirsts of Southern California's growing industry and teeming millions.

By 1971, Feather River water collected by Oroville will reach Los Angeles County by way of the water project's 444-mile long California Aqueduct.

Finally, the dam will shield Oroville and other Sacramento Valley towns from the Feather River during flood times when it plunges out fron the mountains with devastating fury.

Flood control is a dream come true for Oroville Mayor Conrad Weisker, a druggist who worked more than a decade as a city councilman to see the Feather tamed.

"That's all I'm living for, is to see that dam dedicated," says Weisker. "This is one of my happiest moments."

Weisker speaks fondly of life in Oroville, a community of about 8,000 at the base of the Sierra foothills. "We have the freshest, cleanest water running right past our doorstep, on down to the sea."

But flood time was something else.

"This was my nightmare. In 1955, I had to put my Christmas presents up on the mantle so the water wouldn't soak them."

By the time of the 1964 flood which smashed other parts of Northern California with death and destruction, the dam was high enough to protect downstream cities and towns on the Feather and Sacramento rivers.

"If that dam hadn't been there, Yuba City and Sacramento both would have been gone," Weisker says proudly. "This is what we fought so hard for."

More than a million persons a year have visited the construction site, but the biggest economic benefit is still to come for Oroville residents and businessmen — from recreation development along the future lake.

"Now, visitors just ride through town to see the dam," Weisker comments. "But when we get the lake in and have places for them to stay, and recreation, that's going to be the shot in the arm."

The construction job is writing new chapters in engineering history books. Too big for one firm, eight companies combined under the name of Oro Dam Constructors to submit the winning bid of $120.8 million. Total project cost, including the power plant, diversion tunnels and adjacent facilities, boost the total bill to $439 million.

Despite the size of the job, only about 500 workers have been employed at the construction job during most of the past four years.

"Such a project would have been completely unfeasible 20 years ago because the type of equipment necessary to perform the work was not available," says J. Rodney Mims, project boss since the dam began taking form.

Oro Dam Constructors built an 11-mile railroad, installed miles of conveyor belts and used a giant 668-ton excavator made in Germany to transport the millions of tons of fill material to the dam site.

Gold played a unique role in the construction.

Between 1898 and 1918, a dozen gold mining companies used 35 dredges to glean $80 million in gold from the flood plain of the Feather River 11 to 15 miles from the dam site.

When the miners departed, they left more than 5,500 acres of land covered with gigantic rows and rows of rock and gravel, sifted of its gold and left discarded. This became the major source of material for the dam.

Home Credit Called Major Bottleneck

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Financing costs are a major factor in preventing construction of enough single-family homes, an industrialist told the California Savings and Loan League yesterday.

CREDIT TROUBLES

The "nation's growing housing needs can be met only if action is taken to revitalize our mortgage credit system" to make housing credit available universally on liberal terms, he said.

He told of Home Capital Funds, a mortage finance company, which was formed by 12 of the leading building firms to aid in the financing of home construction. They have subscribed $3.5 million, he added.

ONE-SOURCE LOAN

Under Home Capital Funds terms, up to 90 per cent of the needed funds may be borrowed from one source, he said, noting that young families usually are unable to make more than a 10 per cent down payment.

At present many institutional leaders will not provide more than 75 per cent of the cost and the balance is available under a second mortgage, but on terms that Brewer called onerous.

Poverty Survey Lags But Effort Is Lauded

By DAVID DIETZ

The San Geronimo Valley's poverty seekers, disturbed over the progress of their resident survey, called last night for an acceleration program.

Richard Poppel co-chairman of the San Geronimo-Nicasio Valleys Target Area Board, said only 225 completed questionnaires have been returned in the first two weeks of the survey. He said 975 families still had to be reached.

BOARD PRAISED

In another development last night, Richard Kent Rupp of Forest Knolls, who resigned from the 36-member board Sept. 5, appeared at the group's meeting as an observer and praised their "conscientious" efforts to fix the extent of poverty in the valleys.

Rupp had quit because he said the board was opposed to a self-help poverty program for the poor. Although he said last night he was "impressed with the way you're going about it," Rupp declined to participate in the survey because he said, "I don't agree with it."

He held the door open, however, to help if a poverty program were established in the valley.

To step up the survey, the board decided to station representatives with survey forms in front of the Lagunitas, San Geronimo, Forest Knolls and Woodacre post offices Saturday from 9 a.m. to noon, and in front of Lagunitas School from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Area chairmen and co-chairmen also were appointed to encourage volunteers to step up the door-to-door survey. The board said forms were still available at the Strout Realty building in Forest Knolls and at Tarr's Store in Woodacre.

DEADLINE HOLDS

The group reaffirmed its intention to complete the survey by Oct. 10, when the county board of supervisors is scheduled to consider deleting the valley from the West Marin poverty target area.

Poppe said that, of the 225 families who have completed forms, only three were eligible for assistance under federal anti-poverty income guidelines. Volunteer surveyors were asked, however, to list on the forms "community needs" which both eligible and non-eligible residents may express.

Special Strawberry Session Canceled

A special meeting set for tonight by the Strawberry Recreation District board has been canceled for lack of a quorum, according to board clerk, Mrs. Jean Heick.

Next regular meeting of the board is Oct. 4.

College Election Turnout Is Less Than 10 Per Cent

A total of 448 votes out of a possible 5,562 were cast in yesterday's student body election at the College of Marin.

Pat Black defeated Dan Lockman for men's freshman representative, 243 to 174; Lynn Forrester defeatedd Pam Koshko for women's freshman representative, 261 to 127.

A run-off election between the two top candidates for men's sophomore representative will be scheduled, because none of the three candidates received a majority of the votes. John Fleicher received 135, John McCarthy received 157 and Homi Mozzi received 96.

Helen Dersjant defeated Lynn Dillon for women's sophomore representative, 193 to 177. Running unopposed were Dave Ehreth for rallies commissioner and Eillen O'Connell for executive council secretary.

LOSES POWER — Alexander N. Shelepin, former secret police chief and trusted agent of Joseph Stalin and Nikita Khrushchev, has lost his key post as secretary of the Soviet Communist Party. The news came from Moscow yesterday. (AP Wirephoto)

Parents Seek School Delay

REDWOOD CITY (AP)—A parent group has asked Superior Court to permit their children to stay home until safety is assured at racially troubled Menlo - Atherton High School.

Attorney Alan Smotkin, acting for Parents for Safe and Sane Education, asked yesterday that the Sequoia Union High School District be enjoined from enforcing truancy laws until conditions are safer.

Scuffles between Negro and white pupils Sept. 18 resulted in at least 15 injuries after district trustees voted to bus to school only those pupils living at least two miles away. They later returned to their one and one-half mile limit.

Corte Madera Parks Session Called Off

The scheduled meeting of the Corte Madera Park and Recreation Commission will not be held today for lack of a quorum.

Instead, commissioners will meet at 7:30 p.m. Oct. 18 at the conference room in Corte Madera Town Hall.

Redwood Empire's Future Bright, Clausen Declares

NAPA — The north coast of California "will flower and prosper in the years just ahead," Rep. Don H. Clausen, R-First District, said today.

Clausen, kickoff speaker at the opening here of the Redwood Empire Association's 47th annual convention, said that the "outlook is good" for passage of a Redwood National Park bill. The park "will be an overall ecomomic plus for the Redwood Empire," he declared.

The region's bright future, Clausen said, is heralded by "a gradual improvement" of homebuilding and forest products sales, and "a quickening pace in water project construction," providing flood control, recreation, harbor development and fish and wild life enhancement.

Completion of the interstate highway program in about five years, Clausen said, "will clear the way for a new program hopefully aimed at placing more emphasis and money in primary highways, such as U.S. 101."

In the past five years, he added, more than $25 million in federal funds have been spent in his district on water resources, $115 million on highways and $5.5 million on airports and aviation.

"Bountiful and valuable natural resources, a mild and unique climate and some of the world's finest scenery will all contribute to an economic uplifting which is going to take place on the north coast," Clausen predicted.

"The effort has already begun, but it is only just started," he concluded.

Telephone Calls Suspect Charged

Gerald D. Gray, 21, of 162 Belvedere Street, San Rafael was booked into Marin County Jail yesterday on suspicion of making lewd telephone calls.

A woman complained to police about the calls Friday and a tracer was placed on the line.

Gray appeared in Marin Municipal Court yesterday and his case was continued to Oct. 6 at 1:30 p.m. Bail was set at $110.

Couple Reports $220 Stolen From Home

The theft of $220 in cash was reported to police yesterday by Stewart F. Billings of 12 Longwood Drive, San Rafael.

He said when he and his wife returned home at 7 p.m. they found three money banks missing from the bedroom.

Insurance Agents Offered Pay Hike

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Prudential Insuarnce Co. and a union representing its 17,000 agents in 35 states and the District of Columbia have reached tentative agreement on a new contract.

The agents, who average $166 a week now, would get a $6 weekly raise plus several fringe benefit improvements under the two-year pact. The AFL-CIO Insurance Workers International Union had sought increasesd commissions and other benefits to raise this to $200 a week.

Some agents had walked off the job after the old pact expired at midnight Sunday.

THE PENNEY STORY

Two months away from the first girl

By ROBERTA NASH

Our neighbors have five boys and, as I write this, are just two months away from their first GIRL!, according to the doctor's well-hedged prediction.

"I go to Penney's for nearly all the boys' things," my neighbor said. "Penney's prices are always good and their clothes seem rugged enough even to take the rough wear my monkeys give them. But won't it be fun to buy frilly things for a GIRL?" My neighbor crossed her fingers.

(Two months later: Penney's, get out your frills. It was a GIRL!)

NOVATO PAYS TRIBUTE TO YOUNG BASEBALLERS

Youthful baseball players came in for their share of honor at the Novato City Council last night.

Mayor J. Wayne Womack presented individual certificates of appreciation to members of the American Legion all-star team, the Little League National all-star team and the Little League American all-star team. The certificates were accepted by the managers of the teams.

"We have already paid tribute in the form of a banquet to the two Babe Ruth teams which carried the name of Novato outside of Marin County," Womack said.

Hill Excavating Opponents Win By Council Vote Of 4-1

Opponents to excavating the top of a hill for fill along Novato's low area beside Highway 101, won their point last night and the Novato City Council reversed the planning commission's approval of it.

The commission approved Sept. 11 a use permit for Albert Tognoli to excavate 130,000 cubic yards of material from the hill south of Reservoir Drive and east of the Northwestern Pacific Railroad.

The council reversed this last night by a 4-1 vote with Councilman Harley McAskill dissenting.

"He could have taken a devious route, submitted a development plan and automatically received his grading permit from the public works department and it would not have come before us," McAskill said explaining his position.

Residents of the Poplar Terrace area presented a petition with 145 signatures, and residents along Lamont Avenue presented another with 16 signatures against the excavation.

Joseph Scott of 517 Louis Drive, presented the arguments for the Poplar Terrace residents.

"Why should anyone cut a hilltop with no development planned on it?" he asked.

"Why take down the hills for industrial development?" asked Mrs. Jack A. Reinagle of 650 Hancock Street.

Councilman M. E. (Babe) Silva said that he did not want to see a quarry made out of the hill.

The Novato City Council Also:

CROSSWALKS — Overruled recommendations of Lawrence A. Coleman, director of public works, and approved putting crosswalks at the intersections of Center Road with Tamalpais Avenue and Diablo Avenue. This had been requested by the Lu Sutton Parent-Teacher Association. The council also detected the one-way traffic signs on Elm Drive between Service Road and Front Street; and authorized stop signs on Mirabella Avenue at First Street, at Elm Street at Service Road and on Machin Avenue at De Long Avenue.

IMPROVEMENTS — Authorized the city entering a deferred improvements agreement with Henry L. Hicks for the curbs, sidewalk and street widening for a lot at the southeast corner of Novato Boulevard and Tamalpais Avenue to run for two years.

REVIEW — Authorized the public works department to submit its plans for public works projects to the city's plan review committee to check for the esthetic values. This was done at the suggestion of Merrill who said that the city maintained strong control over the private developer, but did not review its own works.

ZONING — Passed ordinances changing from single to multiple family residential a lot for Aurel P. Weber at 1035 Third Street and a lot for Petty and Kreger Inc. at Logan and Railroad avenues. The council introduced an ordinance changing from agriculture to industrial two acres along Northwestern Pacific Railroad at Highway 37 for F and E Investments.

CHAIRMAN — Named Eugene McGillicuddy chairman of the three-man plan review committee at that committee's request.

RESOLUTION — Endorsed a resolution at the request of Assemblyman Robert T. Monagan, R-Stockton, that Congress enact some form of federal tax sharing program.

PROJECTS — Heard a report from Coleman that both the Diablo-DeLong realignment project and the new culvert on Vineyard Creek at Center Road were ahead of schedule.

FINANCES — Received the monthly treasurer's report that the city had $837,416.92 in cash on Aug. 31.

HEARING — Adjourned to a special meeting at 8 p.m., next Tuesday at the Community House to hold a public hearing on hiring a planning consultant for the downtown area who would try to get a federal urban renewal program for the city. City Mgr. J. Julien Baget reported that 740 notices of the meeting had been sent out to interested parties and organizations.

Escape Artist Judged Insane

A 22-year-old drifter, who flashed a toy gun at San Francisco topless dancer Yvonne D'Angiers then chased her car in Fairfax June 10, has been committed to Atascadero State Hospital.

Alameda County Superior Court Judge Redmond Staats ordered James Reece committed "until he regains his sanity" for trial.

Reece is charged with 11 counts of escape, kidnap and robbery. His trial had been underway before Staats, but Reece interrupted proceedings several times. Last week, he toppled tables and fought with bailiffs.

Reece escaped from a San Diego jail earlier this year, then was captured in Marin County after blocking the auto of Miss D'Angiers, 22, on Creek Road with a stolen car, brandishing a toy pistol, then chasing her car until both crashed.

Airlines Hit Pay For Service

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's airlines have objected vigorously to a proposal they pay for services rendered to them by the Civil Aeronautics Board.

The Air Transport Association has told the CAB its members find "particularly offensive" a plan to charge up to $200 for each route application and up to $25,000 for each new route award.

The group said the CAB's functions are performed in the public interest as outlined by Congress. Congress, it said, has given the CAB the duty of issuing route certificates and it would be improper for the board to charge for carrying out a statutory obligation.

County Worker Strikes Banned

The policy statement said, in part:

"Rights of county employes differ from those in private industry. The government is to serve all the people and its very nature prohibits work stoppages or other methods of coercion."

Sanitary Board Vote Not Needed

Only the two incumbents have field candidates' positions for two seats on the Sausalito-Marin City Sanitary District Board, the board learned Monday night.

The board passed a resolution asking the county supervisors to reappoint the two incumbents, George K. Elkington and Carl F. Urbutt, to new terms in lieu of an uncontested election.

The board also authorized the purchase of three two-way radios for use in the district's sewage plant and vehicles. The radios will cost approximately $700 apiece.

Novato Can't Decide On Park Bonds Size

The question of how large a bond issue should be put before Novato voters for parks in the coming Jan. 23 bond election, last night was tossed from Novato City Council back to the parks and recreation advisory commission.

The commission originally asked for, and the council approved putting $2,250,000 on the bond election for parks. Then after meeting with the commission on Sept. 12, the council voted to make two park issues, splitting the request into the large Canyon Lake Park, and lumping all of the others.

"On serious consideration the next morning, I felt that splitting the park bond issue was a mistake," said Councilman William Jack Adams.

Council members agreed and asked the commission to make two or three alternates which could be put on the ballot. These could be for $1 million, a $1.5 milllion and a full $2.25 million bond issue.

The commission is to list what could be obtained in each of these categories in the way of parks, and report back to the council by Oct. 10 when it must pass a resolution on the amount of the bonds which it will request. There was no discussion of the $5.75 million request for streets in the same election.

Alabama Computer Speeds Highway Jobs

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (UPI) — The Alabama Highway Department is using a computer to save money.

The computer has enabled the department to speed up processing of data for receiving federal aid for equipment costs which officials say is saving the state $250,000 a year.

Commissioners End Duty Soon

The Novato City Council last night received notice that the terms of three commission members expire on Dec. 31, and called for volunteers to fill the positions if the present commissioners do not want to be reappointed.

Faris Morse and William Keener of the parks and recreation advisory commission, and Ross Dugan of the planning commission, whose terms will expire, will be asked if they want to serve again, said Mayor J. Wayne Womack. Interested persons should notify the city manager, Womack said.

30-Foot Cruiser Is Cut In Half

ANTIOCH (AP) — The Earlham Victory, en route on the San Joaquin River from Stockton to San Francisco, ran down and cut in two a 30-foot cabin cruiser, the Coast Guard said today.

A Coast Guard boat from Rio Vista rescued the owners, Mr. and Mrs. James Payne of Concord, from the water. They had radioed for help and were being held up by life jackets when rescued.

Wheeler Reveals Viet Bomb Split

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Joint Chiefs of Staff sought a 16-day bombing onslaught against 90 key targets in North Vietnam early in 1966, congressional testsimony shows. But they didn't get their way.

Gen. Earle G. Wheeler, chairman of the chiefs, revealed in Aug. 16 Senate testimony released yesterday that the military urged this "much sharper type of attack."

DIFFERENT POLICY

The administration instead adopted a gradual escalation approach which allowed commanders in Vietnam to attack only 22 JCS-recommended fixed targets all last year.

Wheeler's comments indicated a new deep-seated differences between the military men and civilian leaders over the conduct of the war. President Johnson told a recent news conference there was no serious conflict between the joint chiefs and civilians.

Wheeler told the Senate preparedness investigating subcommittee that, in retrospect, the 90-target campaign probably would have taken 26 days to complete due to bad weather.

ATTACK AREAS

According to previous testimony by Adm. U.S. Grant Sharp, Pacific commander-in-chief, this attack campaign would have hit all major targets in six areas: power, transportation, air defense, war-related industry, military complexes and petroleum, oil and lubricants.

Although many of these have been hit over past months, Wheeler said a number of significant targets remain off-limits—among them the port of Haiphong, point of entry for Soviet war aid to Hanoi.

"I have come down on the side that we could undertake actions against the port of Haiphong," the general stated. Most of the Soviet-supplied war goods passes through Haiphong, Wheeler said, but the only North Vietnamese port which has been hit is Cam Pha. He called it "peanuts."

"There is no question but that lacking support in the Soviet Union—that is, getting the means of the war — that any sizeable conflict would be impossible for the North Vietnamese and the Viet Cong," Wheeler stated. "There is no question about it."

LIMITED ATTACKS

Wheeler also testified under oath that during his trip with McNamara to Vietnam in July, commanders were sounded out on the idea of limiting attacks to North Vietnam's southern panhandle.

In a White House news conference July 12, Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara said that during his trip "only incidentally did we discuss the air war in the North . . . Although the commander of the Pacific was there with his component commanders s of the Air and Navy, we didn't get into it in great detail."

Sharp testified Aug. 9 he recommended to McNamara in Saigon that an additional 105 North Vietnamese targets be bombed. Sharp got approval to hit 16 then, and another 16 were authorized on Aug. 8—the night before the Senate group began air war hearings.

Tests Show Health Unit In Slide Area

The Marin Hospital District board learned last night that soil tests showed a slide is possible behing the Community Mental Health Center site.

Soil engineers Woodward, Oakland said that in the embankment behind the site "the bottom portion of the fill is . . . barely stable and some sliding and instability in this area is anticipated."

The area in question belongs to the Schultz Development Co. The engineers recommended that part of the fill be excavated and a sub-surface drainage system be installed. The board referred the report to attorney Richard Sangster for a recommendation on action the district should take.

The board granted administrator Ray K. Bolinger a $2,000 a year pay increase, from $23,000 to $25,000.

The Marin Hospital District Board also:

PARKING — Approved spending about $2,000 for oil and gravel coating of the west shoulder on Bon Air Road for parking.

SUPPLIES — Approved membership in Commodities Purchasing Associates, eight Bay Area hospitals which use group purchasing of hospital supplies.

CHANGE ORDERS — Approved change orders for the Community Mental Health Center, one at a cost of $1,393 and the other a $417 credit.

DEBTS — Wrote off $10,311 bad debts.

McNamara Says Port Bombings Too Risky

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara insisted today that bombing port facilities at Haiphong is not worth the risk of widening the Vietnam war.

McNamara renewed his position on the question when asked by a reporter about Senate testimony by Gen. Earle G. Wheeler, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, urging military action to close the Communist port as an important step to speed an end to the war.

McNamara called Wheeler's testimony, made Aug. 16 and made public yesterday, "a balanced appraisal of the potential risks and gains" from closing the port. "He pointed out very clearly the possibility of widening the war by attacking the port of Haiphong," the secretary said.

But McNamara then added, "It's a risk I don't believe we should undertake at this time."

Wheeler said it is vital to the allied war effort to halt the flow of war materials to North Vietnam from Red China and Russia —mostly via Haiphong.

McNamara, who was asked about Wheeler's remarks today as the secretary departed for a NATO meeting in Turkey, had testified earlier before the same Senate committee that closing Haiphong would pose a new set of problems.

The next question would be how to stop Soviet ships from landing supplies at smaller ports or beaches. McNamara envisioned a confrontation with Russia on its use of international waters, and said any gain from neutralizing Haiphong was not worth the risk of widening the war.

On the basis of testimony from Wheeler and other service chiefs, the subcommittee last month issued a report accusing the Administration of shackling America's aiir power. It called for the mining of Haiphong harbor.

Corporation Brain Hoard Is Decried

WASHINGTON (SS) — The brains needed to solve today's urban problems are locked up in large corporations that are unwilling to use them, a technology management expert told the Senate Monday. He called for public programs designed to lure this buried talent out into the open.

A large share of the technological innovations of the past 30 years have been developed by individuals or small companies, Dr. Donald A. Schon, president of the Boston-based Organization for Social and Technical Innovation, told the Senatae Anti-trust Subcommittee.

Most of these innovators worked in research laboratories in large corporations or universities and then left because their employers lacked interest in new ideas, he said.

The system works well in consumer industries and defense development, he said.

Defense, space and electronics developments lead these men to quit and form their own companies, he told the committee which is investigating the effect of new technologies on the concentration of industry and reasearch.

Such problems as urban transportation doesn't have enough power to draw solutions from big corporations.

THINKING BIG

IN NATION'S SCHOOLS

Miniskirts, Hair Taking Precedent

By U. P. INTERNATIONAL

In dozens of schools across the nation this fall the No. 1 problem faced by school administrators is neither teacher walkouts nor new math.

It's skirts on girls and hair on boys, and the question of which shall be how long on whom.

A survey by UPI revealed that in several states the problem has gone as far as the courts. In other states, school boards are being forced to ponder the question of how far above the knee is too far and how much below the ear is too long. Only one state reported school authorities' views in harmony with the long-hair fashion attitudes of some boys. The New Jersey Board of Education, in an unanimous ruling, declared that local boards may not interfere with boys' hairstyles.

The state board recalled that at one time in the country's history, generals, presidents—even school board members—wore their hair at shoulder length.

The board said it did not want to put itself in the position of declaring that it could not happen again.

Not so in Colorado, where a court fight is in progress over whether students may be sent home for violating dress and haircut regulations.

Leading the fight for liberal styles is the Colorado branch of the American Civil Liberties Union (ACLU) whose Chairman Royce Forsyth said the suspended students were "pushouts," not dropouts.

Another ACLU official said dress is a "form of self-expression" and putting undue restrictions on it creates "an inhibiting atmosphere which is not conducive to the assertion of new or different opinions."

Involved in the Colorado case are several girls sent home for wearing miniskirts, a boy kept out of class for having long hair, and a youth sent home when he arrived at school wearing knee-high Indian mocasins.

If the lad in the long squaw boots deserves the prize for imagination, the prize for quantity should go to Orange County, Calif. On the first day of school about 600 girls were sent home from several high schools in the county for wearing miniskirts.

The rules established by school authorities usually specify that hemlines must reach the top of girls' knees.

That brought a crisis in Rawlins, Wyo., where a five-foot-six inch high school sophomore was suspended. The school board said her skirt showed too much thigh.

The girl's mother protested that she had shopped all over Rawlins but was unable to find a skirt the proper length because of her daughter's height.

The school board had no sympathy, and the young lady will be placed in a private school.

Students aren't the only ones who run into trouble with the rules. Randall Stephens, 34, a teacher in Sunbury, Pa., was suspended for having long hair, long sideburnss, a moustache and a goatee.

And in Antioch, Calif., teacher Nancy McGlone, 32, the mother of eight, was not rehired this fall because she appeared at school one day last term in a Kelly-green miniskirt.

It was St. Patrick's Day.

Restaurant Tab Higher For Bay

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The cost of eating in the San Francisco Bay Area went up 0.3 per cent last month, the Bureau of Labor Statistics reported today.

The bureau's retail food price index for the San Francisco-Oakland Metropolitan area rose to 116.4 of the 1957-59 average, or 1.9 per cent about August last year.

Biggest hike was in dining out, where higher sales taxes sparked the newest rise. Eating away from home rose 1.3 per cent in a month and 4.1 per cent in a year to 134.2.

Fruit and vegetable prices dropped 4.8 per cent in the month but were 7.6 higher than August 1966.

Plans For Medical Center Win Approval

The Larkspur Planning Commission last night approved Dr. S. U. Miller's plans for a medical clinic at 1365 South Eliseo Drive, and plans for a Lyon's restaurant on Sir Francis Drake Boulevard.

The commission also approved an 18-month extension of architectural approval for the Tamalpais Retirement Home model unit on Via Casitas; Schultz Investment Co. plans for apartments at 31 Corte Ortega, and Ralph L. Preston's request for a lot split on Ardmore Avenue.

Guilty Verdict In Murder Trial

MODESTO (AP) — Jurors found William A. Fain guilty yesterday of murdering a high school senior and raping three women.

The student shot to death June 19 was Mark Ulrich, 17, of Oakdale High School.

Jurors also convicted Fain of kidnaping and raping two young women, 16 and 17, who were with Ulrich, and an Oakdale housewife, who was assaulted earlier that day.

Arraignment On Burglary Charge

Hans J. Rudolph, 29, was arraigned in Marin Municipal Court yesterday on a charge of burgling the home of his former employer, Mrs. Hellen Carrigan of 72 Lagoon Road, Belvedere.

He pleaded innocent. Preliminary hearing was scheduled for 1:30 p.m. Oct. 27. Rudolph, once a chauffeur for Mrs. Carrigan, is accused of taking two television sets and a pair of binoculars from the home Sunday. He resides in San Francisco.

Some Hold Student Aid Study Incomplete

LOS ANGELES (AP)—An advisory council report on higher education financial aid was on its way to Gov. Ronald Reagan today despite criticism from some council members that the report is inadequate.

The report, approved yesterday by the Coordinating Commission for Higher Education, said the cost of financial assistance to students will range from $8.2 million to $43.5 million.

The lower amount would pay for continuing the current state scholarship program for students at state colleges, the University of California and private institutions.

The higher figure would provide aid to these students if student fees were raised by $200 at both U.C. and the state colleges.

The report, requested in February by Gov. Reagan, was described as containing only raw data. A recommendation drawn up in August for $40 million in new aid had been deleted from the report prior to yesterday's meeting because of criticism from council members.

But even the report barely won approval as the council defeated 8-6 a move to work further on the document.

Dudley Swim, a new council member, said the report "is anything but a creditable job."

H.R. Haldeman said there had been not enough time to study the report.

But Council President Arthur G. Coons rose to its defense, saying there had been "plenty of time" for study and describing the report as "one of the best documents the staff has prepared."

Meanwhile, the council directed the staff to prepare an outline for reevaluation of the state's master plan for higher education, specifically in relation to complaints that the colleges are not being treated qually with the university. Also studied would be a proposal to change the name of the colleges to "state universities"—a move defeated this year in the legislature.

Chapter Ceremony

The Optimist Club of Novato will hold its charter presentation Oct. 7 at the Lodge, north of Novato on Highway 101 at 6:30 p.m. Among those present will be members of the Optimist Club of San Rafael.

Toastmasters Name Officers

Other officers to be installed at the meeting at 8 p.m. at Lin-Fa Gardens restaurant, Terra Linda, are Louis G. Harding of Mill Valley as education vice president; Dr. Thomas M. Hart, Ross, administrative vice president; Elmer C. Wolff, Novato, secretary; Norman Campbell, San Anselmo, sergeant-at-arms.

Lothar Salin of San Rafael, president of the international organization, will attend.

New Suez Clash Termed Serious

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Israeli and Egyptian forces today exchanged artillery and machinegun fire across the Suez Canal in one of the worst clashes since the June Mideast war.

An Israeli military spokesman said there were three separate incidents near the Suez Canal town of Ismailia. Egypt reported intermittent fire in the same area lasted for almost two hours.

The fighting was the worst in the region since Sept. 21 when Israeli and Egyptian positions exchanged fire at Qantara. Egyptian officials said 28 men on both sides died in that battle.

An official Israeli communique issued in Jerusalem said Egypt fired on Israeli positions twice today before United Nations observers arranged a cease-fire. Egypt said Ismailia itself was "heavily shelled" by Israel.

The Israeli communique said Egyptian machineguns began the attack and Egyptian tanks followed it up.

The exchange came within hours of an Israeli announcement that several hundred Israeli Army cadets were moved into the Hebron Hills of occupied Jordan today as permanent settlers.

Premier Levi Eshkol announced Sunday that Isrelis would resettle in the area but today's pre-dawn movement came as a surprise.

The cadets whose parents died in Hebron in 1948 had petitioned Eshkol for permission to settle there.

Informed sources said another group of Army cadets would settle soon in occupied Syrian territory.

Meanwhile, Israeli authorities clamped a curfew on East (Arab) Jerusalem for census taking and collection of "economic and social data required for planning and administration."

In Strasbourg, France, Israeli Foreign Minister Abba Eban went before the Council of Europe and called on the Arab nations to join Israel in a Middle East economic community.

To the cheers of delegates from the 18 European member nations, Eban said "the central issue in any future peace negotiation must be regional economic development."

Arab League observers boycotted Eban's speech.

Sausalito Council Gives Parking Privileges To City's Residents

By ALAN JONES

Sausalito residents will be issued stickers good for two hours free parking in one downtown parking lot under a plan approved last night by the Sausalito City Council.

The council told City Atty. Leland H. Jordan to prepare an ordinance embodying the plan, drawn up at the request of Mayor Mel Wax.

Residents will be able to apply at city hall for stickers, using their drivers' license as proof of residence. The stickers, which would be renewed each six months, will allow free parking in city lot No. 3, opposite the Trade Fair building on Bridgeway. The two-hour free parking would be allowed seven days a week. Police would enforce the time limit by marking tires.

City Mgr. George M. Patterson said the plan could not include street meters without allowing free parking for everyone. City parking lot No. 1, was excluded from the plan because it provides 60 to 70 per cent of the city's off-street parking revenue and losses would be substantial.

This might ultimately raise property taxes and end in no benefit to residents, Patterson said.

Some revenue will be lost because of the plan, but Patterson said the amount is impossible to estimate in advance.

Councilmen foresaw headaches in administering the plan, but "the question is whether the city is willing to undergo this headache for the sake of the residents," Councilman Alexander R. Imlay said.

The council acccepted an offer by William Remak of Sausalito Artists and Merchants to write all the city's residents explaining the arrangement.

The plan will not change the present parking validation system used in lot No. 1, which has an attended gate.

OTHER PROBLEMS

Two other parking matters also occupied the council last night. A parking ordinance amendment was approved for publication setting off-street parking requirements for restaurants at one space for each three seats.

The council also accepted an offer by Peter Wells for Trident Productions to give the city the parking lot adjoining the Purity store on Bridgeway in lieu of providing 31 off-street parking spaces for a proposed restaurant in the building.

In the complex swap, the city would get a net of 2,567 square feet owned by Trident, and would give Trident a 50-year lease on two corners of the property where the building encroaches city property. The parking lot, which also includes 1,564 square feet of city-owned property, would be developed into a city park as soon as possible after the Bridgeway widening project turns the area into solid land.

DETAILS ASKED

Patterson was told to draw up details of the agreement for final approval next month. Value of the land to be given by Trident is an estimated $62,000, Paterson said. It comprises 32 per cent of the property which is valued at $200,000, he asid, the building being valued at $20,000.

The Sausalito City Council also:

CLAIM — Rejected a claim for $19,089 by Jack and Lee Polexfen for Mudslide damage to the Tides and GG's on Bridgeway last winter. The suit claims the city ordered vegetation cleared from land above the stores and this later allowed rains to set off the slides.

UTILITIES — Rebuffed a proposal that Pacific Gas and Electric Co. be allowed to put an above-ground transformer pole in a subdivision at Nevada Street and Kendall Court which has undergoound utilities. PG&E's Richard Conrad was asked to work out undergrounding plans with city officials.

VARIANCE — Approved a variance sought by Harriet Johns to build an exit deck at 18A Alexander Avenue.

USE PERMIT — Approved a conditional use premit sought by Fred DeCook to allow tandem Parking at a duplex to be built on Woodward Avenue.

LOT SPLIT — Approved a proposal by A. M. and F. W. Roumage to split a 27,070 square foot parcel at 520 Sausalito Boulevard in four lots.

DRUG BUREAU — Agreed to a revides draft of the city-county services committee for creation of a county-wide drug abuse bureau.

STORM WATER — Agreed to plans to make a smoke check through sewer lines to detect improper hookups from storm water drains, to combat wet-season overload on the sanitary sewer system. Effluent flow increases from 1.4 million gallons a day in summer to 2.2 million in wet months, according to the Sausalito-Marin City Sanitary District. The plant capacity is only 1.9 million gallons and the overflow forces bypassing of effluent in wet weather.

Teacher Contract Voting Is Rushed

NEW YORK (UPI)—Copies of a new school contract were rushed to distribution points today in preparation for a ratification vote that could get 50,000 teachers back to the classroom by tomorrow.

Sixty thousand copies of the agreement, printed last night on the presses of the Law Journal, were trucked to schools in each of New York's five boroughs to be distributed to strikeing teachers.

APPROVAL AWAITED

The executive board and the delegate assembly of the United Federation of Teachers (UFT) were meeting today to consider the pact agreed on yesterday by negotiators for the union and the School Board. The UFT membership is expected to vote on the contract at a meeting tomorrow morning.

The contract also must be formally approved by the nine members of the Board of Education.

UFT President Albert Shanker, who described the contract as "an excellent agreement-...fantastically good," predicted that it will be ratified at the membership meeting. If it is, the teachers could be back in the classroom by tomorrow afternoon, ending an 18-day strike.

SCHOOLS OPEN

Spokesmen for the board said the schools will be open today, Thursday and Friday, as they have through most of the strike, no matter how soon the teachers return.

One matter of unfinished business remains to be dealt with tomorrow — the city's petition for a criminal contempt citation against the UFT. Under a state law forbidding strikes by public employes, the UFT could be fined $10,000 a day for the period of the strike.

Shanker and two other UFT officials, Vice President George Altomare and Treasurer David Wittes, could be fined $250 each and jailed for 30 days under the law.

$135 MILLION

The new contract will give the teachers raises averaging $1,200 each over the next 26 months, increasing their wage scale to the $6,750-to-$11,150 range.

The agreement gives the union a $135.4 million wage-and-benefit package. School Superintendent Bernard E. Donovan said yesterday wage increases alone will cost $36 million in the first year.

Although details of the negotiations were not revealed, it was believed that the two final stumbling blocks to be overcome concerned the More Effective Schools (MES) program for disadvantaged children and the assignment ot teachers to administrative duties.

Influenza Vaccines Proving Their Worth

By SCIENCE SERVICE

GENEVA — Influenza vaccines now in use have "repeatedly led to a reduction of two thirds or more in the incidence of the disease," according to a panel of 20 international experts consulted by the World Health Organization.

Reports from around the world show that the vaccine is the most efficient method now available to prevent the infection.

But at a time when the "Asian" types that probably come from pigs in South China are so widespread, these doctors point out that the vaccine's continuing effectiveness depends on the strain of virus.

When an entirely new subtype starts circulating, they say, industry will choose for vaccine production a new strain that grows readily in eggs and has enough antigenicity in animals and man.

So the WHO advisors call for sustained surveys between epidemics. These would be analyses of blood from a random sample of persons to determine the level of immunity and to yield information on the behavior of viruses.

Six to eight months usually elapse between the decision to change vaccine composition and general distribution of a new vaccine.

But if a new subtype should appear, with the risk of a new pandemic, the U. N. medical agency consultants believe the interval can be cut to three or four months, but no less.

Still, except when a pandemic threatens, mass vaccination is not indicated, because the doctors find it is not worth the effort.

In inter-epidemic periods, however, they recommend the vaccine for patients with chronic and debilitating disease — notably cardiovascular, pulmonary, metabolic and renal — and those in nursing homes.

Vaccinations for them are suggested for two to three months before anticipated outbreaks.

Adds the WHO panel, "Vaccination may also be offered to doctors, nurses and others dealing with the sick, and to the staff of public utility services such as transport,

U.N. Listens To Canadian Truce Plan

UNITED NATIONS (UPI)—Canadian External Affairs Minister Paul Martin today called for cessation of the bombing of North Vietnam as a first step toward peace negotiations.

At the same time, Martin said in a policy speech to the General Assembly, the Demilitarized Zone (DMZ) between North and South Vietnam should be restored under effective international supervision.

Martin put before the assembly a four-point peace plan he first broached in Ottawa last April:

"As a first step toward disengagement, the bombing of the North might be terminated and the Demilitarized Zone restored to its intended status subject to effective international supervision."

"A freezing of the course of military events and capabilities in Vietnam at existing levels."

"The cessation of all hostilities between the parties, that is a cease-fire."

"Following the cease-fire, withdrawal of all outside forces whose presence in the area was not provided for at Geneva (in the 1954 and 1962 conferences) and the dismantling of military bases."

State Women's, Minors Wage Scales Raised

LOS ANGELES (AP)— When the federal minimum wage rises Feb. 1, 1968, from $1.40 to $1.60 per hour, women and minors in California will begin receiving $1.65 per hour, following a vote by the State Industrial Welfare Commission.

However, opponents of the plan predict that the increase will be challenged in court.

The commission voted for the measure 3-2 yesterday with the deciding vote cast by a woman. Mrs. Dorothy Colton broke a 2-2 tie after bitter exchanges between representatives of labor and management.

Opposing the increase were Theodore J. Todd and Norman Lezin, both employer members of the commission.

Lezin called the new wage "arbitrary and capricious" and both men warned that the increase would drive businesses out of California.

Hiring Policy Drafted For Bridge Directors

A policy guaranteeing fair employment practices was recommended yesterday by two committees of the Golden Gate Bridge and Highway District.

The policy wouod require all companies doing business with the district to abide by an equal opportunity clause in their contracts, and said the district would "seriously consider" establishing on-the-job training programs for minority group members.

The proposed policy, recommended by the employment and conciliation and rules and policy committees, will be considered by district direcotrs 10 a.m. Friday and Silverado Country Club, Napa.

The district promised the state Fair Employment Practices Commission 18 months ago it would adopt such a policy. The commission has been hearing discrimination charges against the district in the firing of two Negro painters.

The proposed policy says the district "will make a special effort to seek out qualified and qualifiable applicants" from minority groups, and consider hiring a "compliance officer" to see the policy is carried out.

Bridge officials also would investigate firms selling supplies to the district, unions which supply workers, and companies which have contracts for construction, repair and maintenance work.

Agency Studies Telephone Uses

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The State Department of General Services said today it is surveying the telephone systems in state offices with a view towards cutting costs.

The department said the survey would be concluded in December and would include systems on college campuses.

A spokesman said a major goal is to eliminate elaborate telephone systems whenever a simple one will do the job.

GOP Session Opposes Suits To Redistrict

Marin County Republican Central Committee last night urged the state Supreme Court to dismiss suits seeking reapportionment of the state's congressional districts.

"We don't want to be sliced in half," said Charles Michals, committee chairman. The suits would lump central and southern Marin voters in a San Francisco district.

The resolution said reapportionment should be delayed until after the next federal census in 1970. To reapportion now, on the basis of the 1960 census, "could actually increase the population disparities between districts," it stated.

The committee also approved purchase of $4,000 in equipment and supplies to improve and enlarge mailing lists, Michals reported.

Grand opening of the committee's new headquarters at 915 Lootens Place, San Rafael, was set for Oct. 20 at 7 p.m.

A state-wide GOP drive to swell party registration will be launched Oct. 22, Michals said.

Mrs. Elizabeth Rowen, Morton R. Colvin and Mrs. Howard C. Lee, all of San Rafael, and William Lehigh of Novato were elected to vacancies on the committee.

About 40 persons attended the meeting in the county courthouse, reported Michals.

Texas Barbers Learn To Remember Patrons

AMARILLO, Tex. (UPI)—The West Texas Barber College advertises something added with its barbering courses—a memory course.

Instructor James Watson said there is a good reason for it: A barber has to know how each customer wants his lock trimmed—and it helps to know each customer's name.

Lynda's Coats Not In His Car

GAITHERSBURG, Md. (AP) — George Hamilton, the handsome former boy friend of Lynda Bird Johnson, says he is embarrassed over police reports that coats found in his impounded Rolls Royce belonged to the President's daughter.

"Nothing in the car belonged to Miss Johnson," he said during an interview between rehearsals of musical "Funny Girl," in which he plays the husband of Fanny Brice.

"It had my clothes in it," he said.

Head Start Funds Shifted By Board

The Marin County Board of Supervisors gave a solid, $39,328 vote of approval yesterday to Head Start and pre-school programs for children, but wondered out loud about War on Poverty administration and some of its definitions.

The supervisors voted transfer of the money from the county's reserve to its contingency fund to help pay for the cost of a state pre-school program and for Head Start classes in Marin.

LOCAL CONTROL ASKED

They passed a general resolution along with the fund transfer stating that Head Start ought to be a more general program, not specifically a part of the War on Poverty, and declaring further that the War on Poverty would be a lot more efficient if the supervisors were given the federal money and the task of administering it.

To whom the philosphy was to be communicated was not made clear. Supervisors Chairman Thomas T. Storer commented, "The President's got to run for election next year, and he has got to do something."

Mrs. Stanley R. Frederick, who is active in Lagunitas school affairs and who has been involved in the San Geronimo Valley battle over the poverty war, said she objected to the spending of the county money on Head Start.

'NOT PROPERTY'

"Making Head Start part of the poverty program puts it in that terrible area," said Mrs. Frederick. "It shouldn't be part of it. The children are not the property of the state."

Supervisor Ernest N. Kettenhofen said he was inclined to go along with Mrs. Frederick on some of her philosophy, but not at the expense of the Head Start program.

'If any proverty program has a chance to do some good, it is the Head Start and pre-school," said Kettenhofen. "Even if it was only 40 or 50 per cent effective, it would still be worth the gamble."

BENEFITS CITED

Supervisor William A. Gnoss pointed out there is an indirect relationship between Head Start and the size of the county's welfare roll, because young mothers can put their children in Head Start or pre-school during the day and go out and earn some money.

Pre-school in Marin County is a state fund program and Head Start is war on poverty, but they are very similar in nature and have been combined. There are 245 youngsters in the combined pre-school and Head Start classes in this county.

CONSERVATION AID

The supervisors also voted $1,000 to help pay for a "conservation festival" which the Marin County Conservation Council will hold on Oct. 28.

The festival will feature a number of exhibits on earthquakes, regional government, recreation, conservation education and urban development.

Marin County Supervisors also:

AIRPORT DRAINAGE — Approved $6,000 for drainage improvements at the county airport. The inprovements will create 30 feet more of runway width, but do not provide for covering up the ditch to which there has been the objection that it is too close to the runway.

CONTRACT — Awarded the contract for re-roofing of the juvenile hall to Nor-Cal Roofing Co., which submitted the low bid of $3,225.

No Incorporation

ORINDA (AP)—Voters, by a 4,516 to 1,813 margin, rejected a proposal yesterday that this Contra Costa County area be incorporated as a city.

Fairfax Streets Chief Wins Fight

The Fairfax Board of Review, in a long-awaited decision, has upheld the appeal of demoted city employee Edgar Phillips.

Phillips, 52, was reduced by the city council in July from street superintendent to street maintenance man, with no pay cut, at the request of City Engineer Richard J. Nelson who said Phillips lacked administrative ability.

The board's ruling, without comment, was signed by chairman Frank L. Lawrence Sr. and dated Monday.

During testimony, Nelson and City Administrator David J. Sumbardo criticized Phillips' work. Nelson, who has resigned effective Friday, said the employee had painted curbs the wrong color for parking violations, neglected to paint some street and traffic signs and to repair three city trucks, and had used the wrong oil for air-cooled engines.

Phillips did not testify.

E. Warren McGuire, Phillips' attorney, said today his client automatically resumes his former job under the board's ruling.

Water Project Solution Offered

SACRAMENTO (AP) — New bonds as well as extra tidelands oil money have been proposed to meet a deficit in the massive State Water Project.

Assemblywoman Pauline L. Davis, D-Portola, told a State Water Commission special hearing yesterday that new financing is needed rather than additional money from tidelands oil and gas revenues, as many witnesses proposed.

The commission met to hear testimony on two published reports of deficits in the State Water Project, financed by a $1.75 billion bond issue in 1960.

Sausalitan Is Found Dead On Mount Tam

He had shot himself with a .22 caliber pistol, Asst. Coroner Eugene R. Fontaine reported.

Edwars, of 15 El Monte Lane, had been staying in San Francisco with a brother, William Edwards, after a trip to visit their parents in Santa Barbara. Monday, the brother found Charles missing, discovered a note indicating suicide, and filed a missing persons report.

Edwards apparently hiked up Mount Tamalpais to a spot known to him and a San Francisco friend, Sally Orr.

Miss Orr and Edwards' two brothers, William and Peter, went to the spot near Bolinas Ridge Road yesterday and found the body and nearby pistol at 6:30 p.m.

Fontaine said Edwards had undergone psychiatric treatment in Santa Barbara, where he lived before coming to Sausalito two years ago. Edwards was a student at San Francisco State College and a part-time tutor.

He is survived by his parents and his two brothers. Funeral is pending at Russell and Gooch Funeral Chapel, Mill Valley.

Rosalind Russell Due To Play Fashion Role

NEW YORK (AP) — Rosalind Russell will play the title role of Coco in a Broadway musical based on the life of the famous French couterier Gabrielle (Coco) Chanel.

The announcement yesterday said the Alan J. Lerner- Andre Previn musical is scheduled to open in the fall of 1968. Lerner said he wrote the libretto and lyrics with Miss Russell in mind for the lead.

Controversial Subversive Control Board Voted Cash

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Subversive Activities Control Board, termed by one senator a costly sinecure "for political cronies," apparently is going to remain in business for at least another year.

What that business will be is another question.

Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., said the board does not have any.

It has not held a hearing in some two years.

But the Senate Appropriations Committee announced yesterday it has approved a $295,000 budget for the five-member board during the year that ends next June 30.

SACB funds were approved by the committee as part of a $2.2 billion appropriation for the State, Commerce and Justice departments, the federal judiciary and other agencies.

The board has been under congressional fire for three months, since President Johnson named Simon F. McHugh Jr., who married a former White House secretary, to a $26,000-a-year membership.

That appointment focused attention on the panel and its inactivity. Its authority to force registration of people and organizations cited as Communist has been overruled by the courts.

Mental Group Selects Three New Directors

Three new directors have been elected to the board of the Marin Association for Mental Health, president Mrs. Larry B. Mishkind announced.

The new members, who will serve two and one-half year terms, are Mrs. Phoebe Sumner and Mrs. Eugene Richardson, both of Mill Valley, and Col. Wendell R. Wilkin of Corte Madera.

Mrs. Sumner is chairman of the Human Resources Committee of the Unitarian Church of Marin. Wilkin is chief of clinical psychological services at Letterman General Hospital in San Francisco.

Mrs. Richardson, who has served here and overseas in the military welfare branch of the American Red Cross, and Mrs. Sumner have been active association volunteers.

More than 15 million Model T Fords were sold between 1908 and 1927.

Donation Helps Purchase Bus

An anonymous donation to San Rafael Military Academy in San Rafael has made possible purchase of a new $20,000 bus to take athletic teams to competitions.

The school will take possession of the bus from Rossi Garage, Inc., San Rafael, at 8 a.m. Friday at the academy.

The 79 passenger bus replaces an old bus and will augment three station wagons now used to transport teams, said James Rhoades, history instructor at the academy.

Farm Bureau To Hear Marine Researchers

Dr. Edmund Smith, director of the Pacific Marine Station at Dillon Beach, will speak at the annual dinner of the Tomales-Novato center of the Marin County Farm Bureau at 8 p.m. Monday in the Tomales High School cafeteria.

The program includes introduction of new members and the faculty of the grammar and high school.

Ecological Study Report On Agenda

The Bolinas Harbor District board will hear an interim report on an ecological study of Bolinas Lagoon from Dr. Joel F. Gustafson of San Francisco State College when the board meets at 8 p.m. tomorrow at the Bolinas Community Center.

Dr. Gustafson, professor of biology, is conductiong the study of plant and animal life at the lagoon.

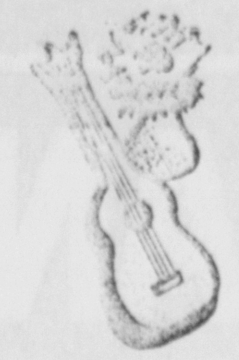
BUTTERFLY SHRIMP ALOHA NUI LOAH

UNUSUAL

Shrimp Prepared Aloha Nui Loah



There are butterfly shrimp and butterfly shrimp — as anyone who has ever patronized an Oriental restaurant can attest — but nothing like Butterfly Shrimp Aloha Nui Loah, and the unusual sauce with which it is served in Hawaii. This dish is not only prepared with much love, but served and eaten the same way.

BUTTERFLY SHRIMP ALOHA NUI LOAH
(Butterfly shrimp prepared with much love)
Serves a party of 10-12

- 2 pounds shrimp
- 1 tablespoon cornstarch
- ½ cup flour
- 1 teaspoon baking powder
- ½ teaspoon monosodium glutamate
- 2 tablespoons water
- 1 egg, well beaten
- 1 teaspoon salt

Combine all the ingredients, except the shrimp, into a batter. Split cleaned raw shrimp, with shells and veins removed, down their backs to within half an inch of their tails. Dip shrimp in the batter and drop into deep, hot fat. Cook until brown. Drain on paper towels, and serve at once with Apricot Sauce Honi.

APRICOT SAUCE HONI
(Apricot Kiss Sauce)
Makes about 1 pint

- ¼ pound dried apricots
- 1 cup water
- ¼ teaspoon salt
- ¼ cup sugar
- 1 cup Hawaiian rum
- ⅓ cup cider vinegar
- 2 tablespoons honey
- 1 teaspoon paprika

Cook the dried apricots in covered saucepan until soft, which usually takes about 30 minutes — when most of the water is absorbed. Pulverize the cooked apricots in an electric blender or food mill, add rest of ingredients and beat until smooth. This sauce will keep for months if properly refrigerated.

Fresh Pasta

To keep macaroni and spaghetti products fresh, store in a tightly closed glass jar containing a bay leaf.

Did You Say Baked Hawaii?

The 49th State has its Baked Alaska. This is the Hawaiian counterpart of Alaska's Epicurean dessert.

BAKED HAWAII
Serves 3-4

- 2 grapefruit
- Sugar
- ⅓ cup Hawaiian rum
- 3 egg whites
- Pinch of salt
- ⅜ cup confectioners sugar
- 1 pint vanilla ice cream

Cut the grapefruit in half and cut out the sections. Place them in a container, sprinkle with sugar, pour Hawaiian rum over the sections, cover and chill.

Remove membranes from grapefruit shells and set aside. This may be done in advance.

Combine the egg whites and salt and beat until a soft peak forms. Then slowly add ¼ cup confectioners sugar and continue to beat until the meringue is stiff. Meringue should be made just before baking.

To serve, refill the grapefruit shells with Hawaiian rum flavored sections of the fruit. Place a scoop of ice cream over the fruit and cover it with meringue. Make sure the meringue is spread over the edge of the grapefruit shells to seal in the ice cream. Dust the meringue with the remaining confectioners sugar and bake in a 450-degree oven until meringue is light brown. Serve immediately.

Leftover Lamb Makes Croquettes For Panfrying

- 2 cups ground cooked lamb
- ¼ cup butter or margarine
- ¼ cup flour
- 1 cup milk
- 1 teaspoon salt
- ⅛ teaspoon pepper
- ⅛ teaspoon marjoram
- ½ teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
- ½ cup grated carrot
- 2 teaspoons grated onion
- 1 egg, beaten
- ⅓ cup cornmeal
- ¼ cup lard or drippings

Melt butter or margarine and blend in flour. Add milk and cook, stirring constantly, until sauce is thick. Add lamb, salt, pepper, marjoram, Worcestershire sauce, grated carrot and onion. Mix well. Chill. Shape mixture into 8 oblong croquettes. Dip in beaten egg and roll in cornmeal. Brown slowly on all sides in melted lard or drippings. 4 servings.

LEGENDS

Concoctions Of Menehunes

Legend has it that before the arrival of the Hawaiians, the islands were peopled by little folk called menehune — counterparts of the pixies — who were only as tall as your legs. It is easy to believe they concocted this exotic and delicious dessert.

PINEAPPLE MENEHUNE
(Pineapple Pixie)
Serves 5-6

- 4 tablespoons brown sugar
- 4 tablespoons ground, toasted almonds
- Hawaiian rum
- 1 very ripe pineapple
- 3 egg yolks
- 12 tablespoons butter

Peel the pineapple and cut fruit into thin slices. Soak the slices 1 hour in ½ cup, or more if necessary, Hawaiian rum (residue liquid makes an excellent drink, served on the rocks).

Make a sauce by stirring the egg yolks with the butter in the top of a double boiler over simmering water. When the mixture is well blended, add the sugar and 4 tablespoons Hawaiian rum and continue to stir until the sauce begins to thicken and coat the spatula. Remove from heat.

Drain the pineapple slices and arrange them on a long serving platter. Pour the sauce on the pineapple and sprinkle with almonds. Chill in the refrigerator before serving.

This dish lifts ordinary vegetables from the mundane to the sublime. The method of preparation may be used for many other vegetables.

Green pepper	Turnips
Tomato	Onion

Slice the carrots, leaks, turnips and green peppers lengthwise and thin. Cauliflower and tomato should be diced small. Add enough onion to season to taste. Put enough vegetable oil in a frying pan to cover the bottom well and heat very hot. Add the vegetable ingredients and saute over a high flame until the vegetables are tender, but not overcooked (they should be crunchy, not soggy). Stir in two or three tablespoons of Hawaiian rum just before serving the dish hot.

A delicious main course may be made of this dish by adding fresh or frozen shrimp, shelled and deveined and cut in two lengthwise, to the vegetables before sauteing.

Only the Hawaiians, and Hawaiian rum, could make a fruit salad romantic.

SALAD PILI ALOHA
(Romantic Fruit Salad)
Serves 3

- 1 cup fresh pineapple
- 1 banana
- 1 naval orange
- ½ cup whole strawberries
- 1 apple
- ¼ melon
- 1 pear
- ¼ cup Hawaiian rum
- Grenadine to taste

Cut peeled pineapple into bite-size wedges. Peel and section the orange. Peel and cut melon, pear and apple into bite-size pieces. Slice the banana and combine the fruit and orange in a salad bowl. Garnish with the strawberries.

Combine the Hawaiian rum with small amount of grenadine syrup to taste and sprinkle the liquid over the salad. It is best to serve this dish within 20 or 30 minutes after preparation.

Pineapple Volcano Mixes Hawaiian Rum Into A Sauce

Pineapple Volcano is a spectacular dessert or hors d'oeuvre, which is easy to prepare and gives guests a sense of participation. It is particularly effective at a luau, barbecue or when dining outdoors, but may be served in the dining room.

PINEAPPLE VOLCANO
Serves 5-6

- 1 fresh pineapple
- ½ cup Hawaiian rum
- ½ cup simple syrup
- 1 can Sterno
- Skewers or fondue forks

Cut off the top of the pineapple about 5 to 6 inches from its base. With a sharp knife, remove the fruit without cutting into the rind. Cut the fruit into bite-size chunks and chill. Combine the simple syrup and Hawaiian rum into a sauce. To serve, place the can in the hollow pineapple and light. Spear pieces of pineapple, dip into the Hawaiian rum-sugar sauce and glaze over the flame in the pineapple shell.

NOTE: Simple syrup of the proper consistency for this dish may be made by adding just enough water to sugar to absorb the sugar, with a bit to spare, and heating the mixture until it melts into a rather thick syrup.

HINT: To select a ripe pineapple, pull a leaf from the top. If it comes out easily, the pineapple is ready to eat. The well developed fruit will have a comparatively small, compact leaf crown.

PINEAPPLE VOLCANO is a spectacular dessert or hors d' oeuvre which is particularly effective at a luau, barbecue or just for dining outdoors.

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

Woes Of The Natural Platinum Blonde Keep Her Life Exciting

DEAR HELEN:

I am a platinum blonde and it's natural. But no one believes me.

When I am introduced to a man, he gets that "Blonde — Hum-m-m-m-m—" look in his eye and I know I'll have a wrestling match on my hands.

I've had countless fellows apologize and tell me they got the wrong impression. Most say, "It's nothing you did — it's your hair." I'd change the color, but I look ghastly with a darker shade. On top of all this, people won't believe it's "real."

How does a platinum blonde convince people she's not an easy make and a poor marriage risk? I'm the type men love to date, but they won't take me home to mother. — DESPERATE BLONDE

DEAR DES.:

Platinum blondes turn propositions into proposals by proving they're as "real" as their hair color. It may take a little longer, but if you weren't enjoying every minute of your "ordeal," you'd buy a subdued wig and join the sidelines.— H.

DEAR HELEN:

My husband and I have relatives — dozens of them — living in Southern California. Each Christmas we go there and are miserable because of all the running around. My parents are divorced, which makes three households, plus off-shoots of each.

The grandparents all get to see our baby several other times during the year. Am I being selfish to wish we could spend just ONE Christmas at our own home, or maybe at a hideaway cabin in the snow? We would welcome any relative who cares to join us. I want to start our own Christmas traditions, and I dread going south and feeling like we are a pie that everyone wants his share of. — TORN

DEAR TORN:

Of course you aren't selfish to want Christmas in your own home. I'll bet at least half of your baby's grandparents are wondering when they will get a break from Christmas chores and be invited up to your house for the holiday. As parents reach middle-age, most of them quite happily turn tradition over to the young folks. You'll see. — H.

DEAR HELEN:

In the office where we work, one of the secretaries is of foreign extraction. We like her, but she continually talks about the chastity and purity of the girls of her nationality, implying that no American could ever be a good girl.

She also thinks that her people have exquisite taste in everything from clothes to furniture while Americans are oafs. Nothing, to her, is as good as they do it.

She even gets mad when the boss asks one of us to do some of her work while she's on vacation, as she feels no one can do it as well as she can. She always ends, "Girls from my country can't be beat for the way they work." The bosses seem to agree, as we're called on the carpet if we get fed up and snap at her.

Is there a tactful way to let her know how we feel about it all? —UGLY (?) AMERICANS

DEAR AMERICANS:

Why not make "God Bless America" your office anthem and start humming it each time the good neighbor policy wears thin? But use a little empathy too. People who feel inferior often do the most chestbeating — in an effort to convince themselves they aren't. — H.

DEAR HELEN:

I called in some neighbors we don't know very well to fill up our bridge club table. They did nothing but nag and bicker at each other all evening. They invited us for cocktails last week, and the party ended with them screaming at each other. Should we call them again? — They play a good game of bridge. — CONTRACT HAPPY

DEAR C.H.:

I'd call them the "strife of the party," and find a couple whose grand and little slams make other guests envious, but not edgy. — H.

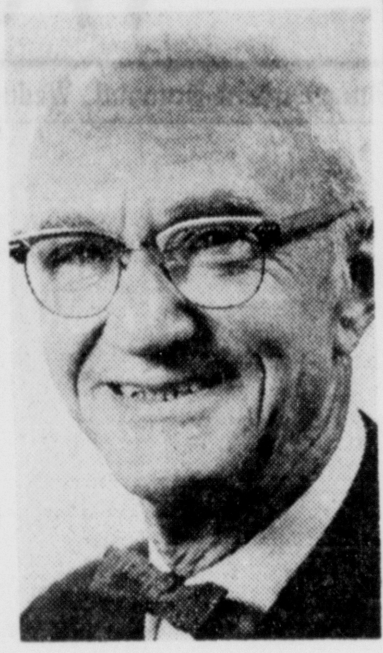
Charles Pedrick Of Fairfax Named Volunteer Of Month



CHARLES PEDRICK

Charles Pedrick of Fairfax has been named September Volunteer of the Month by the Volunteer Bureau of Marin for his work at Ross General Hospital.

Mr. Pedrick devotes one day a week to visiting with the patients on "the Terrace," the tuberculosis ward of the hospital. He spends time talking individually with most of the 35 patients, entertaining and diverting them from their own problems.

Additionally, Mr. Pedrick has put his talents to work to help with a new hospital project, "Art a la Carte." The hospital has a collection of donated paintings which is taken around the floors weekly so that the patients can select a picture for their rooms. Mr. Pedrick, whose hobby has been woodworking, makes all the frames for these paintings himself. He has framed between 65 and 70 pictures during his one year of work for the hospital and spends six to eight hours a week on this project.

Pedrick attributes his interest in working for the hospital to the experience of being a patient there himself a year ago; "I was so impressed with the good treatment I received at Ross General that as soon as I was able to I volunteered my services, to contribute in any way I could."

For Pedrick his volunteer work is a source of satisfaction as well as a fruitful way to use the extra hours that retirement from business provides. He and his wife, Laura, moved to Marin from New York five years ago when he retired from a 20 year career with American Cyanamid as a cost accountant.

WHATEVER HAPPENED TO TORCH SINGERS?

Tonight, coax him to take you to the Plate of Brasse, and let Gladys Palmer sing a few torch songs for the two of you. "Lover Man," say, or "Bewitched, Bothered and Bewildered." And listen together in the soft darkness.

Perhaps you'll hear echoes of Billie Holliday. (Gladys was her accompanist for two years.) Memories of Jimmie Lunceford and Fats Waller. The Savoy, and Mammy's Chicken Farm. Gladys was there, back when.

She's an ambassador from a time when lovers talked about carrying a torch, instead of keeping their cool. Old fashioned? Maybe, but isn't love?

Oh yes, stay for dinner if you like. Why spoil the mood? Every night but Sunday, Gladys is building tomorrow's memories. Could you use some?

San Francisco Film Fete's Bill Readied

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Richard Lester's controversial "How I Won the War," starring John Lennon and Michael Crawford will open the 11th annual San Francisco Film Festival.

Detailed plans for the festival were announced yesterday by executive director Claude Jarmon. Selection committee chairman Barnaby Conrad said he thought it was the best selection of films in the history of this oldest film festival in the United States.

Lester and Crawford will come from England for the black-tie opening Oct. 20 and the showing of their film, already a much-discussed anti-war work.

Two features will be shown each evening in addition to special afternoon programs, which include tributes to U.S. director Robert Aldrich, French husband and wife directors Jacques Remy and Agnes Varda, and Denmark's Bert Haanstra.

Here is the schedule of feature films so far announced.

Oct. 21—"Closely Watched Trains" from Czechoslovakia and "15 From Rome" from Italy, starring Vittorio Gassman and Ugo Tognazzi.

Oct. 22—"Cat and Mouse" from West Germany, featuring two sons of Willy Brandt, and "Elvira Madigan" from Sweden, starring Pia Dagenmark.

Oct. 23—"Once There Was a War" from Denmark and "Claude" from France. Victor Borge will serve as master of ceremonies.

Oct. 24—"Naked Hearts" from France and "Three Days and a Child" from Israel.

Oct. 25—"Romance for Bugle" from Czechoslovakia and "Le Depart," from Belgium—winner at the Berlin Festival.

Oct. 26—"I Even Met Happy Gypsies" from Yugoslavia and a film to be announced.

Oct. 27—"Private Right" from Greece and "Nyak" by India's Satyajit Ray.

Oct. 28—'L'aw of Survival" from France and "Sons and Mothers" from Russia, which is a story of Lenin's childhood.

Oct. 29—"The Barrier" from Poland and "Funnyman" by America's John Korty.

Drug Needle Case To Juvenile Court

Case of Dennis Max Bowen, 19, charged with having a hypodermic needle for using narcotics in his possession, was certified yesterday in Marin Municipal Court to Juvenile Court.

CONCERT DIRECTOR — Pianist-composer Gerry Olds of Stinson Beach will direct the program of music beginning at 3:30 p.m. Sunday at the Mount Tamalpais amphitheater.

Family Center Is Radio Topic

Proposed phasing-out of Marin County Family Rehabilitation Center will be discussed tomorrow on the KTIM discussion program "Marin Sounding Board" at 9 a.m.

Speakers will be Thomas T. Storer, chairman of the board of supervisors; Walter H. Busher, chief probation officer; John L. Rockwell, member of the Juvenile Justice Commission; and County Administrator Alan Bruce. Moderator will be Kitty Oppenheimer.

The panel will answer listeners' questions. The program will be rebroadcast at 9 p.m. tomorrow.

Runaway Truck Smashes Auto

A garbage truck ran away on a steep hill in Tiburon yesterday and crashed backwards into an empty parked car on Rock Hill Drive.

Antonio Zuniga Alvarez, 21, of Richmond, who drives a truck for the Mill Valley Refuse Service, told sheriff,'s Lt. William Johansen he turned around at the top of the hill by the Community Congregationsl Church at 10 a.m.

Then he got out to pick up a garbage can and the brake slipped, allowing the truck to roll back, demolishing the car, owned by Mrs. James C. Irwin, of 689 Hawthorne Terrace.

Mrs. Irwin was in the church attending a Red Cross training class at the time. The driver was not injured.

Teen Dance Set

The newly reorganized San Geronimo Valley Teen Club will hold a dance at the Woodacre Improvement Club Oct. 7 from 8 p.m. to midnight. Music will be provided by a rock 'n roll group, The Clockwork Orange.

Twins Take Driver's Seat In A. L. Pennant Race

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Just about everybody has a finger in the American League pennant pie, including Mother Nature, but Harmon Killebrew shoved his whole fist into it.

Killebrew walloped a pair of tape measure home runs yesterday helping Minnesota whip California 7-3. The victory moved the Twins one full game ahead of both Boston and Chicago. The Red Sox lost 6-3 to Cleveland and the White Sox bowed to the elements when postponed by rain.

The rainout left the Sox in second place, one percentage point ahead of Boston but Chicago must play a doubleheader tonight. Fourth-place Detroit, still alive, stayed 1½ games off the pace by whipping New York 1-0. Washington trimmed Baltimore 4-1 in yesterday's other A.L. game.

Killebrew hammered a 435-foot shot following Cesar Tovar's sixth inning single as the Twins busted loose for four runs, wiping out a 3-2 California lead.

An inning later, Killebrew's 43rd homer of the season went into orbit. Bob Allison also homered for Minnesota.

"I didn't know if the first one was going out," said Killebrew. "It was pretty high and it was hit to the longest part of the park."

Cal Ermer, Minnesota's rookie manager, was relieved by the victory. "I don't know if Harmon ever hit a more important homer for us than that first one he hit today. That was quite a shot."

Jim Kaat pitched a five-hitter and struck out 13 for his seventh victory this month. It ran his season's record to 16-13.

Boston, meanwhile, was victimized by light-hitting Chico Salmon, who drove in three runs with a homer and a double. Salmon started the Indians off by doubling home a run and then scoring another in the second inning. Four innings later, he lofted his second homer of the year with a man on base.

Chuck Hinton also homered and Luis Tiant went the distance for Cleveland despite Carl Yastrzemski's 43rd homer, which accounted for all three Red Sox runs.

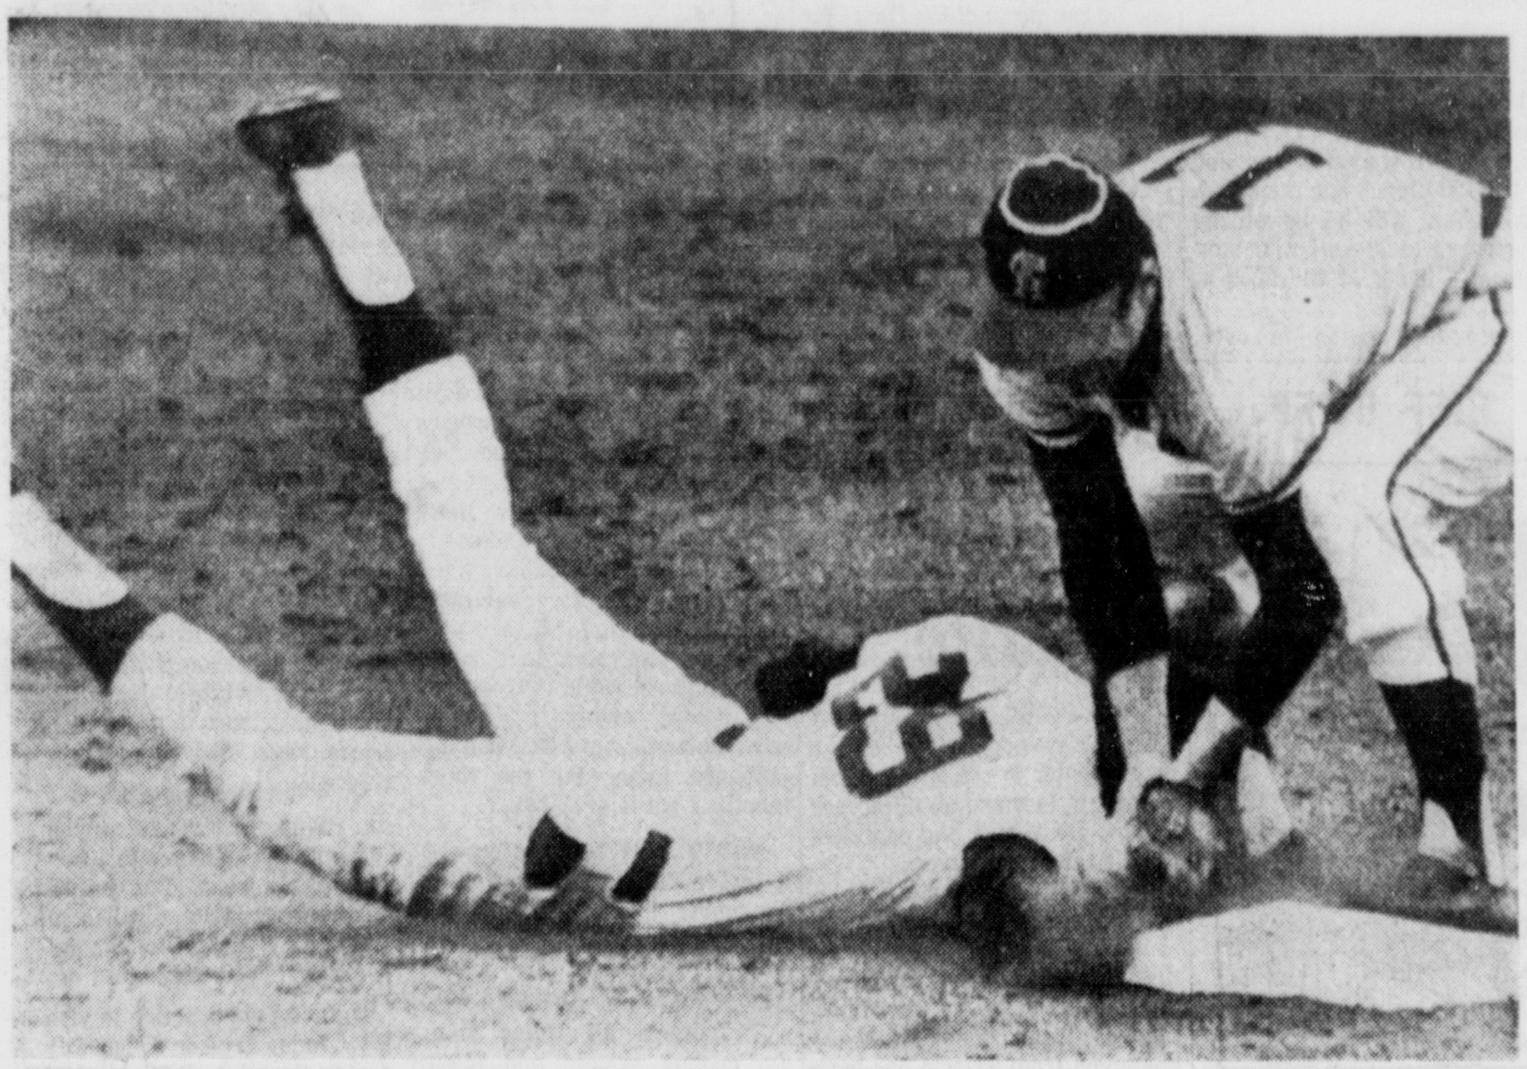
"It doesn't look good," admitted Boston Manager Dick Williams. "We've battled back before and we can battle back again, but now we need a little help from somebody else against Chicago."

The Red Sox trail both Minnesota and Chicago by one game in the loss column. They play the Twins the last two games of the season but can not make up the ground against the White Sox unless either Kansas City or Washington beats Chicago at least once.

Rain beat the White Sox yesterday, forcing them into a doubleheader at Kansas City tonight. No team likes to play two games in one day at this stage.

The White Sox will pitch Gary Peters, 16-9, and Joel Horlen, 19-0 against Chuck Dobson, 9-9, and Jim "Catfish" Hunter, 12-16, for the A's.

Detroit stayed alive on Mickey Lolich's four-hitter, against the Yankees. Ed Mathews' sixth inning sacrifice fly drove in the game's only run against loser Mel Stottlemyre, 14-15, who allowed only three hits.



HE'S SAFE — Minnesota's Rod Carew dived back safely into second base on attempted pickoff in second inning of yesterday's game against Los Angeles at Minneapolis-St. Paul. Angel pitcher Jim McGlothlin's throw to shortstop Jim Fregosi was too late and the Twins went on to score a 7-3 victory.

Giants Increase Their Lead In N.L. Runner-Up Derby To Three Games

The Giants' "Big Three" of Willie Mays, Willie McCovey and Jim Hart discovered that Phenomenon last night, driving in seven runs on four homers—two by Mays—to power San Francisco to an 8-3 rout of New York, increasing its second place lead to three games.

Winning pitcher Ray Sadecki, now 11-6, spotted the Mets two runs in the first inning before his slugging teammates took over to blast rookie pitchers Jerry Koosman and Billy Connors.

QUICK LEAD

McCovey's smash—a 450-foot drive over the right field screen—followed singles by Tito Fuentes and Jim Davenport, giving the Giants a 3-2 lead before Koosman recorded an out in the bottom of the first.

After Mays and Hart went out, Ollie Brown walked and went to second on Koosman's balk. Jack Hiatt's single made it 4-2, and the long ball show by Mays and Hart that followed merely iced the win.

The 36-year-old Mays crashed a solo home run to open the third inning, then followed with a two-run blast in the seventh. The home runs gave the aging slugger 21 for the season.

Hart hammered his 29th homer of the season in the seventh, tying McCovey for the club lead. Both were hit off Connors. For Mays, it marked the 14th consecutive season he's hit more than 20 homers.

EXTENDS MARK

The Giants' center-fielder also extended his National League record by slamming two home runs in a game for the 56th time. Babe Ruth holds the major league mark with 72 double homer performances. Ruth also topped runner-up Mays in career Homers, 714 to 536.

Singles by Amos Otis, Bob Heise and Ron Swoboda, coupled with Mays' error and Bob Johnson's sacrifice fly, accounted for the Mets' first-inning runs. With two out in the fifth, Bud Harrelson singled and pinch hitter Cleon Jones doubled for the final New York run.

"The team is playing great ball (17-5 in September), and I just wish it were June," said Sadecki.

The Giants, who are 12-5 against the Mets, concluded the season series with New York this afternoon before playing host to Philadelphia for the final five games of the season.

49er Players Now Get That 'Caged In' Feeling

SCREEN TEST — Oh give me land, lots of land, under starry skies above, don't fence me in . . .

Kezar public address announcer Dave Scofield asked last Sunday's crowd to ". . . please use the normal exits after the game."

As I wasn't planning to pole vault out of the huge bowl, I found Scofield's request rather curious until I noticed something new about Mary Kezar's playpen — a seven-foot high wire fence separating the playing field from the grandstand.

The barrier was erected because 49er fans have been known to storm down onto the field after games, at times creating considerable mayhem. It's been going on for years.

I remember the day one character took a poke at Chicago's aged coach, George Halas, and as recently as a month ago some irate fans pelted game officials with debris, including their fists.

No More Lumps On Heads

In addition to the new fence, a wire canopy has been erected over the tunnel through which game participants enter and leave the playing field. This is to protect officials and controversial players like 49er quarterback John Brodie from falling missiles, like whiskey bottles. ("We can still pour beer on those bums," I heard one guy growl.)

Anyway, I'm baffled by the City of San Francisco's sudden interest in crowd control after the 49ers have lived in Kezar, somewhat dangerously, for more than 21 years.

The team will move to Candlestick Park next season, leaving Kezar with a rather useless $2,600 fence.

Oh well, better late than never. And besides, now maybe Brodie will throw more screen passes, against the fence.

Rundown On Marin Ex-Preps

Tackle Doug Barker and end Stan Pareto, both formerly of Terra Linda High, are varsity candidates at University of California at Santa Barbara.

End Larry Stein, who figured to win a varsity berth at Stanford this season, has quit football.

BOXING NOTE — San Francisco promoter Mario Spampinato will present tomorrow night's Nino Benvenuti-Emile Griffith 15-round world middleweight title fight on closed circuit, color television at Kezar Pavilion starting at 7 o'clock. Ducats are scaled at $6 and $5.

POWEE — Keith Fraser of San Anselmo, the elongated Marin softball star personally met 49er end Dave Parks at Kezar Sunday. Keith can still feel it.

Standing on the sidelines, Fraser was knocked almost back into the grandstand by Parks on a sideline pass play. The 49er statistician gave Keith an assist on the tackle.

Pacific-8 Teams Prep For Battles

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

UCLA, Southern California and Oregon State place their unbeaten records on the line as Pacific-8 Conference football teams head into the third week of the fall campaign.

Southern California journeys to East Lansing to play Michigan State in one of the more significant encounters, while Oregon State is at Iowa against another Big Ten opponent.

The UCLA Bruins have it easier, meeting Washington State at Spokane. It's the only conference game of the week.

California's Golden Bears, their hides thoroughly switched by Notre Dame last week, host Michigan while Washington rounds out the current intersectional schedule, playing the Air Force at Colorado Springs.

STANFORD

Stanford entertains San Jose State, and independent University of the Pacific plays at West Texas State Saturday night.

UCLA has a sweep opportunity to go ahead of the conference class and its star quarterback, Gary Beban, an opportunity to widen his scoring lead.

Beban has scored four touchdowns in the Bruins' wins over Tennessee and Pittsburgh and his total yards rushing and passing also are in the top three at 263.

Olson's task may be the harder against a Utah team which almost beat Minnesota, only to lose in the final minutes, 13-12.

Southern California, which got by a strong Texas team last week, tries to contain Michigan State. The Spartans reportedly are injury-plagued after losing to Houston, 37-7, but they have a reputation of coming back from disaster.

Michigan Led In Attendance

NEW YORK (UPI) — The state of Michigan led the nation in football attendance last Saturday with 155,325 fans, the National Collegiate Athletic Association (NCAA) said yesterday.

The Michigan-Duke game was attended by 79,495 fans and 75,833 attended Houston's upset of Michigan State.

College football, which has established attendance records for the last 13 seasons, is off to another record-breaking season with 641,777 attending the 10-most crowded stadiums last Saturday. It was the largest turnout so early in the season.

PAUL BROWN TO COACH

Cincinnati Will Be In AFL

CINCINNATI (AP) — Cincinnati officially has its American Football League franchise effective in 1968 and Paul Brown plans to return to coaching — at least for a year.

The details were completed yesterday when Brown and his associates signed an agreement with the American Football League to locate a franchise here with Brown having the control "vested in me."

It was reported to be a $7.5 million deal.

It will be a re-play for both Cincinnati and Brown.

Cincinnati had a professional football team many years ago but it wound up as a dud.

Brown first achieved fame as the coach of mighty teams turned out by Massillan High School. Then he went to Ohio State and was equally successful. After a hitch with the Navy, as a coach, he turned to the pros — again with the typical Brown success.

He was ousted, however, as coach of the Cleveland Browns in 1963 and since has been sitting on the sidelines at his home in California.

In saying he would coach the Cincinnati team at least for the first year, Brown said, "I want to take the lumps that go with it."

He said he is a "part owner and control is vested in me."

Gov. James A. Rhodes, who sparked the drive for a team here; Brown; his associates and city officials sat in last night at a packed news conference at which Milt Woodard, president of the AFL, announced officially the franchise would be given to Cincinnati and to Brown.

At least two other Cincinnati groups had been bidding for the franchise.

The AFL previously had indicated Brown and his group would get the franchise but he had objected to some of the terms.

As it turned out, it was just about what the league originally had prescribed.

Cincinnati's team will get none of the television revenue for the first two years and then will share equally with all other clubs.

In the draft from other clubs to stock the first Cincinnati team, all clubs in the AFL, except the new Miami team, can freeze 29 players and Cincinnati can draft one. Then the other clubs can freeze two more and Cincinnati can draft two. The last stage will have the other clubs freezing one more and Cincinnati drafting one.

In addition, Cincinnati will have the sixth college draft choice for all clubs except Miami.

Charley Shipes of Hayward, recognized in California as the world welterweight champion, limbers up for his 15-round title bout with Curtis Cokes of Dallas next Monday at Oakland Coliseum Arena. Cokes is the World Boxing Association titlist so the result of this long-awaited bout should determine the real champion. Unless, of course, it's a draw.

49ers' Fearless Freshman

JACK HANLEY

Most Exciting Return Artist Since Woodson

Doug Cunningham is the most exciting performer on kickoff and punt returns the 49ers have had since Abe Woodson. Cunningham doesn't have the great speed Woodson had. And he doesn't run with the long hurdling strides of Woodson. He runs with the chopping strides of a sprinter.

And how the 21-year-old-rookie, No. 6 draft choice of the 49ers can sprint! He was sensational in his first NFL game a couple of Sundays ago at Minneapolis, returning one punt 57 yards. He was so good, in fact, that Jack Christiansen put him in the backfield and he ran 64 yards for a touchdown.

Last Sunday in his second league game, Cunningham returned a punt 28 yards to midfield and a kickoff 32 yards to the same area. Both returns put the 49ers in business for subsequent touchdowns.

PAPPY WALDORF liked Cunningham the first time he saw him on the campus of Ole Miss. The super-scout of the 49ers admired Cunningham's natural talents but more importantly pegged the young man as a fellow who would love pro football as much as he did the college stuff.

Some college heroes — not many but a few — have discovered that the pro brand of football is a trifle too violent for their taste. "You can't cut 'em open like an apple," is one of Waldorf's favorite expressions, one that never will be applied to Cunningham.

CUNNINGHAM RUNS fearlessly and instinctively makes the second and third efforts for a breakaway. When this 1967 NFL season is over and the final statistics are compiled, Cunningham will be up among the leaders of kickoff and punt returns — if not at the head of the list.

Before the season is over, Cunningham may well go all the way to a TD with a kickoff or punt. But it's doubtful he will ever tie Woodson's record of three TDs with kickoffs in 1963. In the 48-year history of the NFL the only other man to run back three for touchdowns in one season was Vitamin Smith who did it in 1950.

WOODSON STARTED the 1963 season with a 103 yard touchdown run on the inaugural kickoff. But it wasn't Woodson's biggest thrill. And neither was one he ran through the Rams for 105 yards in 1962.

"The thriller for me," said Woodson, "was that 99 yarder against the Giants in Yankee Stadium in 1963. Why? Well, if you remember that game they wouldn't put the ball in the air to me all day. They kept kicking little squibblers. Finally, they did kick one in the air and I went all the way.

Few Upsets In Berkeley Net Action

BERKELEY (UPI) — Few upsets had been recorded moving into today's play of the 78th Pacific Coast International Tennis championships at Berkeley.

The nearest thing to a form reverals yesterday found unseeded Julie Heldman of New York disposing of eighth ranked woman Cecilia Martinez of San Francisco 6-2, 6-2.

But top-ranked Billie Jean King roared past Denise Carter of Sacramento, 6-3, 6-3. Top-rated U.S. netman Charles Pasarell downed Bruce Kellock of Berkeley 6-2, 6-2, and top-rated foregin player Jan Leschly of Denmark, beat Gene Cantin in a tough 7-5, 6-3 match.

Other winners included Francoise Durr of France, Rosemary Casals of San Francisco, and Australia's Judy Tegart, rated two, three, and four among the girls. And men winners included Cliff Ritchey, second ranked U.S. participant, and Bob Hewitt of South Africa, second among foreign seeds.

Benvenuti Is Slight Favorite

NEW YORK (AP) — Emile Griffith's record shows he is a tough fighter in return bouts but it appears to make no difference to Nino Benvenuti, the confident middleweight champion.

Out in Reno, Nev., where betting is legal, the 29-year-old champion from Trieste has been made the 7-5 favorite to retain his title in the 15-round return scrap at Shea Stadium tomorrow night.

WAS UNDERDOG

Benvenuti was a 13-5 underdog last April 17 when he dethroned the muscular New Yorker on a decisive 15-round decision at Madison Square Garden.

In New York, illegal bookies still made it even money—10-11 and take your pick—but the first sizeable bet could change the odds. Most bets usually are made after the weigh-in the day of the fight.

The last four times Griffith met an opponent twice, he won all four times. He was beaten in previous fights with Benny Paret, Luis Rodriguez and Manny Gonzalez, and whipped them in returns for the welterweight title.

"STUPID FIGHT"

"I fought a stupid fight against Benvenuti," said Griffith before breaking camp at Kiamesha Lake, N.Y., today. "I don't intend to make the same mistakes again. I didn't punch enough and I didn't go to his body enough. I'm going to press him and keep the pressure on him."

"I know what he can do," said Benvenuti, "and I know what I can do. I can do it better."

Benvenuti also was scheduled to leave his camp at Haines Falls, N.Y. today.

Both have finished training and will sleep in New York tonight.

Proper Servicing Now Saves Spring Problems

A marina operator I know deplores the fact that more and more outboarders seem to be determined to be do-it-yourselfers when it comes to end-of-season servicing for their boats.

It's not that he doesn't have all the business he can handle anyway; it's just that some of the work is done so poorly that it causes trouble in the spring. Then he's called upon to rectify things at a time when he has far more business than he can handle.

So, to avoid trouble when everybody wants something done during those first warm days next year, whatever you do this fall, do it right.

A reader writes: I want to save money, can I service my outboard motor for the three months I put it in storage?

NOW THERE'S no reason why a motor that's running well in November this year won't run just as well in April next year if a few precautions are taken. Here's the least you should do:

1. Remove all water from the cooling system and make sure the entire engine is dry . . . really dry.

2. Drain all fuel and lubricants.

3. Coat all parts that may rust or corrode with a light film of oil.

4. Put a few drops of lubricating oil in each cylinder and crank engine by hand a couple of times.

5. Store in a dry, well-ventilated place.

6. If the motor has a battery, store it with the motor and charge it once a month during the lay-up period.

That there are many other problems concerning off-season storage is evident from these questions I've been asked recently:

Q. What's the most important thing to watch about the storing of a fiberglass boat?

A. I'd say it's the support. Make sure it is well supported throughout the entire length of the keel, otherwise it will lose shape and perform poorly next year.

Q. I've heard plastic boats fade during the winter. Is this so?

A. Only if they are left outside in the direct sunlight. The sun's rays cause chemical changes in the pigments. Keep 'em covered.

Q. What should I do with the lifejackets during the winter months?

A. Keep them in a dry basement or closet at home. This goes for other fabric things, too, like convertible tops, cockpit covers, rugs, cushions, etc.

Q. What about rope?

A. Synthetic ropes (nylon, dacron, polyethylene, etc.) don't need much care. But natural fiber ropes, manila, sisal, hemp should be treated like the fabrics and kept at home . . . dry.

Q. Is it good practice to visit my 27-foot cruiser frequently during the winter? It's parked in a big yard with 67 others.

A. After January 1, I'd visit it every nice clear weekend and open up the covers to let in some air. Ventilation is very important to prevent mildew and rot.

Q. The deck hardware I have is plastic covered stuff that was briefly popular a few years ago. The plastic is peeling off. What to do?

A. Go back to the old tried and true materials — plated brass or bronze or stainless steel.

Q. Will it hurt my 12-foot fishing skiff to stand it up in our vacation cottage all winter?

A. No. Stand it up flat on its transon with the keel against a wall. This is a good idea for summer cottagers who have enough height inside their cottages.

Q. My wooden boat is to be left outside and covered with a big tarpaulin. I'm told this is not good. Is it?

A. The only danger is that the tarpaulin may hold water and keep the wood moist wherever it touches the boat. This will start paint peeling and even rot. Build a rough frame to keep the tarp off the boat and the idea's good.

Novato And Marin Catholic Aces Lead Grid Statistics

Dillon, Finnegan Set Early Pace As Top Gainers

A baseball pitcher, an independent runner, and a most stingy team are showing up strongly in Marin County Athletic League statistics after two weeks of practice game play.

Russ Dillon, the boy who set the Babe Ruth circles on its ears with his baseball chucking, is doing the same thing in MCAL rounds with his passing finesse.

The Novato High School junior has completed 21 of 32 passes for 255 yards and 5 touchdowns to account for all of the Hornets' scoring in their two practice game victories. That's a 65 per cent clip in the accuracy department, and it leads the MCAL quarterback list.

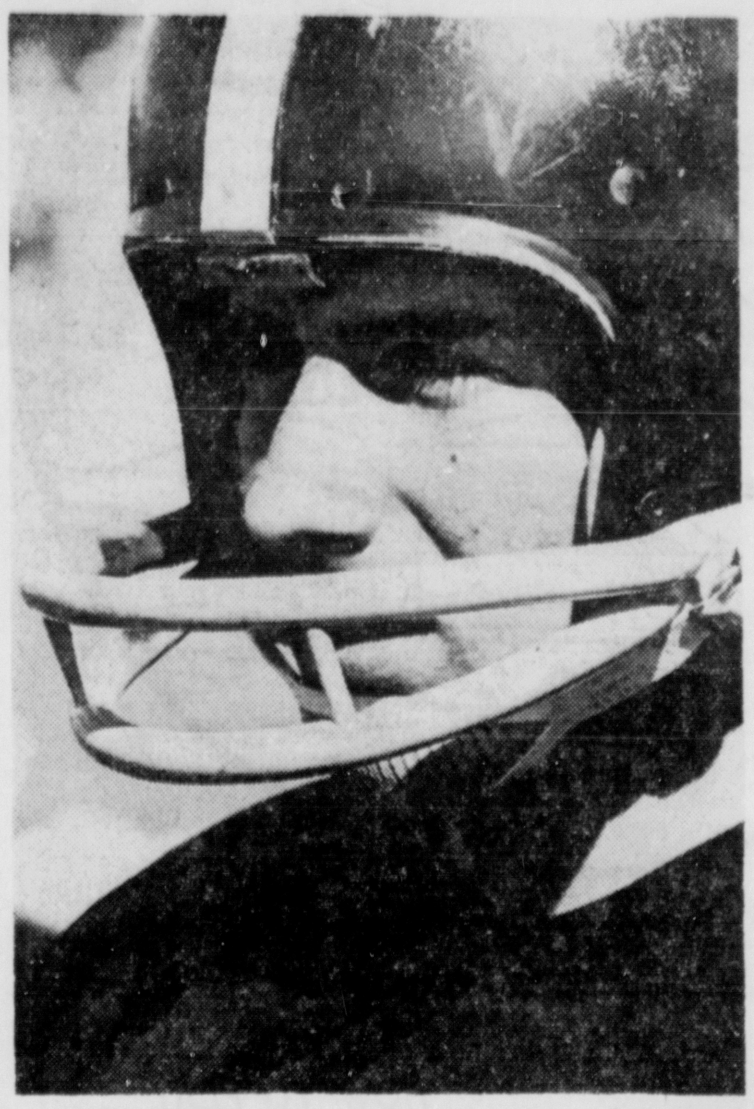
Don Mackin of Tamalpais is the only other signal caller with a better than 50 per cent completion figures by hitting on 16 of 29 passes for 55 per cent.



PASSING FANCY—Novato High's Russ Dillon, who gained fame during the summer in pitching Novato-Hamilton to the Pacific Southwest Regional Babe Ruth Baseball League championships, is in the headlines again—this time as a football thrower. He leads Marin County passers after two games. (Independent-Journal photo)

ONE-MAN SHOW

Jim Finnegan, Marin Catholic's one-man show, leads Marin County rushers with 230 yards in a pair of games, even though the Wildcats are no longer in the MCAL, playing an independent schedule.

Best MCAL rusher yardage-wise is Terra Linda's Keith Stirling with 163 yard in 29 carries. But Redwood's speed demon Larry Blackwell has the best average per carry with an 8.4 clip every time he touches the ball.

San Rafael is a sturdy last in the team offense statistics but the defense has tacked up an amazing performance, leading the league by a big margin.

The Bulldogs have allowed only 89 yards rushing (45.4 per game) and a stingy 19 yards passing (9.5 per game) for a total of 108 yards in two games.

KTIM Increases Sports Coverage

It will be double the good word for Marin County Athletic League football throughout the league season.

Beginning with this week's Drake-Novato game at Novato, KTIM sportscaster Verle Sorgen and Bob Dinsmore will be broadcasting an MCAL "Game of the Week" throughout the remainder of the high school grid season.

The format will continue through the prep basketball season. The increased schedule, almost double that of last year, is the result of increased sponsorship of the KTIM Sportsman Club by Marin business leaders.

Depth In Backfield Sparks 49er Attack

NEW YORK (AP) — A net gain of 180 yards rushing in their 38-7 victory over Atlanta has helped the San Francisco 49ers take first place in total offense in the National Football League, the weekly statistics disclosed yesterday.

The 49ers have averaged 210 yards rushing and 228.5 yards passing for an over-all average of 438.5 yards. They have played two games.

Baltimore, the leader a week ago, dropped to second place with a 426.5 average followed by Dallas with 392.0 and Washington, 378.5.

UP FROM SIXTH

The 49ers placed sixth in the league in rushing last season. However, this year fullbacks Ken Willard and Gary Lewis have gained a combined 193 yards while halfbacks John David Crow and Doug Cunningham, a rookie, have gained 205 yards between them.

"We have confidence in all our backs," said Jack Christiansen, the 49ers' coach, "and the depth enables us to send in fresh, competent men in key situations."

EL PASO, Tex. (AP) — Maryland will play the University of Texas at El Paso and Southern Illinois will meet University of San Francisco in the first round of the Sun Carnival Holiday Basketball Tournament Dec. 21.

Tam Offense Faces Test In Monterey

Although the Marin County Athletic League grid race kicks off in high fashion Saturday, there will be a couple of teams that will feel like the lone stranger.

While Terra Linda, Redwood, Drake and Novato get themselves embroiled in league welfare, Tamalpais and San Rafael continue on the practice game trail.

Coach Willie Hector's Tam Indians, who rediscovered their offense in a 27-6 rout of Salesian last week, try to see if it was real when they make a long trip to Monterey High School for a Friday night, 8 o'clock appointment.

Coach Bob Muster's San Rafael Bulldogs once again will try to find out if they have an offense at all when they host Mission of San Francisco at San Rafael in another Friday night 8 o'clock encounter.

Hector doesn't know anything about Monterey but he knows his Indians have found their touch again.

REALLY MOVING

"Our defense was really moving," he said, "Mackin (Don) was throwing to all three receivers and the backs too and our running was strong. We've got good balance now."

Muster is mainly concerned about the Bulldogs' offense. His defensive unit has been the best of MCAL teams, allowing no scoring (the one touchdown against San Rafael came against the offense on an intercepted pass). But the Bulldogs have not scored off an offensive drive as their one TD was made by the defensive unit on a fumble recovery. San Rafael lost to Canyon 6-0 and beat Montgomery by the same score.

EXPLOSIVE CLUB

"Mission has a pretty explosive ballclub," he said. "They like to put the ball in the air so our secondary will get some work. But we've intercepted more passes than have been completed against us so far."

Muster thinks the Bulldogs are due for some scoring.

"We have the personnel and the capability to score," he said. "I still have a lot of faith in the offense." Muster also will have quarterback Herb Rowland put things in the air more than the Bulldogs have so far.

LOOSEN THINGS

"We expect to pass at least 15 times," he said. "I think we'll loosen things up a little."

In other games, Marin Catholic, minus one starting quarterback, goes against Analy at Kentfield Friday at 8 p.m.; winless San Rafael Military Academy is at Terra Linda Friday afternoon at 3:30 and undefeated Tomales hosts Piner, 3:30.

The Wildcats are without quarterback John Crawford who suffered a broken finger during practice last week. They'll be looking to generate an offense that is centered mainly around halfback Jim Finnegan, an all-MCAL choice last year when the Wildcats were members of the football league.

USC Only One-Point Pick

NEW YORK (UPI)—Michigan State, humbled last week by Houston, still hasn't lost its respect in the eyes of college football oddsmakers

Despite the shocking 37-7 defeat administered by the Cougars, Michigan State was rated only a one-point underdog for Saturday's clash with third-ranked Southern California in what figures to be the closest game involving a team in the top 10.

Southern 'Cal defeated Texas 17-13 last week for its second victory while the Spartans have yet to win. The game will be played at Spartan Stadium in East Lansing, Mich., site of Houston's stunning upset.

Notre Dame, top-ranked after flogging California in its first game, was made a 13-point favorite over Purdue at Lafayette, Ind. The Boilermakers defeated Texas A&M last week.

Second-ranked UCLA was ruled a 21-point favorite over twice-beaten Washington State and fourth-ranked Houston was a prohibitive 30-point choice over Wake Forest in a Friday night game. In another key Friday night contest, Miami of Florida was favored by 10 points over Penn State.

Fifth-ranked Georgia was rated eight points better than Clemson, sixth-ranked Nebraska was a 10-point pick over Minnesota and 10th-ranked Missouri was favored by five over Northwestern, which upset Miami last week.

In other major games, Texas was favored by 11 points over Texas Tech, Rice was a one-point choice over Navy, Florida was 13 over Mississippi State, Michigan seven over California, Oklahoma 14 over Maryland, Florida State 11 over North Carolina State, LSU three over Texas A&M, Syracuse 12 over West Virginia, Tennessee 10 over Auburn, Georgia Tech seven over South Carolina, Mississippi 10 over Kentucky, Iowa one over Oregon State, Indiana six over Kansas, Holy Cross three over Yale, Virginia Tech 10 over Kansas State, Washington seven over Air Force and Vanderbilt nine over William and Mary.

Two professional games — Los Angeles Rams at Dallas and the Buffalo Bills hosting the San Diego Chargers — were rated tossups.

Green Bay was favored by 20 over Atlanta, Washington was 10 over the New York Giants, Baltimore nine over San Francisco, Detroit six over St. Louis, Chicago six over Minnesota, Cleveland seven over New Orleans, New York Jets 17 over Miami, Houston eight over Denver and Kansas City six over Oakland.

HOW TO PLAY WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

Avoid The Guessing Game By Early Raise For A Game Bid

According to old-fashioned books you need solid values to raise partner's suit after an opponent has made an intervening bid. Partner has another chance to speak even if you pass, but guesswork then takes the place of skill.

BACK BID

Today's practical players agree with North's raise to two hearts over the intervening bid of two diamonds. North has only five points in high cards and one point for the doubleton, but his immediate raise guarantees nothing more.

South has no problem; he jumps right to game. If he had a weaker hand he could pass at two hearts or make some invitational bid.

CAN'T AFFORD

If North passes over two diamonds South will bid three clubs. North cannot afford to jump to four hearts, but when he bids only three hearts he may have a completely worthless hand. South must guess whether to bid or pass.

If South guesses right in such situations he is wasting his time playing bridge; he should make his fortune in a gambling casino.

SIMPLEST WAY

South's simplest play for four hearts is to take two high trumps and then overtake the king of spades with dummy's ace. He returns the jack of spades from dummy, discarding a diamond when East plays low.

West takes the queen of spades and must cash the ace of diamonds at once since otherwise South would throw his other diamonds on dummy's good spades. West continues with the queen of diamonds to South's king.

THEN A CLUB

South leads the low heart of dummy's ten, discards two clubs on dummy's good spades and then leads a club. When East plays low South should finesse with the jack of clubs, playing West for the ace of clubs because of his vulnerable overcall of two diamonds. The finesse works, and South is home.

DAILY QUESTION

Partner opens with one club, and the next player bids one diamond.

You hold:
♠ A J 10 9
♥ 10 4 3 2
♦ 8 3
♣ 6 4 3

What do you say?

ANSWER: Pass.

The hand is worth a free raise if partner has opened with one heart or one spade, but it is not worth a free bid if partner has opened with a suit that you cannot support.

ALMANAC

Today is Wednesday, Sept. 27, the 270th day of 1967 with 95 to follow.

The moon is between its last quarter and new phase. The morning stars are Venus, Jupiter and Saturn. The evening stars are Mars and Saturn.

Born on this day in 1722 was American patriot Samuel Adams.

On this day in history:

In 1939, after 19 days of resisting heavy aid raids and artillery bombardment, the heroic defenders of Warsaw surrendered to the Nazis.

In 1940, Germany, Italy and Japan formed the World War II axis.

In 1962, Syria broke away the United Arab Republic in a revolt led by army officers.

A thought for the day — American cartoonist William Mauldin once said: "Look into an infantryman's eyes and you will tell how much war he has seen."

Never Buy Stocks With A Time Limit

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. "I am 29 and recently married. We bought Litton at 107 and Avon at -06. We also hold Tally Corp. Our objective is growth over the next 18 months, but we have been concerned about a recent decline in Litton. Should we hold onto this issue in view of our objective?" —J.H.

A. When you speak of growth in 18 months, I assume that you mean price appreciation. It is always risky business to buy stocks for gain with a time limit, since all stocks fluctuate and the decline in Litton is a case in point. If you have to sell within a relatively short period, you should not hold stocks at all. I am not concerned about the dip in Litton, which seems to be a temporary, moderate retracement of a large rise, and is closely in line with the behavior of other issues of its type. No one can predict with accuracy the level of growth stocks 18 months ahead. On any further market strength, I would sell my shares and put the proceeds into savings accounts where your capital will be safe from fluctuation.

Q. "I am 60, employed but facing retirement. I have an annuity plus Social Security and $5,000 in savings. My children would like me to make a down payment on a duplex home in a community where they live. They would give me financial assistance, if necessary, and help with maintenance. Should I do this or invest the $5,000 and rent a home for the balance of my days?" —D.R.

A. Home ownership is becoming increasingly difficult for elderly people. Maintenance is much more costly and time consuming than your children appear to realize, willing though they undoubtedly are. Your cash reserves are limited and would be substantially reduced by the purchase of a duplex house. In your circumstances, I suggest that you rent an apartment near your children and maintain your savings account as it is.

Averages Slip Near End Of Stock Day

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market closed on an inconclusive note in fairly active trading today.

Advances and declines among individual stocks were virtually even but the averages slipped to their lowest levels of the day near the close.

The advance-decline ratio among individual stocks remained almost even, as it had during most of the session.

The Dow Jones average was down about 2 points, a little improvement over the level during the morning.

Profit taking has been chipping away at prices since Monday, when the market reached a new 1967 high as measured by the Dow Jones average of 30 industrials.

The market was further weakened by Wall Street rumors that the Federal Reserve Board might boost the margin rate at which investors must put up cash to buy stocks. The present rate is 70 per cent.

Rails and oils were mostly lower. Nonferrous metals and chemicals were generally higher.

Amphenol, up 2 points, appeared headed for the top of the day's most-active list.

The Novato Photo, formerly at the corner of Industrial Way and Second Street, Novato, has moved to new and larger quarters at 806 Grant Avenue, Novato, according to owner James Stewart.

For the past year and a half, Stewart has operated his photo business at the Industrial Way location. It has grown until he needed larger quarters, and moved into half of the building formerly occupied by the Novato Branch of the Marin County Library.

All types of photography including passports, portraits, weddings and industrial photography are featured by Stewart.

New Steelmaking Process Revealed

WASHINGTON (SS) — A new steelmaking process could break a big-business hold on the steel industry and save billions of dollars as well, its inventor has told a Senate subcommittee.

W. L. Sherwood of Vancouver, Canada, said his process for continuous steelmaking is most efficient in plants that put out 100,000 tons of steel a year — a tenth the size most steelmakers consider a minimum for efficient production in conventional plants. It would permit smaller operators to enter big-steelmaking competitively, he said.

GIANT SAVINGS

Besides, he said, by 1980, $2.5 billion could be saved in the cost of installing new steelmills if his system is built instead of conventional ones. Another $1 billion a year could be saved in operating costs.

He testified last week before a Senate subcommittee on Antitrust and Monopoly, which is looking into the effects on new technology on the concentration of industry.

The Sherwood process combines two steps in steelmaking into a single operation. Conventionally, iron ore is melted, then cast into pig iron, which has many impurities. The pig iron is then re-melted, purified at high temperatures and strengthened with additives.

In the new continuous process, the ore is placed in a rotating furnace that gets hotter as the material moves along, finally reaching a refining zone of about 2,800 degrees F. where the finished steel is produced.

ONE FURNACE

Because only one furnace is required for the process, installation costs are cut, said Sherwood. The single furnace also saves reheating costs and reduces the amount of iron dust that escapes.

The huge investment required for conventional steel plants — $265 million for a million-ton-per-year capacity, according to Sherwood — has kept smaller firms from competing in the industry. Half the U.S. steel production comes from three giant companies, and five more account for another 25 per cent.

Sherwood told the subcommittee he could build a 150,000-ton pilot plant for his process for $6 million, and he has talked with steel producers about getting the money — but without success.

A 'CHICKEN' CHECK CLEARS A BANK LOAN

CINCINNATI (AP) There were quite a few raised eyebrows at the Fifth Third Union Trust Co. when David G. Swenson paid the final $387 installment on a business loan.

Swenson paid with a check Monday — but one that was written on a dead, freshly plucked chicken instead of paper.

Garnett Hill, vice president of the bank, said the check was accepted. Swenson said he started a drive-in restaurant specializing in fried chicken with a loan from Fifth Third and wanted to make his final payment memorable.

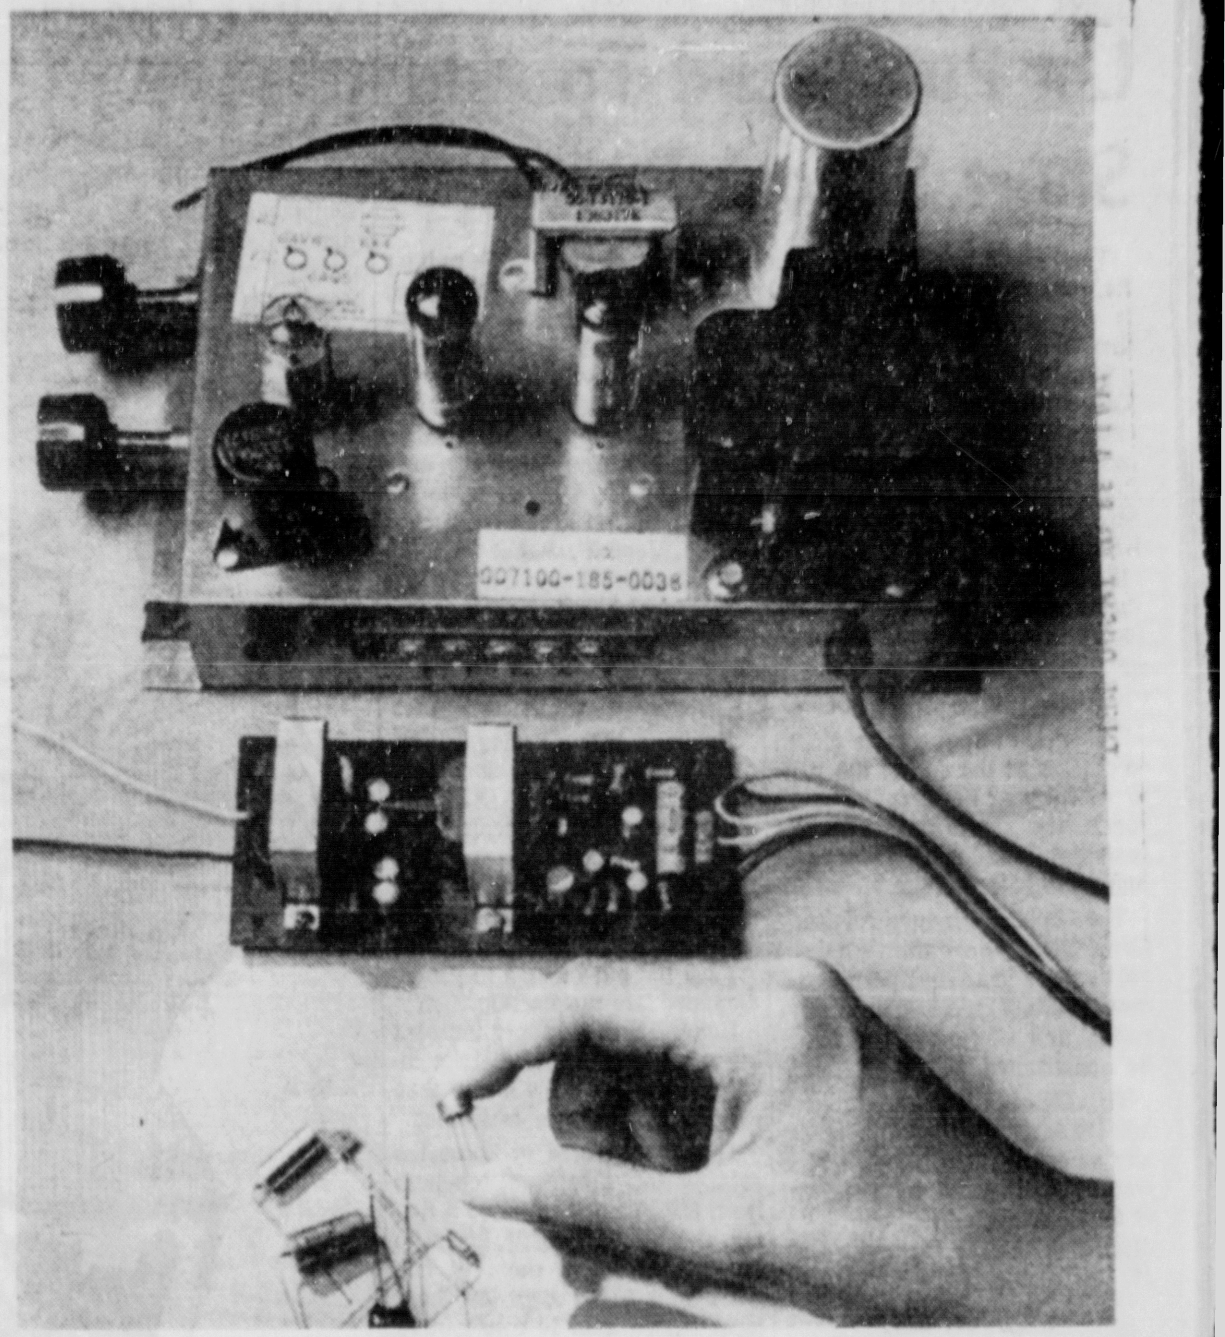
Port Wine Drinkers Alter Their Habits

NEW YORK (UPI)—More than 9 million gallons of port wine from Portugal were consumed throughout the world in 1966 and port, once considered solely as a dessert wine, is gaining popularity as an aperitif, reports a producer of port wines from Oporto.

France is leading Europe in making port wine a fashionable aperitif, according to Sandemann Brothers. The firm estimates three-fifths of its world port sales now are for consumption as a before-dinner drink.

Auto Tax High

SANTIAGO, Chile (UPI) — Due to taxes, a 1967 Ford Falcon assembled in Chile, without accessories, costs the equivalent of $11,000.



SMALLER AND CHEAPER, TOO

The tiny amplifier held between the thumb and forefinger will perform essentially all of the functions of the transistorized amplifier (center) and of the older vacuum tube (top), according to officials of Westinghouse. The mite-sized amplifier is intended for service in low-cost phonographs, tape recorders and radios. It was shown at the recent Western Electric Show and convention in San Francisco.

BUSINESS MIRROR

At Long Last, Housing Industry Is Looking Up

By JOHN CUNNIFF

NEW YORK (AP) — After nearly a year of improvement, the housing industry now seems to have climbed from the pit into which it fell during the worst of the tight money woes of late last year.

The all-clear still hasn't been sounded, because a money shortage still could threaten the mortgage market, but most builders and potential buyers seem to be recovering from the trauma.

Last October housing was being built at an annual rate of 845,000 units, the lowest in 20 years. Money was unavailable for home buying; it went instead to the big corporate customers who were willing to pay dearly.

BOTTOM REACHED

At almost the same time as the botton was reached, the Federal Reserve, which controls the spigot through which money flows to the economy, reversed itself. Money poured upon the parched housing field.

As a result, housing began to sprout like a crop after rain, reaching an annual rate this year of 1,831,000 units in August, with forecasts calling for continued growth.

Very close, however, lurks the specter of another money shortage. Last year funds were withdrawn from the mortgage market because yields were higher elsewhere. A repetition is unlikely, but it could occur.

Housing officials at least have been keeping a wary eye on the narrow gap that separates returns on mortgage lending from returns on corporate bonds.

FAIRLY SAFE

As long as the mortgage market offers lenders good returns, as it has been, then it is fairly safe. But, if rates elsewhere rise sharply some financial institutions may again withdraw funds for investing in bonds instead.

Aside from this problem, however, there is an almost inevitable rise in prospect for the industry, partly as a direct result of last year's inadequate construction. The nation now has too few houses.

This shortage is reflected in one of the lowest vacancy rates for houses and apartments in several years, a direct result of the failure of construction to keep pace with new family development and replacement needs.

THE FUTURE

There is an almost inevitable rise in the long-range prospect also, especially as the big crop of babies born after World War II begins raising families of its own.

So great is the potential, therefore, that some economists have placed the demand for new housing at close to two million units a year within the next half decade.

The big question is this: Will the demand be for single family houses or for apartments?

The answer is eluding building materials dealers, many of whom lean to the belief that multifamily apartment houses will become more popular as the birth rate declines.

They reason that many young families begin life as apartment dwellers and switch to houses only as demanded by their growing number of children. Smaller sized families, they reason, will relieve this pressure.

This trend to apartment living is already clear from housing figures. In 1960 only 17 per cent of all housing starts were accounted for by apartment houses. That figure is now more than 30 per cent and may go higher.

Countering this is the possibility of a growing demand for single-family homes because incomes are growing and more people can afford them, regardless of their space needs.

Such problems are, however, the problems of success. Last year at this time the problems were those of failure.

Lot Purchased To Add Short School Rooms

The San Rafael Board of Education last night agreed to expand the Short School site by purchasing a corner parcel a. Clorinda Avenue and Marin Street at a cost of $20,000 from Rita Henning.

Supt. John F. Plank explained that acquisition of the 50-by-100-foot parcel would provide space for additional classrooms.

CLASSES MOVED

The main building was closed to classes at the end of the 1966-67 school year because it doesn't meet the state's earthquake resistant standards. It is now being used for storage.

The Citizens Finance Advisory Committee recommended earlier this year that permanent new building with four classrooms and administration space be constructed at the site.

The Citizens Bond Committee has listed a new building at the site as one of the projects which would be financed by approval of $3,100,000 in elementary district bonds at the polls Oct. 24.

STILL IN USE

There are classrooms, constructed after the state's earthquake standards were set, still in use at the site.

Board members also heard a report from L.S. DeLuca, accountant at the Marin County Schools Office, on the complicated formula by which state funds are apportioned.

DeLuca noted that the amounts, based on average daily attendance, are not firm until February, and board members decried this system.

During the discussion on finances, Board Member Herman L. Childress questioned a recent editorial in the Independent-Journal stating that the elementary district budgeted beyond its limit before the state school money bill was signed.

"I didn't think we were ever in danger of getting close to the legal limit," Childress said.

Supt. John F. Plank said the 1967-68 elementary district budget was based on finance law and formulas in effect at the time it was drawn up.

INCOME PREDICTED

Business Mgr. Charles L. Condrotte estimated that under the School Finance Bill (AB 272) elementary district income will be $143,594 higher than expected. He noted that two of the estimated increases, $63,680 for educationally handicapped and $31,300 for physically handicapped are not certain.

Under the new apportionment law, the high school district income will be $57,900 lower than expected, Condrotte estimated.

The board voted to boost the salaries of substitute teachers from $22.50 a day to $27.50 a day for short-term substitution (up to 10 consecutive days at one post) and $30 a day for long-term (more than 10 consecutive days).

The salaries for athletic coaches were raised $50 a season to $500 for head coach of varsity football, $400 for head coach of other major sports, $300 for assistant coach of major sport and coach of minor sport and $350 for wrestling coach.

John E. Cascone of 9 Elkin Court, who two weeks ago asked the board to postpone action on the raises to allow time for objections to be brought forth, was not present and no objections were voiced.

Clerks Union Scores Victory

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The AFL-CIO Retail Clerks Union said today that after a 30-year campaign it has gained a modified union shop clause in a just-ratified contract with 15 San Francisco stores.

All employees hired after next Jan. 31 will have to join a union, although those nonunion employes who have reached permanent status will not have to join.

Included in the contract were 25-cent or 30-cent hourly pay boosts over the next three years. Basic wages for sales employes had ranged from $2.04 to $2.57. With commissions, the range was from $2.63 to $3.84.

Oakland Teachers To Get Pay Hikes

OAKLAND (AP)—The Board of Education voted a 5 per cent pay increase for 2,800 teachers yesterday, for a range beginning at $6,090 and reaching $12,408. The boost, payable before Christmas, is retroactive to July 1.

U.S. Jury Indicts Ticket Printers

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—The federal grand jury returned an indictment Monday accusing three ticket-making firms of conspiring to fix prices on tickets they print.

Defendants were two Los Angeles firms, Globe Ticket Co. of California and Dillingham Ticket Co., and a San Francisco concern, Hancock Bros., Inc.

The indictment said the defendants have violated the Sherman Anti-trust Act by fixing prices on a wide variety of tickets at least since 1950.

U.S. Dist. Judge Albert C. Wollenberg set Oct. 16 for arraignment. Globe's general manager, L.C. Butler, and Dillingham's president, John R. Japs, were also named as defendants.

District Holding 37.5-Cent Tax

The 1967-68 tax rate for operations and maintenance for the Homestead Valley Sanitary District is 37.57 cents per $100 assessed valuation, the district board was told Monday night.

A report from the county auditor also said the district's assessed valuation rose 20.66 per cent over last year. The operations tax rate is approximately the same as last year's.

Board Chairman Warren I. Jacobs said the tax rate is not dropping because the district this year is building up its reserve funds, which were depleted last year by large reconstruction projects.

Board Members Predict More Education Changes

The San Rafael Board of Education last night stressed the need for long-term educational goals in a rapidly-changing world.

Board Member Paul L. Jones said, "We've got to keep up," and "deal not only with today, but tomorrow."

Kindergarten pupils are starting training for a world 20 years hence and may move into jobs not even thought of now, said Board Chairman Lawrence I. Kramer Jr.

Since the end of World War II the function of education has changed from "cramming facts," to teaching pupils how to think, Kramer said.

Jones contended that "texts in history have to be used tentatively," and "that's not how it was taught 20 years ago."

Kramer noted that students today face demands that "were not placed on their fathers and grandfathers, and not so long ago graduation from the eighth grade was a big thing."

Kramer suggested a seminar on education goals with the faculty, administrators, board members and residents participating.

Tire Men Would Outlaw Baldies

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — If the National Tire Dealers and Retreaders Association has its way, it would be illegal to drive with a tire that had less than one-sixteenth of an inch tread depth.

The association's 47th annual convention passed a resolution here yesterday asking for that requirement in a compulsory inspection program it wants all states to establish immediately.

However, it also urged that states postpone setting up any retreading standards until the Department of Transportation issue its final standards.

$200,000 Haul Of Heroin Made

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — State narcotics agents said yesterday they had seized heroin worth $200,000 at retail and $13,000 in cash in a raid at Lawrence Foley's apartment in the Fillmore District.

When arrested Foley, 57, was free in bail from a 1965 grand jury narcotics conspiracy indictment.

Also arrested were Willia Mae Coleman, 37; Toni Raven, 36, and Wilbert Frost, 41, all of San Francisco. All were charged with possessing narcotics.

Kennedy Guard Extension Asked

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Treasury Department has asked Congress to extend for 15 months the shield of Secret Service protection provided for Jacqueline Kennedy and her two children, John and Caroline.

In a letter to Congress, Secretary of the Treasury Henry H. Fowler said Mrs. Kennedy and her children receive much publicity, are subject to annoyance by the idly curious and "remain possible targets of the mentally deranged."

The Secret Service's present authority to protect the family of John F. Kennedy expires Nov. 23, four years after the late president's assassination.

WHEN COURT DECIDES

Medi-Cal Benefit Return Expected

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Spencer Williams, state health and welfare administrator, said today he thinks the contested cuts in the state's Medi-Cal program can be restored soon.

In a statement to the Health Review and Program Council, Williams said new figures indicate that expenditures in the multi-million dollar health care program have been less than those that were available prior to last Sept. 1, when certain services were eliminated from the program in order to save money.

SAVINGS CLAIMED

The elimination of some services was intended to save $210 million in the program's cost this fiscal year — money the Reagan administration said was not there.

But a Sacramento superior court judge later ruled the cuts illegal and the state appealed directly to the State Supreme Court.

Meanwhile, poor people who rely on the complicated and troubled medical assistance program are in for another two months of confusion on what services are available.

DOCTOR URGED

Williams said he has been told by the California Medical Association that doctors will be urged to give quality medical care to the needy regardless of whether the state reimburses them for their services.

However, neither the association nor the state can order physicians and other providers of care under the program to give full-scale care while the issue is pending before the court.

Yesterday, the State Supreme Court agreed to hear arguments on the matter next November.

The judges said the October calendar was too crowded, and Williams said he didn't mind the delay. Both sides need time to prepare, he explained. The welfare chief added, "Hopefully we will get a final decision so we can get going one way or the other by the end of November or early December."

CONFUSION RIFE

However, reports from around the state indicate confusion prevails over whether the services ordered but back actually should be reduced, or whether the pre-Sept. 1 level should continue.

Williams reported to the Health Review and Program Council on which providers of services get how much money.

He said there are 80,000 providers, from doctors to laboratories that supply equipment. Of these, he said, "less than 3 per cent received more than $20,000" in the first 18 months of Medi-Cal's operation.

He said all claims are under constant surveillance by the private firm that handles the billing, with 125 doctors checking patterns of practice and fees charged. Of all providers of services, Williams reported, 35 have been suspended for abuses — 15 of them doctors, 8 dentists, 3 chiropractors, 3 hearing aid dealers, 3 pharmacies, 2 nursing homes and 1 physical rehabilitation facility.

Teen Dance Hall Wins New Permit For Year

The San Rafale Planning Commission last night renewed for one year a use permit granted six months ago to Richard Conn for teen dances and entertainment at 502 Irwin Street.

Police Lt. Lincoln M. Borba told commissioners "only one incident" occurred there in six months, clearly referring to the arrest last week of Fairfax Poilce Chief James Orr. The chief was arrested when Conn accused him of using profane language in front of several youths.

Commissioners approved Conn's request to extend operating hours from midnight to 1 a.m. Sunday morning and on nights before holidays. Sunday night hours were extended from 5 to 9 p.m.

After 90 minutes of debate, however, commissioners rejected Conn's request to remove the age limit of 20. "You're bound to have a liquor problem once you allow the 21 or older persons in," argued Lt. Borba.

Vote on the renewal was 5-1, Commissioner Tom O'Toole arguing for a four-month trial at dropping the age limit. Chairman Fred C. Robbins Jr. was absent.

The San Rafael Planning Commission Also:

DANCE HALL — Deferred to Oct. 10 approval of a use permit for a dance hall for high school seniors and collegians at 103-111 Verdi Street.

SUBDIVISION—Approved final map of four-lot subdivision at south end of Las Ovejas Avenue submitted by Edmund Stacy.

GARAGE — Granted variance to Walter Peterman, 31 Rollingwood Drive, for garage addition with 15-foot setback where 20 feet is required.

MULTIPLE UNITS — Granted use permit to Charles Grandi for a duplex and a triplex on Elizabeth Way.

SIGN — Approved design of freestanding, illuminated sign for Albert's Transmission, 933-B Francisco Boulevard.

Guilty Plea To Kickbacks

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Bruce Wilkie, a former State Department employee, pleaded guilty yesterday to taking kickbacks from Mexico City printers who obtained contracts from the Agency for International Development.

He told Judge Albert C. Wollenberg, in U.S. District Court, he had taken at least $5,000. The judge put him on probation for five years.

Slaying Victim Is Identified

Pate's body, identified by police yesterday through fingerprints on file in Washington, D.C., was discovered Sunday in Rabbit Creek canyon in the Oakland hills.

Officers said Pate, who had no known address or occupation in Northern California, was shot in the chest and the back of the head. His pockets had been turned inside out.

The Governor Reports —Why At This Time?

A 48-page paperbound volume, "Report to Californians on the First Eight Months of the Reagan Administration," has just been issued. Copies are available from the Office of the Governor, Sacramento, at 25 cents each (20 cents each in lots of 50 or more).

As might be expected, the booklet emphasizes the "positive" in the early months of the administration of Gov. Ronald Reagan. It mentions no failure.

We are intrigued by the timing of the report. Why a report on the first eight months of the administration? Usually, such a report would cover the first year.

MAYBE WE TEND to read too many political meanings into things in the months preceding a presidential campaign, but it occurs to us that, by the time Reagan has completed a year in office, the first of the presidential primaries will be upon us. New Hampshire will open the show next March 12, followed by Wisconsin on April 2. After that, they come thick and fast.

Anyhow, whatever the reason, Reagan's "review" is interesting. It calls his first 240 days in office "a period during which Governor Reagan sought to reverse the trend towards bigger, more· expensive and more powerful government in California."

During these 240 days, it claims, he "faced the fiscal crisis" . . . introduced a "forward-looking legislative program" . . . "faced problems head-on" . . . "launched the Creative Society" (there's one with a campaign ring to it!) . . . "renewed citizen confidence in government."

IT OUTLINES the problem he faced: a $5 billion state budget with a half-billion deficit between expenditures and income; highest per-capita taxes in the nation; a $386 million general fund deficiency.

When it comes to listing his actions, the report includes appointing committees and recruiting experts — the familiar political ploys which may or may not pay off. Others are more specific: a $127 million budget cut, with $43.5 million blue-penciled out of the Legislature's final budget; providing revenue to pay off the state's $194 million cash debt.

His revenue plan, however, is listed as "including substantial property tax relief." That one is a dream. The state does not tax real property, and its application of other taxes has not resulted in property tax reduction.

The report goes on to list specific economies, including reduction of 2,550 fulltime state employees, reduction of out-of-state travel by $354,000 in six months, sale of the governor's airplane, saving of $252,000 by eliminating a state highway magazine and multicolor state map, "saved $59,000 in typewriter purchases, and $50,000 in ribbons," and "elimination of unnecessary state printing, such as multi-colored pamphlets and brochures, saving $550,000 annually."

'One Big Give' Helps

An army of volunteer workers this week opened the 1967 United Bay Area Crusade.

Its campaign for funds will continue from now into the Christmas season, with a goal of $16,350,000.

This is the "one big give" which helps support 176 organizations in Marin, San Francisco, Contra Costa, Alameda and San Mateo counties.

While almost all of these 176 charitable and public service organizations required funds beyond those raised by the United Crusade, it is likewise true that without Crusade help, many of them would be unable to function.

Through individual cash gifts or payroll deductions, Marinites are thus enabled to spread their dollars widely for the service of their fellowmen by United Crusade giving.

AFFAIRS OF STATE

California May Try Toll Roads

By HENRY C. MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — The concept of toll roads has been particularly repulsive to Californians for a good many years, but it has a good chance of being revived inhthe light of mounting costs for roads, wider use of highways and freeways, and what probably will be next year a request for the Legislature to increase the gas tax.

About the only reason the people of the state escaped another increase in the gas tax this year was the necessity for imposing about a billion dollars in general taxes on the public. The Ligislature did not want to make too big a bite in any one year.

NOW GORDON C. LUCE, who is chairman of the state Highway Commission and state secretary of business and tranportation, has come forward with the hope that when, as and if the state constructs a $22.4 million highway to the proposed Walt Disney development in Mineral King, the Legislature will impse tolls "to help recoup construction and maintenance costs."

The state Highway Commission has the proposed routing of this highway under consideration. It already has budgeted necessary right-of-way funds.

The highway commission in fact has done almost everything it can do up to this point to pave the way for the highway, which will open up a vast area to all types of mountain recreation. Even if the Disney development were not contemplated, the highway still would be valuable in the promulgation of recreational facilities.

Maintenance and snow removal costs naturally would be high on a highway of this type, so there seems to be no cogent reason why the people using the road should not contribute to its construction and upkeep, even if the process breaks the tradition of toll-free roads in California.

THERE IS LITTLE if any objection to tolls on the bridges in the Bay Area. Objections were limited even after users of the San Francisco-Oakland Bay Bridge paid for the structure, and planned to use it as free road. The legislature continued the toll for upkeep and the construction of the Richmond-San Rafael Bridge.

Fundamentally, if motorists are going to have highways, they have to be paid for. It is not inconceivable that the imposition of taxes on gasoline eventually will reach the point where it is no longer feasible to raise the gas tax.

Other states have turned to the toll road to meet some of the costs of highways, and this may come in for some serious consideration in California if no other means can be found.

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

End Viet War Through Invasion

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Why is it taking us longer to defeat a tiny, agricultural country like North Vietnam than it did to bring the highly technical German and Japanese empires to their knees in World War II? I must conclude that it is not our intention to defeat North Vietnam, and that we will spend freely of lives and tax dollars in this war.

Secretary McNamara has engineered the Edsel concept into warfare with his policy of containment. Meanwhile, American youths spill their blook in vain, and taxpayers are asked to dig deeper just to keep the status quo. Our presence in Vietnam will not engender conficence from the other Southeast Asian nations if we are stalemated by a cheap band of under-age guerillas. Resentment at home, now reserved for the small but vocal pacifist groups, will become broad-based, impelling our Administration to finally act hastily, with little regard to long-range consequences.

The time is now to proceed winning this conflict by (1) destroying the harbors, roads and factories supplying North Vietnamese war needs; (2) cutting off trade with nations supplying North Vietnam; and (3) invading North Vietnam and bringing Ho Chi Minh's government to the truce table in Hanoi on our terms. Anything less would be a crime against the servicemen who have risked life and limb for the undefined purposes of this campaign.

Billboard Opinions Hard To Gauge

Editor, Independent-Journal:

We are interested in your editorial of Sept. 1, in which you state that "an independent research study" has come up with the report that "most people" either prefer to see billboards along the highways or don't notice whether they are there or not.

So many surveys of various sorts, ostensibly making objective tests of public opinion on this subject, come up with totally different results that one must look very critically at each one.

For example, a Trendex poll asking if billboards should be either eliminated or severly restricted along interstate highways produced the following: For elimination or sever restrictions — 65.9 per cent; against such restrictions — 25.9 per cent; no opinion — 8.2 per cent. A somewhat similar California Poll also showed a good majority favoring severe restrictions. However, some other polls have opposite different results.

The way the questions are worded obviously has a lot to do with the answers. For example, a questionnaire circulated in Detroit asked, "Have you any objections to billboards?" Only about 8 per cent answered "yes." This question, of course, was too general to gain significant idea of public attitudes. . .

There is no doubt that a certain number of individuals prefer to look at billboards in preference to scenery. A good many more are indifferent. Also, other intrusions on the landscape such as power poles, are every bit as offensive as are bill boards to many nature-lovers.

Point Reyes View Closed To Public

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Having lived for the last 17 years at Los Angeles we bought a house in Terra Linda a year ago where we are retired now. We have quite some relatives and friends from Los Angeles and from the East Coast who came to see us here and we tried several times to show them Point Reyes which is indeed one of the outstanding attractions of Marin County and a unique place. The first time we went there, about a year ago, we were allowed to go up to the platform from where we had a fascinating view over the Ocean and the Bay. But on all later occasions when we came with our visitors we were not allowed to go up there. About two months ago (the last time we went there, or . . . tried to) we were even forced back in a far from polite manner by some men (not in uniform) who were crying harsh orders from the house. It is true that there was a sign that — for some improbable reason ("for your own protection") the Point could not be approached, but we thought that this was concerning only the Light House where we did not intend to go anyway.

I think it is really regrettable that nobody is allowed to enjoy this surprising and inspiring view which is famous all over the country and about which some very attractive and interesting books and descriptions have been published. This makes, of course, the disappointment of those who want to visit the Point so much greater.

Naturally, the Coast Guard seaman who describes the beauty of that place in your above-mentioned article had no trouble to get there. But I think you should warn your readers (after my experiences) not to risk the long drive . . . for nothing.

Grateful For Stories Though Library Lost

Editor, Independent-Journal:

We are indeed grateful to you and your staff for your splendid, sympathetic coverage of our proposed new library in Sausalito, which came to a referendum vote on Sept. 19.

The defeat of the issue was a striking blow to those of us who are more interested in civic improvement for Sausalito than providing more parking spaces for tourists and it is with deep appreciation that we can remember that it was not due to any indifference on the part of the Independent-Journal, or any other newspaper in Marin County, that we are still in our 58-year-old second-floor library building.

Thank you.

TRY AND STOP ME

By BENNETT CERF

AN UNWARY husband in Lansing, Mich., came home from the office one evening to find Friend Wife waiting for him with a rolling pin. "Remember those ducks you went out shooting last Saturday?" she challenged him. "Of course I remember," he replied. "So what?" "So what?" echoed Friend Wife. "One of them called up this afternoon and left her phone number."

At the end of the sixth round, a battered heavyweight staggered back to his corner. "Hey, Killer," his disgruntled manager whispered in his ear, "I gotta great idea for the next round. Hit him back!"

While Mail-Order Guns Kill, Congress Stalls On Legislation

WASHINGTON — Many congressmen are saying they won't vote for a tax increase because their constituents don't want them to.

But they certainly can't use that argument to explain why they have failed to pass the urgently needed, widely demanded gun-control law.

PUBLIC SUPPORT for a meaningful measure to keep lethal weapons out of the wrong hands — criminals, drug addicts, youngsters — has been constantly growing. Opinion polls now show that fully 70 per cent of the people want Congress to act.

The immediate need is to stop interstate mail-order purchase of firearms by individuals, so that the states which have tight controls within their boundaries will not have their laws vitiated by lax regulations in other states.

The demented youth who killed and wounded 44 people from atop the university tower in Austin had a footlocker of firearms which he had no difficulty in buying.

GUN-CONTROL legislation has been before Congress for three years — and nothing has happened. The lobbyists have suceeded in preventing action. The public has been denied the additional safety which the law would have provided.

And the need for gun control mounts all the time. The use of firearms in dangerous crimes is going up all the time. The Federal Bureau of Investigation reports that during the first six months of this year there was a 24 per cent rise in the use of guns in aggravated assaults.

And while the use of firearms in dangerous crimes was increasing by 24 per cent, the volume of all crime rose 17 per cent during the first half of 1967.

No one argues that federal gun-control law is a panacea for all crime and violence. No one argues that criminals and psychotics won't be able to get their hands on lethal weapons. But it can be made more difficult for them to do so and there is proof that when there is a strong law it helps. It has helped in Philadalphia. It is working well in New Jersey. During the first six months of its operation there more than 7 per cent of would-be gun purchasers had criminal records — and they were not allowed to buy them. More than 540 individuals were denied licenses to buy guns because they were criminals, alcoholics, or drug addicts.

THE WEAK CASE of anti-gun-control lobbyists is illustrated by their extreme accusations. They contend that the proposed law is part of a Communist conspiracy to disarm the nation.

I find it difficult to believe that J. Edgar Hoover is either a conscious or unconscious agent of a Communist conspiracy, and Mr. Hoover, out of his experience with crime and criminals, pleads for a much stiffer law than the President is proposing.

"I think," Hoover says, "that mail-order firearm purchases should be banned, interstate transportation of firearms controlled, and local registration of firearms required and enforced."

Undoubtedly any effective gun control is going to put some inconvenience on sportsmen, but the law is not aimed at preventing law-abiding citizens from obtaining firearms. Isn't the safety of people, isn't the prospect of reducing crimes of violence, worth some inconvenience? It is easy to wring our hands about mounting crime. It would be better to do something about it.

Riots Leave Cities Loaded With Hidden Stolen Guns

By ROBERT S. ALLEN and PAUL SCOTT

Thousands of weapons, including hundreds of rifles, stolen during or since the rioting have not been recovered by local law enforcement authorities. Many of these weapons are believed to be in the possession of dangerous militants.

Police officials in that racially tense city have informed congressional probers that nearly all of the 2,700 guns stolen during the rioting there are still missing.

Another 400 weapons, including 150 rifles, are unaccounted for in that city. These guns were taken from a sporting goods store after revolutionary leader H. Rap Brown made a post-riot speech urging militant Negroes in Detroit to "go get a gun . . . arm yourself for the troubled days ahead."

THAT'S THE ALARMING information gathered by investigators of Sen. John McClellan's permanent investigating subcommittee now probing the causes behind this summer's racial violence.

The McClellan subcommittee, which plans to hold hearings in October in Detroit and Newark, has received similar disturbing warnings from police in the latter city.

Newark law enforcement officials have revealed that fewer than 100 of the 1,000 guns stolen during the rioting there have been recovered, despite intensive searching.

THE UNSUNG HEROES — Statistics gathered by a Senate judiciary subcommittee reveal that the job of the firefighter in recent civil disorders has been far more hazardous than the policeman's.

In 11 riots investigated by the senators, firemen suffered 438 casualties, including six deaths. Fewer than half as many policemen were injured or killed.

According to the subcommittee's unpublished findings, the largest number of casualties among firemen occurred during riots in Los Angeles, 183; Detroit, 83; Newark, 35; Rochester, N.Y., 25, and New York City, 24. Of the six firemen killed, three were shot by snipers.

Cleveland authorities have furnished the subcommittee with evidence that snipers have tried dozens of times to bushwhack firemen in that city since last year's racial disturbances.

THE SNIPERS set up their ambushes by turning in false alarms, then lay in wait for the firemen to arrive on the scene. Fourteen firemen have been injured by snipers. As many as 30 false alarms a day have been credited to suspected snipers.

Sen. James Eastland, D-Mass, chairman of the Senate Judiciary Committee, is planning legislation to protect these unarmed firefighters.

When his committee considers the House-passed riot-control bill later this month, Senator Eastland will tack an amendment onto the bill making it a federal offense for a person to interfere with a fireman while on duty.

ART BUCHWALD

What Every Ex-GI Needs Is A De-Smooching Station

WASHINGTON—One of the most interesting decisions in American jurisprudence is now being tossed around in the U.S. Court of Appeals in Washington. The outcome could directly affect every GI now in his country's service. The question involved is whether an ex-GI who had become used to necking and petting while he was in the military service had the legal right to continue this activity in civilian life without getting fired from the FBI.

The veteran involved was a 26-year-old clerk named Thomas Carter, who kept a girl overnight in his apartment. Carter, in sworn testimony, said he did nothing but "neck" and "spoon," but J. Edgar Hoover said his conduct was unbecoming an employee of the FBI

WHILE TAKING testimony the other day, Judge Harold Leventhal seemed to be on the side of a veteran's "right to neck" law. He pointed out that under the uniform military training act, a returning serviceman must be given a chance to adjust to civilian life and that necking and spooning is just something an ex-GI cannot forget overnight.

The decision in the case hasn't been rendered as yet and of course there is much to be said for both sides.

TO ME THE FAULT lies neither with Carter nor the FBI. The blame should be placed on the military who allow our American boys to go around necking, spooning and smooching, knowing full well that once a GI goes down that path it is almost impossible for him to return to live a clean, healthy, normal life in the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

Our GIs receive absolutely no instruction on the evils of petting. Most of them are led to believe that premarital necking is a good thing, and I'm ashamed to say that in some extreme cases soldiers and sailors have been known to stay up all night with a girl. Is it no wonder that with this type of training the discharged GI is unable to adjust to the civilian life where the code of behavior of American men and women is so different?

The mistake, it seems to me, is that our military services are discharging our men without thought to the way they're going to behave when they get out.

THERE SHOULD BE some sort of course given to every GI before he is discharged. He must be instructed on how to kick his petting habits. He should be put in a decompression tank for two weeks so the shock of giving up necking would not be too tough on his nervous system. Eventually the GI would realize that what is socially acceptable in the service does not necessarily carry over to civilian life.

I sincerely believe that had the Air Force provided such a course for Carter he would never have had to tangle with J. Edgar Hoover in the Court of Appeals today.

I speak with personal knowledge and great sympathy for Carter's cause. The only reason that I'm not an FBI agent myself is that I could never stop smooching once I got discharged from the U.S. Marine Corps at the end of World War II.

Lots Of Nits In Tiburon Meetings —But Who Said City's Lousy?

The word first appeared in meetings of the city's first council, when councilmen talked about "nit-picking," referring to chewing on miniscule details.

On the present council, Vice Mayor Thomas E. Drohan has introduced two new phrases including "nit." The first is "nitty gritty," which appears to refer to the meat, or kernel, or grit, of the matter under discussion.

Last week, Drohan referred to some of the more minor changes recommended in the zoning ordinance as "nit-nats." The council, which should get an "A" for endurance, doggedly took on the nit-nats as well as the major changes.

Drohan's phrase was picked up by other councilmen and even by the audience. One member of the audience even went so far as to refer to the meeting as "nit-nat night."

I NOTICE during the many discussions of the zoning ordinance at planning commission and city council that there were citizens—including members of TPAC (Tiburon Peninsula Advisory Committee) who advocated the city retain the county zoning ordinance and/or the county slope policy.

This attitude seems inconsistent with the original driving purpose for the incorporation of Tiburon—to get away from planning by the county and put it on a home-rule basis.

DURING THE ZONING ordinance discussions and revisions, two other complaints conflicted. One was that the city was "dragging its heels" in taking so long to process the ordinance. The cross-complaint was that the city was "trying to ramrod" the ordinance.

On the radio I recently heard a report of an East Bay city having just passed its first sign ordinance after eight years of discussion and review. Perhaps three-year-old Tiburon isn't creeping too slowly toward organizing its laws.

DEPUTY SHERIFF William G. Donovan had a busy week when he started with the sheriff's sub-station in Tiburon early this month.

Blame The Bees

LONDON (UPI)—Residents of Chiswick, a western London suburb, were buzzing the wrong culprits when they blamed over-flying planes for sticky "deposits" on their cars and clothes. Scientific analysis showed the droppings were pollen from bees—"busy bees," the analyst joked.

Poll Finds Split On Escalation

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Californians are apparently almost evenly divided on the question of escalation of the Vietnam war, the California Poll reported yesterday.

Mervin D. Field, director of the survey which was taken two weeks ago, said the results demonstrated that the "mood of public opinion is shifting increasingly against the Johnson Administration's policy of more and more military effort in Vietnam."

Field said 48 per cent of the 1,025 voters interviewed thought the best policy was to put "more and more military pressure on North Vietnam . . ."

Eighteen per cent favored immediate withdrawal of American troops and another 28 per cent disapproved of further involvement.

Ferry Boat Talk

Dr. Thomas I. J. Snead will speak on "Ferry Boats of San Francisco Bay" at the Oct. 7 meeting of the Marin Chapter 68 of the American Association of Retired Persons, 1:30 p.m. in the First Methodist Church of San Rafael, 9 Ross Valley Drive. The speaker, a Fairfax dentist, will illustrate his talk with pictures and boat models.

59TH INMATE ARRIVES ON DEATH ROW

McClelland arrived at the prison yesterday from Orange County where he had been found guilty of two counts of murder. He killed two customers of a tavern he was attempting to hold up on Feb. 16.

Whether he will be executed will be decided under his automatic appeal to the State Supreme Court, which usually takes about a year, prison officials explained. If the appeal is turned down, an execution date will be set. Carrying out of the execution will depend on results of possible further appeals.

Boy Slaps Down Suit —$100,000

The youth, Robert Jeffrey Caveney, through his mother, Mrs. Patricia Caveney of 16 Drakes Cove, San Rafael, charges that Basil W. Sakellaris, 39, of 89 Golden Hinde Boulevard, viciously assaulted him without provcation about the head and shoulders with his fists.

Sheriff's officers said Jeffrey's teacher, Marjorie C. Mohror, 30, told them Sakellaris came into her seventh grade classroom Friday and asked to see Jeffrey. When the boy arose, Sakellaris grabbed him and slapped him four times across the face, she said.

Sakellaris told Jeffrey he had "sent my boy home emotionally disturbed,'' and added something about a fight between Jeffrey and his son, George, Mrs. Mohror said.

The suit asks $25,000 general damages and $75,000 punitive damages. Sakellaris was arraigned in Marin Municipal Court Monday on a misdemeanor charge of striking the youth and for disturbing the peace at the school.

Pleas entry was scheduled for 1:30 p.m. Monday.

San Marin High School Bidders High

Royce Hall of Napa was the apparent low bidder with a bid of $1,775,772 for the first phase of the San Marin High School when bids were opened yesterday by the Novato Unified School District.

Hall's bid, lowest of four, was still higher then than the state allowance of $1,668,993, said Supt. James G. Bunker. However, by eliminating some of the alternates, the bid may come under the state allotment, Bunker said.

Other bidders were: Rapp Construction Co. of Santa Rosa, $1,837,000; Pacific Coast Builders of San Francisco, $1,854,000 and E. C. Anderson Inc. of San Francisco, $1,858,000.

The first phase of the building will include a science wing, library wing, administration building, English and social science wing, business education classrooms and the physical education complex.

Second Firm Boosts Stainless Steel Cost

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Crucible Steel Co., a major producer of stainless steels, has announced a price increase of 3 to 5 pr cent affective Monday.

The announcement yesterday by Crucible followed the action of Cyclops Corp. which last week hiked stainless steel prices an average of 7 per cent.

Berkeley Queries Peace Election

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The Berkeley City Council asked for a legal opinion today on its authority to call a special election on U.S. policies in Vietnam.

The election was requested by the Campus Mobilization Committee.

Carl Franks, committee spokesman, said that since the State Supreme Court validation of a similar issue for the regular San Francisco ballot, he did not think the Berkeley council would block the move.

Assistant City Attorney Robert Berkman said, however, that it is his preliminary opinion that the council does not have the authority to call a special election.

Hippies Go To Court On Marijuana Counts

Steven F. Palm, 18, one of eight hippies arrested in San Geronimo Saturday on narcotics charges, was arraigned in Marin Municipal Court yesterday on a complaint of marijuana possession.

Plea entry was scheduled for this afternoon. Two others, Paulette Elizabeth Palm, 22, and Lawrence A. Palm, 26, were arraigned on a misdemeanor complaint charging they were present where marijuana was being used.

Four others, Richard Ackers Fogle, 21, Philip Scott Fulkerson, 22, Raymond Lee Furrow, 25, and Diana Kay Roberts, 18, already had been arraigned on the misdemeanor charge. Fogle is scheduled for jury trial Oct. 29. Fulkerson and Farrow were scheduled for plea entries this afternoon, and Roberts case will be set for jury trial at 1:30 p.m. Tuesday.

The eighth hippie, Mary Catherine Beightol, 19, will not be charged because she was outside the Barnett's Place cabin at the time of arrests, Deputy Dist. Atty. Michael Anthony said yesterday. The group was arrested after a 12-year-old boy reported he smoked what appeared to be marijuana in the cabin.

San Francisco Takes Possession Of Palace Today

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Following approval by inspectors, the city is taking possession today of the rebuilt Palace of Fine Arts, which will be open to the public for eight days starting Saturday.

A total of $7.1 million was spent reconstructing the place, focal point of the 1915 Panama-Pacific Exposition.

Millionaire Walter Johnson, who put up $2.6 million, examined the job yesterday and remarked: "I like it—I like it fine." The rest of the money came from the state and local governments.

Bolinas-Stinson Trustees Complete Board Interviews

The Bolinas-Stinson Union School District board, which interviewed two candidates for a vacant board seat last night, will announce at its Oct. 10 meeting who will be named to the position.

The seat became vacant last month when trustee Edith N. Sarraille resigned after defeat of a school unification plan.

The Bolinas-Stinson Union School District board also:

BUS — Sold one school bus to Padgett Transportation of Newman, Stanislaus County, for $2,475, but rejected bids for the district's second bus as too low. The district last month signed three-year contract with Padgett for bus service. New bids will be sought for the second bus.

DEFENSE — Reviewed civil defense and disaster plans. Copies will be sent to district parents.

JOINED — Voted unanimously to join the California School Boards Association for the first time.

Driver Fined

John Henry Steppler, 46, of Petaluma, was fined $230 and placed on a year's probation yesterday in Marin Municipal Court for drunken driving. California Highway Patrol arrested him Sept. 19 on Highway 101.

Arraignment Held On A Drug Device

Johnnie Salazar, 19, of Stockton, was arraigned in Marin Municipal Court yesterday on a misdemeanor charge of possessing a device to smoke narcotics. Plea entry was scheduled for this afternoon.

Salazar was arrested by Novato police Monday on Highway 101. They said he had a hollowed-out chicken bone believed used to smoke marijuana.

Hearing Continued

Arraignment of Joseph Thurston Joslin, 39, scheduled for yesterday, was continued in Marin Municipal Court until this afternoon. Joslin, a deputy probation officer on indefinite suspension, is accused of indecent exposure and child molesting.

LBJ FEELS FIT

It's The Paper Work, Not Job

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson says the cares of office are not getting him down, but the paper work seems to be piling up.

For the first time in four years, Johnson said, he doesn't manage to get the work cleared off his desk at the end of the day.

With a grin, the chief executive told reporters he couldn't quite decide whether he was slowing down or the paper work was building up.

"I feel fit as a daisy," the President said, aiming his remarks at comment that he has been looking tired lately. Johnson declared he was in as good health as a man his age, 59, could be.

To those who think his hair looks grayer, the President explained he doesn't use stuff to slick it down any more, so it seems "grayer and fluffier."

Johnson gave some personal glimpses of his daily life and schedule to several reporters as he entertained at a black-tie dinner last night for visiting President Diori Hamani of Niger.

While he starts his day at 5 or 6 a.m., reading reports and newspapers, the President said he's probably the only man who can get up from his desk in the afternoon and take a nap for a few hours. "I don't need much sleep," the chief executive said, adding he never has trouble sleeping.

The President maintains he hasn't put on weight recently. He says he never varies more than three pounds. Lately, he confided, he doesn't like to drink and has developed a craving for sweet desserts.

Kennedy Defies LBJ, Seeks Poverty Money

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Sen. Robert F. Kennedy bucked the Johnson Administration today and called for Senate approval of the full $5 billion plus War on Poverty program recommended by its Labor Committee.

The New York Democrat told the Senate that with a gross national product of over $750 billion, "we can surely afford this legislation, which would cost as much as a few weeks of effort in Vietnam."

CITES ARMS VOTE

"If we can vote $2 billion for such a purpose without any question, we can surely enact this legislation as the committee reported it," he said.

Some $2.8 billion of the committee's bill would go for a two-year emergency employment program added to the measure under the sponsorship of Sen. Joseph Clark, D-Pa.

The White House has made it clear it opposes the project and an extra $198 million the panel tacked on to the Office of Economic Opportunity (OEO) budget as well.

GOP ATTACKS

Republicans meantime mounted a second major effort to reduce the OEO's role in fighting poverty. Sen. Peter Dominick, R-Colo., was to offer an amendment to take away from OEO the popular Head Start preschool training program and put it under the Office of Education.

Dominick said such a shift would "prevent OEO from taking over a large portion of the school system" when Operation Follow Through begins for disadvantaged children who graduated from Head Start.

Yesterday the Senate defeated an amendment by Sen. Winston Prouty, R-Vt., to take $200 million from OEO's $2.258 billion share of the $5.058 billion antipoverty bill and give it to the Labor Department. The vote was 57 to 28.

The money would have been used for grants to private organizations which provide jobs and training to the unskilled, unemployed poor.

Clark, who is manager of the bill, refused to predict the outcome of the Head Start vote.

But he said the result would be a good indication of the fate of expected Republican attempts to take the Job Corps and the Neighborhood Youth Corps away from OEO and give them to the Labor Department.

Soldiers Lose Anti-War Pleas

WASHINGTON (AP)—A California Army private and two other soldiers have lost a military appeal of their courts martial for disobeying orders to go to Vietnam.

The soldiers contended the orders were unlawful because the American war effort in Vietnam was illegal.

Turned down Tuesday by the U.S. Court of Military Appeal were Pvt. David Samos of Modesto and Pfc. James A. Johnson and Pvt. Dennis Mora, both of New York.

Grid Coach Is Stabbed To Death

DAYTON, Ohio (UPI)—A young high school football coach was stabbed to death yesterday by a school drop out who came to the scrimmage field to heckle the freshman team.

Thomas Prinz, 21, a first year teacher and coach of the freshman team at Wilbur Wright High School, was stabbed repeatedly by a youth who had been "riding" the coach and his team during practice, police said.

Willie Dixon, 19, was held for investigation.

DURING WORKOUT

"We had been scrimmaging with another team," player Paul Greger said. "This kid had been riding Mr. Prinz and our team for not doing well in a scrimmage.

"When the coach asked the kid to leave, he pushed Mr. Prinz." Greger said. He said Prinz then tried to escort the youth off the field.

"That's when the kid pulled what looked like a butcher knife out of his pants and started stabbing Mr. Prinz," Greger said. "It all happened so fast. I think he was stabbed about eight times. Mr. Prinz fell on the kid and was bleeding pretty badly."

"There had been about 60 of us (players) standing around real close, but everything happened so fast. When we realized what had happened everybody went over and grabbed the kid and started beating him up."

DEAD AT HOSPITAL

Prinz was pronounced dead on arrival at Miami Valley Hospital, the same hospital where Dixon was treated for a cut under his left eye suffered in the fracas with the players after the stabbing.

Prinz, a June graduate of the University of Dayton, was on his first teaching and coaching job.

He was married less than two months ago.

"He would have been a great coach and teacher," a former football associate at the university said. "He was doing the thing he loved best. This is all wrong."

Library Support

The Christmas Tree Hill Dwellers Association of Corte Madera has given its support to a proposal by Larkspur and Corte Madera that the libraries in the two cities and the Kentfield-Greenbrae area be consolidated into one large area library.

EXHIBIT "A"
SPECIFICATIONS FOR SALE OF PROPERTY REGARDING A STRUCTURAL IMPROVEMENT LOCATED AT 20 SIR FRANCIS DRAKE BOULEVARD, SAN RAFAEL, CALIFORNIA, COMMONLY KNOWN AS "WOOD ISLAND" AND FURTHER IDENTIFIED AS ASSESSOR'S PARCEL NO. 18-172-04

The successful bidder will be required to execute a Purchase Agreement with the Marin County Flood Control and Water Conservation District agreeing that removal and/or demolition shall be done according to the terms and conditions of sale as herein specified. Said terms and conditions are as follows:

1. At the conclusion at the time of award of bid, to pay by cash, or certified check, in an amount equal to fifty per cent (50%) of the bid price, the balance to be paid within ten (10) days from the date of award. Upon full payment to the District, as aforesaid, the Board of Supervisors, upon approval, will authorize the Chairman to execute a Bill of Sale to be delivered to the successful bidder under the terms and conditions of the aforesaid Purchase Agreement. Receipt by the successful bidder of the Bill of Sale will constitute authority to commence the removal of the building.

2. That the removal, or demolition, of the improvement shall be completed on or before December 17, 1967. If the improvement is not removed by this date, it is understood that it may be demolished or removed by District's contractor, the expense of which will be borne by the successful bidder.

3. Purchaser agrees to save, indemnify and hold harmless District, or its officers, employees and representatives, from any and all liability and claims for damage by reason of injury or death to any person, or persons, or damage to property from any cause whatsoever while in, upon, or which is in any way connected with the work covered by this Agreement, and does further agree to defend District, its officers, employees and representatives in any claim arising out of, or as a result of, the work done under this Agreement.

4. All utility pipes must be capped and utility wires must be removed by Purchaser prior to the commencement of removal or demolition of the improvement under this Agreement. It is the responsibility of Purchaser to obtain the necessary clearances from the utility companies. The building is located partially within District's easement and partially upon private property. It shall be Purchaser's responsibility to secure permission from the property owner to enter upon, cross and work upon his lands in order to demolish and/or remove the building. Purchaser may contact the owner through Sequoia Title Company, 341 3rd Street, San Rafael, California.

5. Purchaser shall secure all necessary permits and certificates required in connection with the wrecking or removal of the building and shall comply with all local pertinent ordinances. District makes no guarantee that the building sold will be movable, or that a permit will be granted to place it in any specific location. Purchaser assumes all risk and responsibility in the wrecking or moving operation, including any damages or loss by vandalism, after acceptance by District of Purchaser's bid.

6. If it is deemed by the Board of Supervisors to be in District's best interest, they may, upon refusal or failure of the successful bidder to deposit the balance of the bid price, award it to the second highest responsible bidder. District reserves the right to reject any and all bids.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Twiggy Looks Not Natural For Many Of Our Teen-Agers

VAN DELLEN

Slender, full-bosomed models seen in fashion magazines have probably made many teen-agers unhappy. This body build rarely occurs, but it represents the modern image. The ideal figure is slender to the point of emaciation. It is little wonder Twiggy has become so popular.

Tubby teen-agers not only regard their appearance as unattractive but also feel guilty for eating too much or lacking will power. One study showed that overweight girls showed personality traits similar to those of ethnic groups who were victims of intense prejudices. This need not be, for several reasons.

OBESE adolescents usually have larger bones, more muscle mass, and different skeletal shapes. Some with very little excess fat think reducing will change their basic body build. Many label as obesity the entire spectrum of dissatisfaction with their appearance.

In many instances, these young girls do not eat more than the average teen-ager. Being less active physically, however, they do not burn up the excess calories. In other words, the problem is body build —not morals. They should learn how to capitalize on their good features and assets.

Prof. Jean Mayer and Johanna Dwyer, Boston nutritionists, writing in Postgraduate Medicine, reported that adolescent girls have rigid ideas of what constitutes normal physical growth. Many of their anxieties stem from problems over which they have no control. They are unhappy when they develop faster or slower than their friends. Many are too shy or embarrassed to mention this

Inflammation of one of the ADOLESCENT boys are more interested in physcial performance than in dress or looks. Girls of this age consider physical development and appearance more important. It is unfortunate that we do not stress attributes that are under the individual's control rather than growth-connected assets. If we did, it would mean less anxiety and unhappiness.

(Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request to the I-J.)

NERVES AND MIND

Mrs. A. G. writes: Is a nervous condition the same as a mental conditon?

REPLY

Both terms are broad enough to overlap. Many individuals regard a mental disease as a form of insanity whereas a nervous person retains contact with the world. He does not have hallucinations but does suffer from a host of complaints for which there is no organic cause.

STOMACH SPASMS

T. H. J. writes: How long does it take to cure spasms of the stomach?

REPLY

There are numerous drugs that relieve the cramping within 15 minutes. The basic cause must be eliminated, however, to prevent recurrences. When spasm is associated with peptic ulcer, for example, treatment is aimed at the ulcer trather than spasm.

GRATING KNEES

W. M. writes: Will olive oil replace the fluid that has burned out of my knees?

REPLY

No. Grating knee joints cannot be blamed on poor lubrication. The cause is roughness or other irregularities involving the capsule or surface of the joints.

EYELID TUMOR

O. L. L. writes: What is a chalazion?

REPLY

Inflammation of one of the oil producing (meibomian) glands of the eyelid. It produces a round swelling similar to that of a sty.

Rafferty On Miniskirted School Girls

SACRAMENTO (AP) —State school chief Max Rafferty has some advice for miniskirted school girls and bearded boys: "Don't get individualism mixed up with exhibitionism."

In a talk yesterday to staff members of the State Education Department, Rafferty jokingly referred to the "great miniskirt crisis." He said that unusual student dress is harmful if it detracts from the instruction. "Anything that makes it tougher for the teacher to get children to pay attention to him is bad," Rafferty said.

Rafferty declined to give firm answers to questions about whether he will seek to challenge U.S. Sen. Thomas H. Kuchel, R-Calif. for a Senate seat in next June's Repulican primary elections.

On other matters, Rafferty:

Praised the $145 million school aid bill passed by the legislature this year.

Suggested a trial program eliminating the mandatory daily physical education requirement. A bill to give schools more flexibility and eliminating mandatory daily physical education was defeated this session.

Said that new readers for California's schools will contain his method of teaching reading by phonics.

Said future trends include more voluntary school unification and school integration, more teacher aides in schools and more local school board members on the State Board of Education.

Around-The-World Pilot Giving Up

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Pilot Alvin Marks sent a cablegram to his wife yesterday from Karachi, Pakistan, telling her he was forced to give up his around-the-world solo flight because of mechanical problems.

Marks, of Sacramento, president of Skymark airlines, said in the cablegram that he would fly back to the United States on a commercial airliner scheduled to arrive in San Francisco at 7:45 p.m. Thursday.

TELEVISION REVIEW

Soap Opera Takes On Racial Aspect

By RICK DU BROW

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—CBS-TV has been giving a big promotion push to its new daytime soap opera, "Love is a Many-splendored Thing," but perhaps the most significant thing about it—the racial aspect—isn't being mentioned much.

While night-time television programming has been taking on a much more noticeable interracial tone than in the past—although it is still hardly overwhelming—daytime video series have been rather conservative in this area.

The soap operas, in recent years, have abandoned their generally innocent approach to life, and have been, to say the least, quite frank about such matters as sex and other subjects that have become more prominent in contemporary life. Yet only here and there, and very briefly, has the subject of race been treated in these tales.

Well here we have "Love is a Many-splendored Thing," which, after all, was a well-known book and movie that had a great deal to do with race—not the Negro race, perhaps, but the romance of a woman of the East and a man of the West.

Early episodes of "Love is a Many-splendored Thing" indicate that the standard soap opera format is almost blotting out the original story. But—and it is a big "but"—we do have the fact that the central character of the CBS-TV soaper, and the chief link to the original tale, is a girl named Nancy Hsueh, who gets things rolling in the drama by arriving from Hong Kong to study medicine in San Francisco.

MIXED RACE

In this updated version of the book and movie, Miss Hsueh portrays a girl named Mia, who, in the CBS-TV story, is the daughter of Han Suyin and an American war correspondent.

The sensitivity of daytime soap opera sponsors in the past to anything slightly eyebrow-raising is well known. In my files, I have a clipping from a show business trade paper of May 1965, in which a major soap opera creator is reported as being unhappy over a sponsor's rejection of "significant Negro portrayals."

Now it is two years later, and things really are still quite different in daytime programming than they are on prime time video shows. But "Love is a Many-splendored Thing" may be, in its own small way, an indication of changing times and future happenings.

Barber Reports Phone Threats

Antone J. Petkovich, a San Rafael barber who has refused to sign a contract with Barbers Local 582, has complained to police his wife received an anonymous threatening phone call.

According to Petkovich, who operates Tony's Barbers Shop at 401 Fourth Street, the caller threatened "something would happen" to Mrs. Petkovich and family unless her husband cooperated with the union.

The barber told police that since refusing to sign the contract, the union local had held a hearing and fined him $100. Petkovich said he had been suspended until he paid the fine but he intended not to pay it.

His telephone number is unlisted, he said, and known only to his friends and the secretary of the union local.

Game Would Have Gone On: Reagan

SACRAMENTO (AP) — California's governor and its public schools chief say they would have summoned whatever force was needed to play a football game San Jose State College cancelled because of racial unrest.

Rov. Ronald Reagan and Max Rafferty, state superintendent of public instruction, left no doubt in separate interviews with newsmen yesterday that they disagreed with officials who called the game off.

"It was appeasement. It was yielding to the threat of force. I must say that the problem could have been solved without that yielding," Reagan declared when asked about the matter.

Rafferty, contacted earlier, was even more emphatic. He called it giving in to blackmail. "If I had to call in the U.S. Marine Corps, that game would have been played."

The governor said he also would have called "out the necessary force and law enforcement" to see that the game between San Jose State and the University of Texas - El Paso was put on as scheduled last weekend.

San Jose State President Robert Clark said he called the contest because of anonymous threats that the stadium would be the scene of violence if the game were played.

A Negro who used to be an athlete at the school and now teaches there started the protest. He said Negroes are discriminated against in all phases of campus life, from housing to athletic locker rooms.

After an investigation, Clark called off the game and put the school's fraternities and sororities under probation with orders to show they aren't biased. The football coach also said he thought the end result of the affair would help, not hurt, the school.

Rafferty remarked to newsmen that he thought any discrimination should have been investigated and dealt with long before.

Scientists Won't Wager On Big Quakes

(Special to the I-J)

WASHINGTON — It is practically a sure bet that during the next 12 months a disastrous earthquake will strike somewhere in the world.

But no scientist will hazard a guess where it will happen —or exactly when.

Indeed, research into predicting earthquakes is moving so slowly that some experts believe it will be another 25 to 50 years before such forecasts become possible. Actually, the thought that they might be able someday to warn a city of impending disaster scares some scientists. It could cause a panic.

Nevertheless, the idea that earthquake prediction is desirable is a matter of national policy —at least on paper. The president's Office of Science and Technology (OST) has been trying to set up a research program since shortly after the Good Friday quake of three years ago that davastated Anchorage, Alaska.

But not much has emerged in the way of a program. As one informed official puts it: "The project is on a back burner and probably will stay there until we get another good shake."

Much of what is presently known about earthquakes is statistical. The frequency and severity of tremblors along with their locations have been recorded for years. The figures show that a major shock occurs about once a year and that certain areas, like the Pacific Basin, are the most earthquake prone, having many small shocks year in and year out.

The mechanics of how huge masses of rock suddenly slip and buckle, however, are still largely a mystery. Geologists have theorized that slowly churning currents of molten rock beneath the earth's crust create explosive strains between blocks of surface rock, which are relieved by a quake.

But testing this theory is rather difficult. There is no way of determining how long it takes for stresses and strains to reach a danger point. It might be hundreds or millions of years, or a matter of months.

A physicist at the Stanford Research Institute, Robert B. Vaile, says an acute problem is the absence of accurate earth strain measuring techniques. Quakes are recorded from afar by seismographs. But he says the instruments are so delicate none has ever survived being in an earthquake.

California, where the institute is located, has about 200 so-called strong motion seismographs around the state. As yet, they haven't recorded the forces that tear down a building. Vaile thinks a great deal will be learned when one does and favors spotting thousands of the instruments around the globe.

Most quakes occur at depths varying from 1 to 12 miles. One interesting discovery is that their shock waves will almost invariably bounces off the core of the earth at an angle of 142 degrees. This means that seismic waves from shocks occurring in the northern hemisphere can be recorded accurately at the South Pole.

What is more, it is possible for scientists sitting in Antarctica to compare the relative size of earthquakes that take place in widely separated areas. Vaile says consideration is being given to such an observation station in hopes of improving measuring techniques.

For the present, though, the only practical measurements are those that determine how strong a building must be to take a major quake. Long experience has shown that structures on bed rock are most likely to survive; while those on loose soil — particularly man-made fill — suffer the most damage. Precaution is thus the best life-saver.

Meantime, says Vaile:

"If mankind cevotes to a study of earthquakes the kind of effort and attention that he has devoted to meterology and astronomy, then in the next 50 to 100 years we may reasonably expect to predict the occurrence of earthquakes in somewhat the fashion that we now predict the formation and progress of storms in the atmosphere and on the ocean."

TREE PRUNING BY HELICOPTER

Two U.S. Department of Agriculture employees have perfected a method to clip branches from tops of the tallest forest trees by helicopter. Their idea can save many man hours once spent in climbing trees or shooting down samples. Though the technique was designed to get branches for use in remote sensing research, it should have many other applications for tree top sampling or for many purposes. (AP Wirephoto)

New Center For Novel Evaluation

(Special to the I-J)

IRVINE — From the new Irvine campus, University of California Extension is aiding amateur and professional writers with a manuscript evaluation service.

Dr. Richard Baisden, Extension Director for Orange County, established the service in June, 1966. Since then, half a dozen novels as well as a number of short story and poetry collections have been received and evaluated.

Director is Prof. James B. Hall, head of the UCI Writing Center and author of several novels and short story collections. Hall may edit a manuscript himself, or hand it to one of his staff, specializing in novels, short stories or verse.

After carefully reading the manuscript, the editor writes an analysis of its elements and a detailed critique plus helpful suggestions for improvement if called for, all of which may cover as many as five typewritten pages.

The fee: $50 for a novel up to 200 pages, and $20 for short stories or poetry up to 60 pages in length.

But Little Footwork In This Employment

STEVENAGE, England (UPI) —The Furniture Industry Research Association is looking for persons who want to sit pretty and get paid for it.

2,000-Year-Old

PELICAN RAPIDS, Minn. (UPI)—The skeleton of the "Minnesota Man" was really that of a young girl who lived in Minnesota 20,000 years ago. It's conjectured she fell into Lake Pelican, a giant glacial lake that covered the area then. Her fossil remains were found by a road building crew near here.

Hamburg Residents Sleep Better; Jet Noise Down

HAMBURG, Germany (GF) — Residents in the vicinity of Hamburg's commercial air terminal are breathing easier and sleeping sounder as the result of a scheme devised to put the skids on noisy, low-flying aircraft.

Stationing television cameras at various outdoor sites, airport officials first assured that henceforth all landings would be televised to the terminal's control station. TV screens at the station were marked with lines designating the proper altitudes for landing approaches.

The system has proven extremely effective since its recent installation and airport officials report that the number of complaints from nearby residents have greatly decreased.

Pilots obviously don't want to sweat out large fines for violation of safety rules or jeopardize their jobs. Airlines want their pilots to obey because of the possible damage to their reputation resulting from such violations.

Residents near the Hamburg airport had a flood of complaints earlier. Not only did they blame low flying and noise for disturbing their sleep and homelife, but also for traffic accidents in the vicinity.

Some drivers had said they were distracted by the planes and their noise and became involved in crashes when their attention was drawn from the highway.

According to airport officials, the combination TV-polaroid system can deliver evidence of low flying violations in any kind of weather except dense fog. And in such weather, there's no chance of low flying anyway since pilots turn over landing approaches to instrument control when they can't see the runway.

Through The Wall

BERLIN (UPI)—Of the more than 100,000 persons who have moved from East to West Berlin to take jobs since The Wall was built in 1961, about 30,000 were women. The men are employed predominantly in industrial, technical and handicraft occupations, while the women work in offices and commerce.

GETS A SECOND CHANCE

Four-year-old Susan Austin of Baltimore, Md., listens with a stethoscope to her heart in which surgeons inserted an artificial valve to replace a defective one. Doctors said she was dying when admitted to Johns Hopkins Hospital three years ago. Now they say she will be going home soon after an astonishing recovery. (AP Wirephoto)

College Can Create Computerized Storm

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (UPI)—Even a computerized thunderstorm is possible under Texas A&M's new three-year program to understand and predict local weather with mathematical models.

A Defense Department grant of about $1.5 million was given to develop programs of objective weather forecasting based on an understanding of the atmosphere, rather than the type of prediction based on a region's weather history. Researchers have put together various mathetmical models of cloud formation. But it is still difficult to make some of them "rain."

Concession At 91

JACKSON, Miss. (UPI)—Mrs. Theodore G. Bilbo, widow of the fiery Mississippi senator who wanted to have Negroes shipped back to Africa, has reluctantly given up her auto. Mrs. Bilbo finally conceded it was the best thing after all because her eyes aren't what they once were. She is 91.

A Real Eater

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (UPI)—Fanny Brown is a 500-pound go-go dancer. At one meal, she says, she is capable of downing three chickens, a sack of potatoes, 12 cups of coffee, 24 scrambled eggs, 24 pork chops and a gallon of ice cream.

This Type Of Spider Useful

NEW YORK UPI)—There probably are spiders in your stereo speakers, but don't be alarmed. They're supposed to be there. Speaker cones pulsate back and forth within certain limits to move air waves and thus create sound waves. With lower or bass notes the cones fluctuate over a wider path than in the case of higher notes.

To prevent possible damage, the cones must not be allowed to swing over too broad a range and engineers at RCA explain that this is accomplished by pieces of wax-impregnated fabric that is formed like folds of an extended accordion. Placed at the base of the speaker cone, the spiders, as they are called, keep the cone movement within its prescribed bounds.

Hippie's Belt Buckle Is Church Doorkey

DERBY, England (UPI)—Like many hippies, 17-year-old Philip Cash wanted an offbeat emblem for his belt and for the purpose he stole the large doorkey to Derby Cathedral.

His comment when sentenced to jail for two years for theft was: "I gave up my home and my job for a free life. Now you are taking it away."

Raising Of Animals For Transplants

(Special to the I-J)

SAN FRANCISCO — In the near future, medical science may be able to raise animals, possibly pigs, for the use of their vital organs in human transplants, according to one of the nation's leading immunologists and surgeons.

Dr. John S. Najarian, professor of surgery at the University of California's San Francisco Medical Center, contends that headway is being made in such research.

"Research is centering on overcoming rejection by the human body to an organ transplant from a lower order of animals," Dr. Najarian said. "I foresee the day when animals will be raised on farms — not only for food — but for the use of organs in human transplants."

Dr. Najarian has 60 successful operations to his credit in three years of transferring kidneys between humans. There has been a total of 1,200 kidney transplants in the world since 1954.

"Chances of success increase when the organs are exchanged between blood relatives," he said. "Organs can be exchanged between unrelated persons if the organs are of the same 'type.' Eventually organs and tissues will be typed just as blood is 'typed' today."

Dr. Najarian also foresees the day when tissue banks will be set up, making extra vital organs available just like spare parts for automobiles.

Successful transplants to date have been limited to kidneys. Unsuccessful attempts have been made to transplant approximately 30 livers, 21 lungs and one heart, he said.

"About 28,500 persons die each year in the U.S. because of kidney disease," he stated, "and transplant or use of an 'artificial about 6,000 of these may be saved with either a kidney kidney' machine."

THE TRAIN WILL RUN AGAIN

It seemed as if engineer Charles Seitz would have to close his free steam railroad for children which he has operated as a hobby for several years because the land had been sold at the Antioch bridgehead. But the happy children are smiling again—the city of Pittsburg offered Seitz free land at old Camp Stoneman. So the train lives. (AP Wirephoto)

Diggers Society Not Hip To Wyoming

The group became leaderless after their self-styled leader David Burnham was jailed for speeding, driving without a driver's license and using profane language when booked on the charges. The Casper police judge suspended the sentence and fines when Burnham promised to return to California.

Record Span Replaces Old Timber Structure

The 10,170-foot structure, costing $4.9 million, replaces an old open-deck, timber-pile bridge built in 1878 by the New Orleans, Mobile & Texas Railroad several years before its purchase by the L&N. The new bridge has a swing span with 100 feet of clearance for marine traffic.

Makes His Point

WIMBLEDON, England (UPI)—A road safety demonstration at a school here ended when a policeman stepped from behind a parked vehicle to demonstrate the danger of doing that and was knocked down by his fellow demonstrator on a motorcycle.

Call For U.S. Biologists To Join A Crucial Study

By SCIENCE SERVICE

WASHINGTON — An urgent call has gone out to all U.S. biologists to join in the worldwide five-year plan to learn enough about biology to enable man to control his environment and himself, and to know enough to avoid making irreversible changes in his natural world.

The International Biological Program, functioning as a planning organization since 1963, will enter it operational phase in July of this year. A report issued recently by the U.S. National Committee for the IBS outlines the crucial areas of study of worldwide biology and lists specific ways for biologists to participate in this monumental research effort that has the support of 38 countries. The U.S. Committee, head by Dr. Roger Revelle, director of the Center for Population Studies at Harvard, was organized by the National Academy of Sciences which is distributing the report to 49,000 scientists in the U.S.

Hopefully, international cooperation in biological research will lead to answers to some of the following questions:

What is the relationship between genetics and the variability of human populations?

What can man do to gain better understanding of his nutritional needs and what can he do to meet them?

These topics represent only a smattering of issues IBP biologists will be working on together. A series of about 30 working conferences are being planned to encourage scientists to develop research projects.

Target date for many of these proposed conferences is now, after which biologists will be able to better assess the relevance of their current work and reorient their projects if they desire.

Fires Help Trees

SEQUOIA NATIONAL PARK (UPI) — Giant Sequoia redwood trees — the largest living things in the world—can become "strangled" by dense undergrowth and need occasional forest fires to clear other brush from around their roots and branches, reports a San Jose State College team studying the trees.

An Angry Bull Delays A Train

PALERMO, Sicily (UPI)—The Palermo to Trapani express was 30 minutes late one day recently because a bull decided he'd rather fight.

The bull escaped from a slaughterhouse and took up a snorting position in front of the train, which halted until the animal was recaptured.

CURIOSITY KILLS THE CAT

One way to get a cat to pose long enough for an interesting picture is to arouse its curiosity, which may be why this fellow sat still and cooperated for a handsome likeness by a Dubuque, Iowa, photographer, who framed his feline pet inside an antique mirror. (UPI Telephoto)

STUDY REVEALS

Some Felines Purr, While Others Roar

By SCIENCE SERVICE

There are cats that purr and cannot roar, and there are cats that roar and cannot purr. That's the way some scientists divide members of the cat family, Felidae.

The division is made on the basis of connected bones called the hyoid at the base of the tongue. The roaring cats, genus Panthera, including the panther, lion, tiger, leopard and jaguar, lack a bone in this hyoid and instead have a long elastic ligament loosely attached to the larynx or voice box. The smaller, purring cats, genus Felis, do not have this ligament, and the hyoid is fully ossified.

To this latter group blelong the non-roaring mountain lion or puma, Felis concolor, second largest of the cat family in the New World (largest is the jaguar), and one of the most controversial meat-eaters in the hemisphere. Although this cat has purring construction in his throat, man has more often told tales of its hairraising "scream," said to be the wildest sound in America.

With the largest, weighing in at 276 pounds and measuring eight feet, eight inches from nose to tail, the lithe, tawny mountain lion has been severely hunted by men enraged at their attacks on sheep, hogs and other livestock. Yet naturalists claim only a few "outlaw" cats are to blame for the livestock damage, and these can be controlled without endangering the species or seriously reducing puma numbers.

Pumas are curious about people, but very shy and not deliberate man-killers. Some pumas have been extraordinarily affectionate pets until their size banished them to zoos.

Called by many names — cougar, catamount, panther, painter or Mexican liion — the beautiful creatures range from British Columbia to Patagonia. Formerly they used to wander from coast to coast. Pushed back by man, the puma has retreated to the wilderness areas.

Iowa Constitution Just Barely Passes

DES MOINES (UPI) — The first constitution of Iowa was approved by the voters by a margin of only 456 votes, out of 18,528 cast.

The vote was held in August, 1846. Congress approved the Constitution in December the same year and Iowa was granted statehood as the 29th to join the union.

Amount Of Surface For Halting A Car

By DAVID W. CHUTE

DETROIT (UPI) —Next time you're barreling along at around 50 or 60 a couple of car lengths behind the fellow in front of you, picture a piece of paper about 12 inches square.

With care, you could stand comfortably on the space, perhaps even with your feet a few inches apart.

Well, that's the amount of surface your car has for stopping.

A car's four tires are its only contact with the road. Each of these tires rests on a surface that is oval in shape and measures about 5 inches wide and eight inches long. That's less than 40 square inches per tire, or less than 160 inches in total for all four wheels. Less than 160 inches of friction surface to stop a vehicle weighing up to two tons.

Small wonder, then, that it takes the ordinary driver about the length of a football field to bring his car to a stop from 60 miles an hour—even in a panic situation. The experts, with the best of equipment, and under the best conditions, can't do it in less than 168 feet.

Even those figures don't count reaction time—the time it takes the driver to lift his foot from the accelerator, press on the brake and have it take hold. This time runs up to one second or more and in one second your car will have traveled 88 feet before there's any discernible slowing odwn at all. Add that to even the best driver's distance, and you get 256 feet, not much shorter than that football field.

Not many ordinary drivers have the best equipment, the best conditions are the most unpredictable. And this is where many drivers err. They drive too fast for the conditions.

For example, the Rubber Manufacturers Association (RMA) says that at 30 miles per hour, it can take a car up to four times as far to stop on a wet road as on a dry road.

The RMA lists three conditions that are uppermost in decreasing a car's ability to stop even if the brakes are in perfect condition. One is the wet or slick road. A second is excessive speed. The third is badly worn tires. Any one of these three or a combination of them, can result in one of the most dangerous driving situations a motorist can face—skidding.

One of the most deceiving of all situations is when there has been only a light rain. The motorist who figures this doesn't make road slick is wrong: light road oil floats on a thin film of water and forms a treacherous lubricant between tires and the road. Heavy rain washes this away.

Wet roads, of course, are always a hazard. But they're most hazardous after a light rain because the road surface then is both wet and oily.

Think of those few inches of gripping surface your car has when you're driving on a wet road. Think of them on dry roads, too—and that football field of stopping distance.

Hanging on to those thoughts could save your life.

View Expected Soon On Live Working Cell

By SCIENCE SERVICE

WASHINGTON — Scientists expect to be able to see the living, working brain cell, thanks to a new microscope under development at Yale University Medical School. If it works, the instrument will permit scientists their first view of active brain tissue; now they get secondary views through the electrical output of brain cells.

The microscope will be fitted with a needle-like prism for insertion into cells to test in a working animal brain.

Dr. M. David Egger, assistant professor of anatomy at Yale is developing the instrument with Czechoslovakian scientist Mopmir Petran, head of the Institute of Biophysics in Plzen.

Until a year ago, the extraordinarily thin, translucent brain cells could not be seen under a microscope at all unless they were first stained — which eliminated the possibility of studying living cells.

But the transatlantic team built a microscope which allowed them to see unstained cells, which means living cell, for the first time.

"We know now," said Dr. Egger, "that the principle of the microscope is sound for studying the brain tissue."

He said the current task is to modify the new instrument so that it can be used to see inside the closed brain.

No one knows, however, whether scientists will be able to observe changes occurring in the working cell, even if they can see the cell itself.

Dr. Egger hopes the new microscope will offer some evidence on a question central to neurology: Are connections between cells laid down before birth or are they constantly growing and changing?

The first modification leading to the new instrument involved light. Drs. Egger and Petran placed a perforated copper-foil disk between the microscope's light source and the material to be studied. The disk cuts out undesirable and confusing reflections from many layers of nerve tissue, allowing light from only a single plane to enter, they reported in the July 21 issue of Science.

But the rotating disk cut out so much light, the scientists had to find an exceptionally strong light source to see anything. They used the sun.

"It took us right back to the early days of the microscope," Dr. Egger said. The sun, however, is not dependable enough for the final instrument and Dr Egger is now working on a stronger artificial light source. A further modification involving mirrors inside the microscope would solve the engineering problems.

But Dr. Egger noted that the instrument will be looking at material less than four thousandths of an inch, or two to three tissue layers, from the prism's end, so disruption should be slight.

Tiny Rider Earns Plenty Of Prizes

DALLAS (UPI)—You could saddle up a cavalry squad with the gear a Texas girl has won in rodeo competition. Michele Pearson, 8, is anything but a tall Texan. She is small and can ride a smaller horse than other competitors and thus get around in the pole-bending and barrel races in faster times.

In recent weeks alone, the little blonde has won six saddles in rodeos and western show. At home, her trophies and ribbons number in the hundreds and may outweigh her—she tips the scales at 60 pounds. Michele practices eight hours a day. Her ambition: "I just want to ride and ride and ride."

Frozen Food Items Boom In 10 Years

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (UPI)—Eighty per cent of the frozen food items in the grocery store were developed in the last 10 years, Texas A&M University reports.

The housewife in 1957 also would not have access to 86 per cent of the baking mixes, 66 per cent of the wrapping materials, 65 per cent of the soft drinks and 43 per cent of the cereals.
